'EFFICIENCY' FORCES PLAN OWN TICKET

Thelen and Chambers Being Groomed As Possible Candidates Against Stephens in the Next State Campaign

Opponents of Governor May Invoke Initiative to Pass the Proposed Reorganization of Machinery of Government

By AD. B. SCHUSTER.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 26.—A plan to submit to the people the question of reorganization of state government, to bring to California to work out the details the foremost experts of the United States, and to make this mechanism for an economical and efficient government a campaign issue in 1922 is being fostered by a number of leaders in the California legislature and by certain civic organizations in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The scheme, it is said, is based on the belief that Governor William D. Stephens will be able to put his reorganization bills through the present session of the legislature and is aimed as a protest against those measures. Max Thelen or John S. Chambers, it is declared, may be the gubernatorial candidate of the group.

OPPOSITION TO STEPHENS BECOMES AGGRESSIVE

Opposition to the governor's bills for reorganization has long declared that the measures are makeshift ones that will not fulfill the announced purpose. In them is seen the opportunity for building up by political patronage a great personal machine and in them is seen a direct menace at civil service. It is because the governor's plan—the Stephens-Nourse-White bills—is declared to offer no promise for economy of efficiency that the alternative of taking the whole question to the people on an initiative petition is being considered.

Within the last few days the governor has made notable progress in lining up strength for his bills. Al McCabe, his main political adviser, has been devoting all of his energies to the question, and a result is some favorable expressions from certain legislators hitherto regarded as with the opposition. The administration, in this fight, needs but a simple majority and as an aid toward this has the advantage of the governor's veto power. The fate of all the appropriation measures is yet to be decided.

RESORT TO INITIATIVE IS OPPOSITION PLAN

Convinced, then, that the Stephens-Nourse-White reorganized government will have the opportunity to prove its weakness, the newest plan which is divulged today is to put an all-the-way reorganization on the initiative. That there shall be plenty of time for a study of the question and in which the public may become informed an organization of a number of men prominent in all parts of the state will be formed to direct the campaign.

To map out the steps for the reorganization, men and material will be sought from all parts of the country. A conference of the best-known experts of the United States will be called, the plans in use in the other states will be studied and the results of the investigations carried on by the Boynton committee and others in California will be considered. The scheme that is to result from the deliberations, the proponents of the plan say, will represent the latest and best word in state government.

With this new program as a campaign issue, a candidate will make the race for governor, and the present plan calls for a complete legislative ticket pledged to an economy and efficiency platform. In this way the proposed reorganization will make its bid direct against the governor's plan and if it wins will carry with it enough men into the assembly and senate to put through all of its provisions and to assure harmony under its provisions.

THELEN AND CHAMBERS SEEN AS CANDIDATES

While Max Thelen is most prominently mentioned as the probable candidate, there is no one who will say that the choice has been made. Thelen will not discuss the subject. John S. Chambers, one of the members of the Boynton committee and long an advocate of governmental reorganization in California, is declared by some to be a possibility as head of the newest plan.

If the Stephens-Nourse-White reorganization plan should fail before the present session and its opponents secure the passage of a better measure this latest idea of an initiative campaign will be dissipated. The prospect that the fight is to be continued beyond the session and to the people is adding zest to the contest, which is scheduled to break here next week when the first of the S.-N.-W. bills will be brought from committee.

SOVIETS TO BE ASKED TO CURB REDS

Dissolution of Third Internationale May Be Condition of Trade Privileges With United States, Is Report

Lenine's Professed Change of Political Heart Received With Doubt by the State Department At Washington

By HARRY L. ROGERS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Dissolution of the third Internationale and recall of the agents of that organization in this and other countries may be demanded by the United States as one of the conditions to resumption of trade with soviet Russia, it was learned today.

With the reply of Secretary Hughes to the soviet appeal on its way to Moscow, official Washington today figuratively sat down to await Lenine's answer, though State Department officials devoted themselves to a study of just what might constitute the "convincing evidence" of fundamental changes in Russian policy which the American government deems essential to the establishment of trade relations.

Suppression of the third Internationale has been suggested to Secretary Hughes as one of the terms this government should insist upon as an evidence of good faith, and it is understood that the suggestion is receiving serious consideration.

It is argued that the second congress of the third Internationale held in Moscow last summer proclaimed the doctrine of "world-wide propaganda to bring about a world revolution," and consequent destruction of the capitalistic class, and that so far as can be learned, this is still the chief object of the organization.

THIRD INTERNATIONALE IS LENINE IN DISGUISE

Though Lenine has asserted that the third Internationale is not the soviet government, State Department officials insist that they are the same for all practical purposes. A hitherto unpublished official report dealing with this subject, which is now on file in the department, says:

"The program of the Russian Communist party is one of world revolution and the Communist Internationale is avowedly the directing and co-ordinating center of an international revolutionary movement to establish the 'world soviet republic.' It is impossible to differentiate as to world policy between the Russian Communist party, the third or Communist Internationale and the official soviet administration, because of the system of 'interlocking directorates' common to all three."

Lenine, Trotzky, Kalinin, Zinovief, Bukharin and many other officials high in the soviet government are also officers of the third Internationale, State Department reports indicate, and some of the most radical principles of the radical session were made by them.

"If you will help us," said Lenine, according to the State Department translation of the proceedings, "then no mental exercises or guesses with respect to what cannot be known and what no one can know, will prevent us from accomplishing our task, and this task will be that of leading on to the victory of the world revolution and to the establishment of an international proletarian soviet republic."

LENINE'S LATEST SPEECH RECEIVED BY HUGHES

The State Department has announced receipt of confirmation of Lenine's recent speech in which he stated the time had come for modification of Bolshevist policies, but Secretary Hughes is not convinced. Since practically the sole purpose of the third Internationale, according to the department's belief, is the promotion of ideas which this government finds objectionable, no better proof of a new policy could be given by Lenine than the dispersal of this organization.

Because of the assertion in Kalinin's message to President Harding that the Bolshevist government has no desire to interfere in the internal affairs of the United States, it was expected that the next communication from Moscow would offer evidence in contradiction of reports that an active propaganda is being carried on in this country.

County Sends First Unit to Soldier Farms

Ten Men and Two Women to Leave Tomorrow for the Imperial Valley.

As the first Alameda county unit two young women and ten men will leave tomorrow for the Imperial Valley to undergo an intensive agricultural training on the 5000-acre properties recently leased by the government for the Federal Vocational Training Board.

The property is located near the town of Brawley and the soil is said to be adaptable for almost any kind of farming.

Agricultural instructors from the University of California and other colleges will teach them the latest methods of getting the most from the soil. The silt land of the McDevitt properties, as the acreage is known, will be utilized for the growing of lettuce, strawberries, alfalfa, squash and melons, as well as the raising of dairy products.

ACCOMODATIONS FOR 150 HAVE BEEN PROVIDED

All of the students sent to the Imperial valley have suffered disability in the army or navy during the war, but have recovered to such an extent as to permit them to engage in agricultural pursuits. There are accomodations for 150 men and women at Brawley and 120 are already on the ground. The Federal Board for Vocational Training hopes to acquire an additional 15,000 acres in another section of the valley, which would mean that close to 1000 students could be used to improve the soil and gain an education at the same time. It was at first planned to send no women to the valley, but the order was changed at the last moment today, and two nurses from Berkeley, both of whom saw service in the American Expeditionary Forces abroad and who have suffered disability, will accompany the ten men of the party.

Those who leave tomorrow and their present occupations are:

Miss Sibyl Ursela, school of arts and crafts, Berkeley; second lieutenant nurse.

Miss Lela Louise Crabb, arts and crafts school, Berkeley; nurse.

BERKELEY AND ALAMEDA HAVE REPRESENTATION

Paul B. Smith, school of arts and crafts, Berkeley; miner.

Harold O. Rasmussen, 1351 Park avenue, Alameda; carpenter.

Julian C. Robinson, school of arts and crafts, Berkeley, interior decorator.

Patrick Templeton, Polytechnic College of Engineering, Oakland, road constructor.

Nurse Accused Of 'Dope' Theft From Hospital

Former Employee of County Held Under Bonds After Denying Charge.

Systematic theft of morphine from the county hospital by Hugh Caller, a former nurse, and sold addicts on the outside, is alleged by T. J. McInerney of the state pharmacy board, and Police Inspectors Joe Robinson and Bodie Wallman today.

Search for a mysterious woman nurse addict, who is alleged to have been "killed," and another who is "fatally sick" from morphine poison, has been carried on by the police, thus far unsuccessfully.

According to McInerney, the plot was bared when a letter from Caller was found on an addict three days ago. The letter revealed the alleged smuggling of Caller.

It also mentioned "two mysterious nurses," one dead and the other sick from morphine poisoning. The letter further said that Caller feared the police were on his trail and was in hiding at the National hotel, 505 Clay street, where he was arrested last night. Following a search for the mysterious nurses, the police are inclined to believe that Caller wrote of them under a hallucination.

Investigation divulged that he had been smuggling the drug from the hospital for several months, the police say.

He was arraigned before Police Judge Mortimer Smith this morning and pleaded not guilty and asked a jury trial. Bail was set at $1000.

OAKLAND ACE ESTABLISHES NEW RECORD

Captain Rickenbacker Flies From This City to Los Angeles in 2 Hrs., 32 Minutes, and Then On to San Diego

Intrepid Airman Again Proves His Right to the Title of Ace of Aces by Today's Performance in Battle Plane

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SAN DIEGO, March 26.—Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, flying from Oakland and Los Angeles, arrived at North Island at 1:32 o'clock.

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, of Oakland, noted American ace, established a new record for a non-stop airplane flight between this city and Los Angeles today, when he covered the approximately 335 miles air-line distance between the two cities in 2 hours and 32 minutes. The previous record was 3 hours and 1 minute.

Rickenbacker took off from the Durant aviation field at 8:38 o'clock this morning. He passed over Los Angeles at 11:10. He did not stop, but "checked in" by dropping a smoke bomb. He circled Mercury field three times and then continued on towards San Diego. On the eve of his departure today Rickenbacker said he hoped to establish non-stop records for both Los Angeles and San Diego.

TRAVELS 140 MILES AN HOUR

It is estimated Rickenbacker sent his little Balilla Italian combat 'plane hurtling through space at the rate of approximately 140 miles an hour in order to establish his smashing record.

The prior record for a non-stop flight to Los Angeles of three hours and one minute, recently was established by Lieutenant R. Batten, an army aviator. Before taking to the air this morning Rickenbacker said he expected to reach Los Angeles in two and one-half hours and San Diego thirty minutes later.

Today's flight was made in Rickenbacker's Balilla Italian combat plane, said to be one of the fastest planes in the country. According to Rickenbacker the plane can maintain a speed of 145 miles an hour under normal conditions.

PROPELLOR FAILS TO REACH FIELD

Rickenbacker delayed his departure in expectation of the arrival of a new propeller, which, he said, would increase his speed approximately five miles an hour. It failed to arrive, however, and the airman was compelled to use the only propeller available.

Rickenbacker donned his flying clothes and climbed into the seat of his plane at 8:30. A few minutes were spent in tuning up the engine and the plane then took off.

Rickenbacker rose rapidly and, after making a half-circle of the field, headed south with a brisk wind at his back. As he centered over the field he dropped a smoke bomb, officially setting his time of departure.

This was Rickenbacker's second attempt to establish a new Los Angeles non-stop flight. The first attempt failed because his gas supply gave out. The plane this morning carried sixty gallons of gas in specially constructed tanks.

BERLIN, March 26.—(By Associated Press).—Twenty rioters were killed when the security police in Eisleben repulsed an attack upon the Eisleben city hall last night.

MERSEBERG, Germany, March 26.—Former members of the American I. W. W. were reported today to be leading the Communist demonstrations in the vicinity of Leuna.

The factories in that city were said to be in the hands of the workers, guarded by a "red army" of three thousand. Other detachments of the "red army" were reported to be holding the approaches to the city.

The government of Saxony has announced that Bitterfeld is in the hands of the Communists and that the factories there have been occupied.

Communists in Klarfeld voted to strike today. Halle was reported to be quiet.

COMMUNIST FORCES FLEE FROM EISLEBEN

OBERROEBLINGEN, Prussia Saxony, March 26 (By the Associated Press).—Reports that the Communist forces which have been fighting in Eisleben against the security police for three days, had been driven out of that city, were brought here last night by men breathless from running the 12 miles which lie between Eisleben and this little Saxony village. They said that the Communists were retreating across the fields, for the most part in good order, but some had thrown away their guns and others had been taken prisoners.

The tidings were received without emotion by men and boys who stood rifles in hand ready to report for duty to the commander of the Communists. In a few minutes, however, these men and boys began to straggle away, apparently to join their Communist comrades in another stand against the police. One of the refugees from Eisleben said to the correspondent last evening: "You haven't this sort of fighting in America, have you? Things must go better there."

He said that women who had been camped in the outskirts of Eisleben day and night since fighting began there, entered the city immediately after rifle firing ceased.

WOMEN SCOFF AT "WORLD REVOLUTION"

"They would have gone earlier," he added, "but the workmen would not permit them to go in." The women do not have much interest in the world revolution. To them the fight at Eisleben was just a row between workmen and the 'green police'."

Members of the Communist forces which were in virtual control of Eisleben, permitted the correspondent to enter that city yesterday between bursts of firing, but they were unwilling to escort him back, saying that the only conveyances available were in the hands of the police and that capture was probable. The correspondent, however, succeeded in securing an automobile and left the town, but as bullets began striking the road around the machine, the chauffeur fled and the correspondent walked as far as Oberroeblingen.

NEW YORK, March 26.—(United Press).—James A. Stillman, president of the National City Bank, has practically "cornered the witness market," in his divorce suit against Mrs. "Fifi" Potter Stillman, it was learned here today.

The multi-millionaire banker, through his attorneys and operatives, was careful to "line up" practically all of the persons who might have even the remotest knowledge of the case before his wife was aware that he contemplated seeking a divorce, according to persons conversant with both sides of the sensational scandal.

"When the defense sought to interrogate possible witnesses, particularly the Stillman servants, it was found that most of them already had been pledged to testify for Stillman and were consequently so close-mouthed that it was impossible to determine what evidence they were expected to give," one of these persons, who had been a close friend of both Stillman and Mrs. Stillman, told the United Press today.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, March 26.—Further arrests are expected by the police today in the $1,000,000 mail robbery at the Union station on January 18 last, in connection with which three men were taken into custody late yesterday. Stolen bonds valued at $34,000 were recovered with the three.

William Krietzer, a bond salesman; Isadore Goldberg, Krietzer's brother-in-law, and C. A. Jetree were the three arrested. Krietzer is held in default of $15,000 bonds, while Goldberg and Jetree were released on bonds of $1000.

Krietzer claims he found the $34,000 bonds which were recovered, in a vacant lot on the North Side last Monday night. Krietzer said he gave them to Goldberg and Goldberg gave them to Jetree. The arrest of the three followed Jetree's attempt to sell the bonds to a brokerage house.

Information gained from the arrest of the three, postoffice officials say, will lead to recovery of the remainder of the loot and the arrest of others involved in the robbery.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, March 26.—True bills against eighteen men were voted today by the Cook county grand jury as a result of the second investigation into the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series to Cincinnati by Chicago White Sox players. Announcement of the true bills was made by the state's attorney.

The true bills named the thirteen men indicted during the first jury investigation last fall and the following men in addition Carl Zork, Ben Franklin, Ben Levi, Louis Levy and Davis Zelser.

Among those indicted are:

Joe Jackson, outfielder, who confessed to receiving $5000; Fred McMullin, utility infielder; Chick Gandil, first baseman; Charles Risberg, shortstop; Oscar Felsch, outfielder; George Weaver, third baseman; Hal Chase, formerly major league first baseman; Bill Burns, former major league pitcher; Abe Attell, once champion featherweight fighter; Rachel Brown, alleged gambler, and Joseph L. Each indictment today contained three counts, charging conspiracy to defraud, obtaining money under false pretenses and conspiracy to do an illegal act. Bonds were fixed at $3000 for each indictment, or $24,000 for each man.

ALASKA RECORDS 14 PER CENT DROP IN POPULATION

Figures for 1920 Are 54,899, Against 64,356 in Census of Ten Years Ago.

Figures recently made public by the United States bureau of census at Washington, D. C., show the population of Alaska to have reached its pinnacle in 1910, and indicate that during the past decade there has been a decided drop in practically all districts. The only exception is noted in some of the districts wherein newly discovered gold fields are located.

The 1910 census shows the aggregate population, estimated on an accurate census of all accessible districts, supplemented by estimates based upon personal knowledge of priests and travelers, to have been 64,356. The population according to the census of January 1, 1920, was 54,899, a decrease of 9457, in round numbers, or a 14.7 per cent decrease.

The fall in population is fairly proportional throughout the districts, according to the report, although the decrease is more noticeable in the larger cities made famous by the gold rush. Nome in 1900 showed a total population of 12,488. By 1910, when the gold rush was on the wane, it had dropped to 2600, and the 1920 tally shows only 852 persons living within the corporate limits of the city. The same condition exists in the judicial districts. In the second district in which Nome is located, the total population in 1910 was 12,351, and in 1920 it was 10,753.

Despite the drop throughout the territory, during the forty years in which census reports have been taken, a gain of 21,473 inhabitants has been made.

Municipal Rwy. Is Favored in Chicago

CHICAGO, March 26.—Chicago's city council committee investigating city traction lines was enthusiastic for municipal ownership on its return from a tour of seven western cities.

"San Francisco, which has the most extensive municipally owned traction system of the cities we visited is having unqualified success," said U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the local improvements committee which made the trip. "There the city operates the street cars on a 5 cent fare and is making money."

Municipal ownership has not been a success in Seattle, but the physical difficulties there are insurmountable and no company could make money on those lines.

The committee visited Kansas City, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

TOO ILL TO WORK

A Mother Tells How Her Daughter Was Made Well Again by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Philadelphia, Pa.—"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had bad pains across her back and in her sides, her back would pain her so that she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. KATIE EICHER, 4034 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Standing all day, or sitting in cramped positions and often with wet feet, young girls contract deranged conditions, and before they are hardly aware of it they develop headaches, backache, irregularities, nervousness and bearing-down pains, all of which are symptoms of woman's ills. Every mother who has a daughter suffering from such symptoms should profit by the experience of Mrs. Eicher and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

ROGER BACON USED TELESCOPE 700 YEARS AGO

NEW YORK, March 26.—Discovery of ciphered manuscripts, crudely illustrated, which are claimed to prove that Roger Bacon, laboring in the dark age of the thirteenth century, used a high-powered microscope and telescope instruments generally attributed to seventeenth century inventors, is made known by Dr. Wilfred M. Voynich, noted bibliographer.

The drawings reveal, he said, that Bacon observed celestial and anatomical objects never before known to have been viewed by human eyes and first known to science 400 years later. Dr. William Romaine Newbold of the University of Pennsylvania and Dr. Voynich are to describe the discoveries in Philadelphia next month at the College of Physicians.

400 JUST ALIVE ON UNGA ISLAND

SEATTLE, March 26.—Four months on the verge of starvation, under quarantine for smallpox and unable to hunt for fish because of the unceasing storms, 400 persons on Unga Island off the westward coast of Alaska are barely alive this spring, according to L. R. Braun, who is here today after spending the winter at Unga.

The steamship Dora, carrying supplies for the settlement, was wrecked last autumn. She was followed by the Pulitzer, which never reached Unga. Later the revenue cutter Algonquin placed the town under quarantine October 1, and this ban was not raised until January 15. A northeast wind swept the island for 60 days, while the temperature went to 20 below zero. For four months the settlement was without flour, sugar or potatoes and had little fuel. The Red Cross at Seward has been notified and is preparing to rush aid to the stricken settlement.

THE ICE CREAM FIGHT—NO. 3

NO STOCK FOR SALE

Queer methods are being used to force the Miller Creamery Company out of business.

The Ice Cream Trust has sold stock to dealers under promise of much better wholesale prices to stockholders than to non-stockholders. We have found in a large number of cases that stock-buyers are paying a higher price for the same average quantity of ice cream than non-stockholders.

If the Ice Cream Trust will treat dealers, who have bought stock, so unfairly, what can the public expect?

During the fifteen years that the Miller Creamery Company has been in business in Alameda County it has consistently fought for the lowest possible retail price consistent with a high quality product and good service.

Now the Miller Creamery Company is to be forced out of business "no matter how much it costs."

The Miller Creamery Company has no stock for sale. Its wholesale prices are based entirely on the quantity of ice cream purchased by the dealer, all dealers being treated fairly and impartially.

If you believe in fair play insist on Miller's Quality Ice Cream.

Fiance of Mrs. Henshaw Visits in L. A.

Carlo Morbio, fiance of Mrs. Patricia O'Connor Henshaw, left on last night's "Owl" for Los Angeles to spend Easter with his fiancee and her aunt, Miss Charlotte Canty, the two having a charming apartment in East Fourth street, that has become a rendezvous for the artistic set in the south.

The announcement of the engagement of the young Oakland widow and the San Francisco attorney was to have been made on April 2, when the mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Charles H. O'Connor had arranged for a luncheon at her home for a group of sorority sisters of her daughter, and simultaneously Mrs. Grace Tubbs Henshaw and Miss Canty were to have given the news to friends in Los Angeles.

The engagement is a rather sudden affair, the young people having met on New Year's eve at the home of friends in San Francisco, Mrs Henshaw leaving for the south ten days later.

But the mails and the wires and a visit of the benedict-to-be over the Washington's Birthday holiday, brought the announcement that but for a disrption of their plans would have been formally announced next week.

The bride has had an interesting career as a singer, her artistry carrying her into dramatic work in all its manifestations, having been featured in many big New York productions. When the war "broke," she cancelled her engagements and went overseas to sing in the camps, the end of the war finding her in Germany.

At the moment, the little artiste is in the midst of rehearsals for a big pageant to be given in Los Angeles for a pet philanthropy of the town.

Morbio is the son of Mrs Pio Morbio, and grandson of the late Adolph Sutro, millionaire civicist, engineer, projector of the famous Sutro tunnel on the Comstock and a former mayor of San Francisco. The father of the benedict-to-be, who passed away many years ago, was an Italian of distinguished birth and accomplishments, the family traditions running back to the twelfth century. Morbio is a brother of Mrs Marguerite de Mailly, Miss Alberta Morbio and Adolph Morbio, whose betrothal to Mrs. Lucille Schell, a beautiful young Los Angeleno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Culver of San Francisco, was recently announced.

Both Mrs Henshaw and her fiance are University of California alumni, the bride-elect a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

No definite plans for the wedding are made, except that Mrs Henshaw will continue her stay with Mme. Rothwell in the south until the early part of June, when, in all likelihood, the wedding will take place. It will be a very quiet affair at the home of the bride, members of both families to go down to the ceremony. An extended motor trip will follow.

Mrs. Henshaw is the widow of Tyler Tubbs Henshaw, the attorney of San Francisco.

The announcement was made by Miss Mabel W Thomas, assistant librarian of the Oakland Free Library, who is also president of the First district of the California Library Association.

The program includes round table meetings of the various sections to be held at the library in the morning, a luncheon at the Y W C A building on Webster street at noon, and a general session in the afternoon to be held in the lecture room of the Oakland public museum.

Librarians are also preparing for the coming state convention of the California Library Association, which will be held this year at Lake Tahoe from June 13 to 15. This convention will be preceded by a one-day meeting of the county librarians of the state, to be held on June 11.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.—Advertisement.

German Colonial Losses Are Analyzed by Dr. Seitz

By DR. SEITZ

Former Governor of German Southwest Africa, which embraces 322,432 square miles.

BERLIN, March 26—The proceedings of the General Assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva have brought no results It is particularly striking that no effort has been made by the assembly to provide means to establish the mandate system as outlined in the League of Nations covenant.

It is clear for us Germans that the provisions in the covenant of the League of Nations were only meant as a bluff, that the Germans in their colonies are declared as free as birds while their private property is being taken away from them by the conquering nations without any consideration whatever. What this means for impoverished Germany, the following brief figures will show:

In the year 1913, a capital of 506,000,000 marks was invested in the German colonies in industrial companies, of which alone 117,000,000 marks was in plantations and cattle raising. The German enterprises in the tropical German territory numbered 350,000 acres, while in plantations there were 707 in East Africa, 58 in Cameroon, 141 in Samoa. In tropical southwest Africa there were 1138 farms, with an area of 28,750,000 acres in German properties. The enterprises of the New Guinea company showed, as early as 1912, an area of 70,410 acres. In the various tropical territories the plantations were developing nicely and improving every year. With conservative estimate, we put down the following figures per year as follows:

Kopra	60,000 tons
Palm seed ....,	61,000 tons
Palm oil	31,000 tons
Caoutchouc	14,000 tons
Cocao	10,500 tons
Sisel hemp	25,000 tons

THEIR VALUE TODAY.

According to today's market quotations these products have a value of $42,000,000, which is growing from year to year. To the above figures must be added 32,500 acres of cotton, 12,500 acres of coffee and, above all, the cultivation of phosphate in the South Seas, which may be figured at 500,000 tons.

It may be conservatively estimated that the value of German private property in the protected territory, not counting Kaiutschou and South West Africa, amounts to 600,000,000 gold marks. If the entente powers had considered with equity the terms of the peace treaty of Versailles, they would replace this seized property by the equivalent of 600,000,000 gold marks But instead of that, the entente since the conclusion of peace has assumed to run down the value of German property and even to destroy it.

In view of the fact that the leading question, viz.: the mandate question and the question of liquidation of the property were left undecided, and furthermore, that no administrator was appointed; the plantations in the tropical territories have so depreciated as to give the entente an excuse for slaughtering the prices which makes it that the German nation is being robbed even after the peace treaty

COLONIES DESPOILED.

The despoiling of the German colonies and the manner in which they are to be divided between England and France denote such an increase of power for England in the political and economical field as cannot be properly estimated today.

Not only is England the ruling nation in the South Seas, but entire Africa, with the exception of the French possessions in the north and west, viz: under the indirect or direct dominion of England.

It can safely be said that England today rules over three-quarters of Africa and has therefore, as she is mistress of the Suez, the entire east coast of Africa, Arabia and India, changed the Indian Ocean in a British interior sea, a mere clausum Britanniae At the same time she has secured for herself the exploitation of the important petroleum fields in Mesopotamia and Persia and the richest of the soil of entire South Africa, little known at this date

The gold and diamond mines have been the reason that the other products of the soil of South Africa, particularly the important iron and coal deposits, have received, so far, little or no attention. I believe that today's situation, as shown by the peace treaty of Versailles and according to which Germany has been expelled from Africa and the South Seas, although she had maintained in her colonies the policy of the "open door," should receive the attention of the largest circles of America, not only on political ground but, above all, for economical reasons.

To give an idea of what profit England and France have derived during the war from the German colonies, it is stated on good authority that in the three years of the occupation of Cameroon over 8,000,000 gold marks worth of cocao have been shipped from the one Victoria plantation to England

Hayward Trustees Have Zoning Plan in View

HAYWARD, March 26.—Discussion of the preliminary work necessary to carry out the recent project to create a restricted business section here, together with plans for the zoning of the residential districts, formed the principal matters to come before the special meeting of the city trustees at the town hall this week.

The question of the position of the municipal water department with regard to the contemplated changes in the water supply mains now serving the Ramos sub-division and C and D streets was also brought up, and definite action with regard to the installation of the new pipes is expected to follow a more thorough investigation of the present system, which will determine the actual value of the equipment already in place and the cost of re-installation of the new, larger pipe.

With regard to the zoning question, the board of trustees will make a personal survey of the districts under discussion a week from this coming Sunday at which time data will be collected apperataining to the kind, location and possible growth of both business and residential districts. At the regular meeting following this survey, which will be held the Wednesday of that same week, Town Attorney C. W. White will present a tentative ordinance covering the matter in detail and the board will act with regard to its acceptance

Members of the board who were present at the meeting were A. E. Manter, president; S. J. Simons, R. A. Kolze, Lester Perry, H. E. Brunner, M. B. Templeton, Jesse B. Holly, C. W. White and J. D. Smalley. M. G. Riggs, chief of the fire department, was on hand and offered suggestion with regard to building restrictions especially important to fire protection.

G. E. Rose, a property owner of lower B street, who represented that district, was also present and urged the board to hasten its action in the matter in response to the pressure in that section in favor of a restricted building ordinance.

METAL PLANTS TO CONTINUE CLOSED

Pending arbitration of the wage differences which have caused the closing of sheet metal works in Oakland, and the resultant lay-off of 150 men, there will be no reopening of the shops and no change in scale.

This announcement, made today by C. W. Morehead, manager of the Builders' Exchange, is followed by one that there is a prospect that a decision on the entire matter may be reached next week by an arbitration board recently appointed in San Francisco and of which Archbishop Hanna, M. C. Schloss and George L. Bell are members.

To the number of sheet metal workers out of work were added today a hundred more marble fitters and coopers who have joined in the demands which resulted in their being laid off. The situation was brought about by the appeal of a number of apprentices for increased wages. The workers had applied to the unions for examination and the raises were recommended. When the companies refused to meet the figure, on the ground that several large questions needing consideration were at stake, the boys quit their jobs. The shops then closed down.

According to sheet metal men the shops have been paying $10 a day for work which brings $6.86 in the shipyards and a readjustment has been planned. It was decided, they say, that no wage changes will be made during the arbitration of the whole situation and that the demand of the apprentices would, therefore, ask that this agreement be broken.

It is expected that the whole matter will be brought before the board of arbitration next week and that a solution to the difficulties will be found.

Vollmer Issues Police Auto Orders

BERKELEY, March 26.—Berkeleyans will have opportunity to gaze unobstructedly upon the forms of the members of their famed police force in the future.

An edict today from Chief of Police August Vollmer ordered that the tops of all police automobiles be rolled down while the owners are on duty. Only in rainy weather will the officers of the law be allowed to keep tops and curtains up as a protection from the elements.

In the same order Chief Vollmer bans the use of all cars by officers of the law not of the make specified by police regulations.

GARBAGE DUMPING TO BE DISCUSSED

What Oakland shall do with its garbage, and the dangers in the present system of dumping, will be the subject of discussion at a luncheon conference called for next Monday by the public health committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. The conference will be held in the Blue room of the Hotel Oakland and the principal speakers will be Ralph Hilscher of the state board of health and Dr. Kirby Smith, Oakland city health officer.

All of the members of the city council have been invited to attend, as have the members of the city interests committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Alvin Powell of the health center, Dr. R. G. Broderick of the county hospital, Fred M. Hunter, superintendent of schools, and other interested. The city interests committee has been cooperating with the health committee in an investigation into the garbage situation.

Hilscher and Dr. Smith will speak on "Collection and Disposal of City Garbage." Hilscher is regarded as a state authority on this subject, and Dr. Smith will talk from both the theoretical and practical standpoint.

Particular attention will be paid to a health survey of Oakland made by the state board of health in which Oakland's garbage system is severely criticised.

LOST MEMORY MAN RECOVERS HIS IDENTITY

STOCKTON, March 26.—Giving the name of Charles Clayton Clemenceau, the man who has been at a local sanitarium for more than a week suffering from loss of memory, had apparently fully recovered today. He says has parents live in a small town near Chicago, but refused to give the name of the place, not wishing to alarm them. He has asked authorities to let him go to San Francisco to recover a suitcase left at a hotel, which he says contains enough money to pay his way home.

Clemenceau will be held for a few days while police are making a further investigation of his story.

He came here by boat from San Francisco and was found wandering about the streets, a wound in the back of his head and his clothing torn.

NEW WAGE BILL FOR EMPLOYEES OF U. S. PLANNED

Salary Scales Will Be Raised in Classifications; Smoot Prepares Measure.

WASHINGTON, March 26 A bill to fix new wage standards for all government employees is to be one of the first measures to obtain consideration at the approaching session of Congress Salary scales in general, according to plans outlined, will be raised, but wages for several classes of employees may be reduced.

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, with the aid of experts, is preparing a bill for the reclassification of government salaries. It is the plan to cease paying federal employees from lump sums, at salaries fixed at the will of bureau chiefs and also to dispense with the bonus system adopted during the war

Among the abuses aimed at are conditions found, according to Senator Smoot, in various departments where some employees receive many hundreds of dollars more or less than others doing exactly similar work.

OLD BREWERY AT BERKELEY IS TO BE FACTORY

BERKELEY, March 26—Berkeley's famous old brewery the cause of much strife in the college town, which for ten years has lain in idleness, will on Monday take on a new lease on life—this time as a staid and proper factory.

An option on the former home of the Golden West Brewing Company, built by Joseph Raspiller at San Pablo avenue and Francisco street, has been taken by the California Fiber Company. Permission to operate a factory was granted by the council yesterday, with the re-zoning of that portion of San Pablo avenue to allow industrial plants.

Built back in 1893, as probably the most pretentious structure in the western section of the city, Raspiller operated the brewery for more than a score of years. College city legislation finally stopped the manufacture of liquor, and for a decade the old building has lain in idleness.

Two Confronted by Charges of Perjury

REDDING, March 26.—(United Press).—Gerald Callahan and George Dewey Davis will face trial for alleged perjury in the hearing of a petition for a new trial for William Norris, sentenced to hang for the murder of Marshal Rieves of this city.

The two men were held to answer to the superior court and their bail set at $2000 each.

Saying that no matter what evidence they might produce at the preliminary hearing, the two men would be held to answer, attorneys for the defense refused to place witnesses on the stand.

With the holding of Davis and Callahan, friends of the two are working to raise money to secure their release pending trial.

Both witnesses have been offered positions, the American Legion is providing for their comfort and Seattle and California attorneys are becoming interested in the fight.

Gerald Callahan and George Dewey Davis were arrested for perjury when they testified that Deputy District Attorney L. C. Smith had practically compelled William Norris to plead guilty to murder in the first degree. They testified that a revolver was held to Norris' head and his life was threatened.

Although County Recorder H. Woodrum and J. F. Woodard of the Briggs Abstract Company testified to substantially the same thing, they were not arrested.

Redwood Tree Is Dedicated to Hero

BERKELEY, March 26.—Planted to the memory of Elwyn H. Mannhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Mannhart, 747 the Alameda, who gave his life in the world war, a redwood tree was dedicated this week in John Hinkel Park by the members of the Berkeley Hills Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mannhart enlisted when a sophomore in the university, crossing to France with the first ambulance unit from this country. Death was caused by pneumonia while Mannhart was attached to a medical unit in the Saint Mihiel section. He was 19 years old.

Bobbed Hair Fails to Hide Runaway Girl

Though she had had her hair bobbed in true Bohemian style, the disguise did not prevent a Travelers' Aid Society worker from recognizing 15-year-old Frances Hooper who ran away from the home of her adopted parents two days ago and was found and returned to them last night

The little girl when found told police that she was running away because her individuality was smothered at home. She took only her violin and was on her way to Spokane where her mother died three years ago and she was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hooper of San Leandro.

She slipped easily through the police lookout for her, because the policemen were looking for a girl whose curly, golden locks reached to her waistline. The Travelers' Aid worker saw a little girl who otherwise fitted the description except that her hair was bobbed. She put two and two together and interrupted her journey. After questioning her for awhile, the truth came out and she was returned to her home.

She spent the night at the Y. W. C. A. in Oakland after running away from home. Then she had her hair bobbed and started on the way to Spokane, with no equippage save her violin. After her confession to the Travelers' Aid workers, her adopted father was summoned and she returned to her San Leandro home with him.

HANNA MAY BE CHOSEN CARDINAL

Archbishop Edward J. Hanna may succeed the late James Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore as American cardinal, according to rumors which are being widely discussed in ecclesiastical circles today. The policy of the vatican towards the American church colors the report that another cardinal may be named immediately. Archbishop Hanna has come to take a prominent place as a leader in the Catholic church in America, through his work as chairman of the administrative committee of the National Catholic Welfare Council of America since 1919. He succeeded Archbishop Riordan of the archdiocese of San Francisco through the appointment of the pope. He was consecrated June 1, 1915. He is recognized as a diplomat. His social and industrial activities during the past four years have brought him international attention.

Archbishop Hanna was born at Rochester, N. Y., in 1860, of Irish-American parentage. He was educated in the Rochester Free Academy and Propaganda University, Rome, Italy. Ordained to the priesthood in Rome in 1885 he was appointed professor of theology in the Propaganda university, where he remained two years. He then returned to America to become professor of theology in St. Bernard's seminary in Rochester, N. Y. In 1912 he was appointed auxiliary bishop to San Francisco by Pope Pius X, following the confirmation of his nomination as coadjutor archbishop to Archbishop Riordan by the American hierarchy in 1907. On December 4, 1912, he was consecrated bishop of Tetopolis.

Cop's Presence Is Signal for Pet's Silence

Parrot May or May Not Be a Singer, But He Proves Himself Wise.

BERKELEY, March 26.—The pet parrot of Mrs. Reginald Back, society matron, of 2709 Benvenue avenue, may be of high pedigree and much value, but as a singer its worth is nil.

So neighbors of Mrs. Back in the fashionable residential section of Berkeley have complained to the police. Patrolman H. P. Lee was detailed to act as critic of the bird's warbling after Mrs. John Franklin Swift, 2515 Benvenue avenue, and Mrs. H. A. Jackson, 2708 College avenue, had voiced official objections.

Far down the street Lee declared he heard strange noises. The minute his uniform hove in sight in the yard of the Back home all disturbances ceased, however Not a sound was forthcoming from the cause of all the excitement.

IN TROUBLE BEFORE

"Bet he's been in trouble before and knows a cop," commented Lee.

Mrs. Back admits that her bird makes "some noise." When his singing and talking gets too vociferous she says she feeds the bird a clothes pin or a bone and he ceases. The parrot, she says, is a valuable Mexican variety and has been kept by the family as a pet for some years

According to the neighbors the bird starts singing and screeching with the rise of the sun and continues regularly until 7 o'clock at night, his bedtime

BIRD SHUT UP

Mrs. Swift admits owning a parrot, too, but declares that hers is of a morose nature and never converses with the world.

"I could get nothing on the bird, he shut up as soon as he saw me, so I had to leave him alone," reported Patrolman Lee to police station.

If bones and clothes pins fail to have a silencing result on her pet Mrs. Back declares that she will be forced to get rid of him in order to keep peace in the neighborhood. At any rate the bird is being given one more chance to be "good"

Freshmen Trying to Raise Deficit

BERKELEY, March 26.—A new record for class dance expenses has been set by the members of the present Freshman class, and they are busy trying to raise enough money to meet the $300 deficit which their recent "Glee" created. When the dance budget was given to the college executive committee it amounted to $811, and this sum was approved by the committee.

Immediately after the freshmen announced that they needed more money, and although warned by the committee not to exceed the limits of the budget, it is said that more than $1100 was spent. The students have declared an assessment to meet the shortage, and the executive committee will investigate the actions of the freshmen in disobeying their orders.

SPECIAL EASTER APPEAL MADE FOR NEAR EAST RELIEF

Eastbay Committee Sends Out Plea for Assistance to Needy of Europe.

A special Easter appeal is being made for Near East Relief by the local committee in charge of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, with headquarters at 2314 Bancroft way, Berkeley. That every dollar reaches its goal 100 per cent and that $98 out of every $100 is spent in the United States for the purchase of foodstuffs, clothing and other material with a careful accounting to the United States Government of all finances is the pledge of the officials.

Near East Relief is incorporated under a special act of Congress for the definite purpose of relieving the acute situation. It is carefully investing the gifts of American citizens to enable the stricken people of the Caucasus and Armenia to become self-supporting.

In a recent cablegram from one of the field workers, it was declared that "we are surrounded by an area of refugees huddled in houses; on the road, clinging together as one family, sad, worn, scared and dirty."

Conditions in Syria are reported satisfactory by the Near East Relief committee where the program has been carried out. Schools and hospitals are established and hundreds of children placed under the care of Americans. The work is extended as funds permit.

Milpitas Land Deal Suspended by Court

SAN JOSE, March 26.—The sale of 15 acres of land on the Milpitas road to John H. French was set aside by judgment rendered by Superior Judge F. H. Brown on the ground that there had been misstatement of facts on the part of George H. Freeman of Los Angeles, who had acted as agent for his mother, Mrs. Addie Freeman, in making the deal with French. The judgment returns $7500 which French had paid on the property and cancels a balance of $10,500 which was still due. French contended that the property was not worth more than $6000 or $8000, instead of $18,000.

According to the report of Deputy Sheriffs Condon and Arnerich who investigated the accident, the injured man was riding toward San Jose on the Almaden road while Kocher was headed in the opposite direction on the same road. They crashed head-on as they met on a curve in the road. There were no witnesses of the accident besides passengers in the automobile and they corroborated Kocher's story that Bettancourt was on the wrong side of the road. Bettancourt was accompanied by a brother on a second machine, but he was a considerable distance in the rear and around a second curve and did not see the crash.

LAFOLLETTE IN ADDRESS HURLS DEFY AT CRITICS

MADISON, Wis., March 26.—Robert M. La Follette stood up in the assembly room of the capitol where his war record was condemned three years ago and hurled defiance at those who attacked him then.

This was while addressing a farmer-labor conference here.

"I wouldn't trade my war record with any living man," he thundered.

"They are at it down at Washington now. First, they make you people fight the war, and then they make you pay for it. They intend to repeal the excess profits law and put a tax on bread. That's what is coming.

"There is trouble ahead unless this government is brought back to the people. I am not in favor of a communistic form of government. I will say, however, that I would rather live under a government owned by all the people in common than a government owned by Morgan."

Pay Cut Ruling Is Ordered to Stand

ATLANTA, March 26.—Judge Samuel H. Sibley in Federal District Court here last night, denied the petition of striking union men of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad that he rescind his wage reduction order and refer the matter to the Federal Labor Board for action.

Giving his opinion verbally at the conclusion of hearings, Judge Sibley announced that the question was a judicial one and that tomorrow the question of the justness of wages would be taken up before him. The judge held in effect that no board or law could rightfully fix wages so high that a railroad could not pay them and operate. Asserting that while in some instances a labor board might be a better judge of wages than a court, he said that in the case before him the question was one to be decided in court.

Probation Committee Asks Charter Amendment Vote

The Alameda County Probation Committee has issued a public statement urging the citizens of Oakland to adopt the proposed charter amendment relating to the extension of the scope of work of the recreation department at the April election. A resolution favoring the proposition was signed by J. B. Richardson, Mrs. A. S. Lavenson, Dr. Sarah Shuey, R. A. Leete, J. McCarthy, Herbert Clark, Mrs. C. S. Chamberlain, O. Snediger.

The statement follows:

"The committee feels that the proposed amendment to the city charter, whereby the recreation department would be given jurisdiction to provide recreation and amusement for the older boys and girls, should be adopted.

"The committee is deeply concerned with the problem of juvenile delinquency. Among the older boys and girls who come before the juvenile court a large percentage of delinquency is due to the fact that there is no adequate provision for taking care of their leisure time, either in their own homes or elsewhere. The records of the juvenile court show that the energy and enthusiasm of youth all too often finds outlets in misdirected channels, many of which lead into the courts.

"The extension of the work of the recreation department, as contemplated in the proposed amendment, will, we believe, contribute very materially to a lessening of juvenile delinquency."

Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs and local parlors of Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West are supporting the amendment. Among those from which formal endorsement has been received are the following:

Brooklyn Parlor, N. S. G. W.; Piedmont Parlor No. 120, N. S. G. W., Fruitvale Parlor No. 177, N. D. G. W.; Bahia Vista Parlor No. 167, N. D. G. W.; Aloha Parlor No. 106, N. D. G. W.

Rich Divorcee of Day May Re-wed Mate She Just Lost

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Coincident with the obtaining of a final decree of divorce today by Mrs Fanon Burr from Howard Courtney Burr, wealthy New York banker, it was rumored that both parties to the action contemplated an immediate embarkation on the sea of matrimony for the second time.

It was whispered about that Mrs Burr might be rewedded today, but so far no confirmation of this could be obtained either from her home on Pacific Heights or from the offices of her attorney, Lent Humphreys. Attorney Roy Hudson counsel for Burr, had heard nothing of his rumored matrimonial plans.

The decree was granted by Superior Judge Flood. This was the first day on which it could be entered. The couple were married in Columbus, Ohio, November 29, 1910, and separated eight years later. There are two children, Howard Courtney Burr, Jr., and George Howard Burr, second. Both are in the custody of the mother, but by the terms of the decree are allowed to spend sixty days each year in New York with their father.

The property settlements remain out of court but Mrs. Burr was awarded $665 a month alimony for herself and $300 for the support of the two children. If she remarries her alimony, by the terms of the decree, is automatically cut off, but the provision for the support of the children remains in effect.

PRETTY ROMANCE BEING ENDED IN DIVORCE COURT

Mental cruelty including nagging" and "fault finding," are grounds upon which Mrs. Marion Slovel Boyesen has based a suit for divorce from Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen, wealthy New York attorney and son of the late Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen, author and professor of literature in Columbia university. Romance of the Panama-Pacific exposition days in San Francisco, when Mrs. Boyesen was 17 years old, and the New Yorker came west in a private car to see her, is being tried in the court in Reno, Nev.

That her husband charged her with marrying him for money is declared in the complaint. He is alleged also to have insulted guests and mutual friends by nagging and fault finding. The marriage took place on January 12, 1916, at the residence of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Jane Martel, and was one of the brilliant affairs of the season. The betrothal was announced in October, 1915.

Boyesen is said to be in Europe. He is a prominent attorney of New York.

Speeders Warned by Judge O'Brien

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—The recent killings of a half dozen pedestrians in this city by automobiles resulted in a warning issued by Police Judge Daniel O'Brien, that all speeders will be harshly dealt with in the future.

"Automobile accidents are the result of carelessness pure and simple," said the magistrate. "Automobile drivers are using the streets of the city as speedways. Yesterday a man was killed on Van Ness avenue by a car driven by a demonstrator for an automobile concern, who was riding with a prospective purchaser and showing how fast the car could go. This sort of thing has to stop. The lives of the people come first. In my court hereafter the first offense for speeding will mean a substantial fine, and the second a sojourn in the county jail."

The county convention will be held at the Willow Glen church, which is a long distance from restaurants and cafeterias, so the problem of meals will be solved by throwing open the homes of the various members living near the church.

There will be a 'mothers' and daughters' gold medal contest on Thursday evening, April 21, when the Jubilee singers will have a part on the program. The speakers during the sessions will be Mrs. Jennie M. Kemp, national organizer and lecturer; Mrs. Emma B. Laizure, wife of the chaplain at San Quentin, state secretary of prison reform; Mrs. Sarah J. Dorr, state president of the W. C. T. U., and Mrs. Anna M. De Yo, state secretary of the W. C. T. U. Another interesting feature of the program will be a Union signal demonstration.

New Postoffice Building Asked For Martinez

Chamber of Commerce Gets Behind Movement for a Federal Structure.

MARTINEZ, March 26.—Requests that the government construct a federal building in Martinez to house the postoffice and government officials in the county and institute a free delivery service in the city are to be made to government authorities as the result of the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night. Endorsement of the plan to ask the government to build a postoffice was given by Postmaster J. J. Anderson, who named ten cities in the state of the same standing as Martinez in which the government has constructed such structures.

Request for construction of the building is to be taken up first through the state's representatives in Congress. An attempt is to be made to have postoffice officials make a survey of the city and county immediately to determine the need of a postoffice building so that this data can be placed before congressmen.

A year ago application for free mail delivery service was made to the government but inspectors reported the request could not be met until Martinez streets had been paved and sidewalks laid. In the past year one-half of the city has been paved and this summer two more contracts which virtually complete all paving in the city will be finished.

Judgment Given in Bank Failure Claim

MEDFORD, Ore., March 26.—A judgment for the full amount, $42,203, against Chester Kubli, Applegate stockman, was awarded by the jury in circuit court late yesterday afternoon as an outgrowth of the Jacksonville bank failure. The next bank case will be a civil action against A. W. Walker of Medford for recovery of money, to be called early next week. Thus far the state has lost all criminal actions in the Jacksonville bank cases, while State Bank Superintendent Bramwell has won all civil actions for the recovery of money on overdrafts and promissory notes.

STILLS SHUT DOWN.

MARTINEZ, March 26.—Because of decrease in the consumption of fuel oil, two of the huge stills at the Shell company plant here have been shut down for the first time in the history of the local refinery. The storage capacity of the plant has been reached and there is no more room to keep refined oil. Officials declare the condition is due to decrease in oil consumption. If the condition continues to prevail it was indicated that other stills will be stopped.

Soldier Bond Drive to End With Display

BERKELEY, March 26. — At a meeting of the $250,000 soldiers' memorial bond committee held last night in the city hall, Mrs. John Snook, head of the legion auxiliary and member of the bond committee, was delegated to gain the individual support of the 800 members of the Mobilized Women's Organization in making a patriotic demonstration during the closing week of the campaign.

Plans decided at the meeting last night call for a public display of American flags in all homes, business houses, industrial plants and other places during the whole of next week.

For election day campaigning, the nucleus to an organization for bringing out votes was formed. All volunteers have been urged to communicate with the Chamber of Commerce where temporary headquarters of the bond committee has been established.

Beach Dozer Soaked When Dogs Shake

ALAMEDA, March 26. — The beaches opened all wrong for E. F. Atkins, 1319 Burbank street. He went down to Washington park beach and stretched out in the sand and the warm sun soon had him half dozing.

Suddenly he thought that the heavens had opened forth their flood gates. Water was descending upon upon him in a shower. Jumping to his feet, he states to the police that he found himself surrounded by five large and hairy dogs which had just emerged from the bay waters. All five were shaking themselves most vigorously and, being completely surrounded, he received the full benefit of the canine shimmie. Atkins protested to the police and Poundmaster Grant Hicks was sent to Washington park to see if he could locate the dogs. They had departed, however, by the time Hicks reached the municipal beach.

BERKELEY, March 26.—A mother and infant were claimed by death within three days with the passing yesterday of Mrs. Bertha Peterson Osborn, wife of William Osborn, employee of a steamship company. Mrs. Osborn was 32 years old and succumbed at her home, 2030 Bancroft Way. She had resided in Berkeley for four years. Funeral services were conducted today.

Men's Athletic Club Meets At Mayfield

MAYFIELD, March 26.—The newly organized men's athletic club held an enthusiastic meeting last night, following the report that the trustees of Stanford University had set aside 16 acres to be used as a community playground for Mayfield young people. A part of the plot will be used for a baseball field. Plans are being made to hold a field meet on April 3.

OAKS WILL PLAY TRIBUNE ALL-STARS TWO GAMES TOMORROW

SIMPSON AND ORTEGA ARE WELL SATISFIED WITH THEIR TRIP EAST AND HOPE TO GO BACK

FANS INTERESTED IN NEW TALENT SECURED BY THE LOCAL CLUB

Superintendent Del Howard to Use His Regular Coast League Team Against Stars.

With the return of the Oaks to their own back yard at Emeryville this morning, several athletes not connected with the clan of Del Howard and Honus Mitze, were out to see what is going to be offered the Oakland baseball fans this coming summer in the way of Pacific Coast League pennant hopes, or at least that was supposed to be the object of their visit. The sight-seeing athletes were members of The TRIBUNE all-Star team which plays the Oaklanders tomorrow morning and afternoon at the Coast League Park. The ball players were out to get a line on the Oakland club for tomorrow's games. Oakland baseball fans will get their first real peek at their pennant hopes tomorrow morning, and if The TRIBUNE leaguers can do what they promise, the home appearance of Howard's athletes will not be a wonderful success.

The Oaks did their training on the home lot in former years and fans had players fired before they even had a chance to show what they could do, but this season things are different, and Howard has his team practically picked before the fans got a peek at the boys in training. The TRIBUNE All Stars will lose some support in the morning contest, as Lane Shultis, the kid chucker from the Halton-Didier team of The TRIBUNE class A league is to do the heaving for the Coasters and most everyone will be out pulling for him to make good. But at least one dozen athletes will be working hard to beat Shultis. Howard has announced that Shultis will pitch the morning game, which will start at 10:30 sharp, and Alameda will probably be represented at the park as strong as any other town about the bay, as Shultis is a product of that city. Also Mare Island and Vallejo will be well represented, as Lane did his first pitching there when a busher. The sailors and marines gave the kid a big send-off when he took the hill a week ago today at Mare Island against the Marine nine.

Oakland Bosses Will Not Wish Recruits On Fans.

Gene Caldera, the C. L. Best Tractor southpaw, and Johnny Gillespie of the Coast Tire team of The TRIBUNE league are the chuckers for the All Stars, and just which one will work against Shultis in the morning combat has not been decided. Howard has promised that all Oakland regulars will appear in the two games, so the fans need not fear that they will give up a good morning's sleep to watch a bunch of recruits. The lineup will be the same as given out yesterday—Wille, Pinelli, Cooper, Miller, Knight, White, Brubaker and the batteries. Art Koehler and Pete Read will share the backstop work in the morning, and Mitze and Dorman will do it in the afternoon. Fans will also be anxious to get a peek at Ted Cather, the new outfielder, and Barney Kearns, the new infielder, so they figure to break into the lineup some time during the day.

Harry Krause hopes to prove to the fans that his southpaw is right again, and he will be on the hilltop against the All Stars in the afternoon contest, which will start at 2:30. Harry has cut 'em loose several times at Myrtledale and his display of early form has caused Mitze and Howard to feel that they should work him in at least two games at Salt Lake the opening week.

Fans Will Get First Peek At New Talent.

Babe Pinelli, Al White, Pete Read, Art Koehler, Ted Cather and Barney Kearns are the new men the fans will get their first peek at tomorrow by going out to see The TRIBUNE All Stars battle the 1921 pennant hopes for Oakland. Pinelli has been in the league before, but not as an Oak.

Then again there is a chance for the fans to see some more new men in the pitching department, as The TRIBUNE All Stars promise they are going to drive Shultis and Krause to the showers. This would give a chance for Harry (Socks) Seibold and Gene Kersten or Earl Hilton to show what they can do in the way of pitching for the Oakland club.

The All Stars will lineup as follows: Boldt, right field; Duffy Gerlach, second base; "Red" Lynch, center field; Ollie Burns, first base; Claude Rowher, shortstop; Phil Apperson, left field; E. Handley, third base; Al. Ross and Charley Schwake, catchers; Johnny Gillespie and Gene Caldera, pitchers, and Joe Rodgers, utility.

Transbay Champs Will Meet Tomorrow

Frank Cohen, manager of the Granat Bros., who won the Midwinter championship in San Francisco last year, has rounded his champions together and will have them out at Ewing Field tomorrow afternoon to tangle with the Nationals, this year's champions of the transbay Midwinter League. Dick Arlett, the Oakland chucker, who pitched the Nationals to this year's championship, will be on the hill against the Granats. Tye Lawson will chuck for the Granats. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

Harry Weaver Helps Defeat the Angels

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—The Cubs defeated the Los Angeles team here 7 to 3 yesterday afternoon. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago Nationals	7	12	1
Los Angeles P. C. League	3	8	4

Batteries—Vaughn, Weaver and O'Farrell; Crandall, Thomas, Dumovich and Baldwin.

Billiard Notes

NEW YORK, March 26.—Edouard Horemans, Belgian billiard champion, momentarily lost the lead to Welker Cochran of San Francisco yesterday in their 18.2 balk line match for 4800 points, but regained it with a high run of 271. This run is second only to the American record of 436 set by Jake Schaefer here recently. Horemans gained on his rival today and has a grand total of 4000 to Cochran's 3731. The respective grand averages are 53 25-75 and 49 55-75.

Elmhurst Must Annex Three Games in Row

Three Clubs Battling for the Pennant in Class "B" League.

By MAURY FESSANO

The Melrose Merchants, Allendale and Elmhurst are still in the running for the Class B pennant of The TRIBUNE league, but the winner should be known before Old Sol completes his round tomorrow. The Allendale lads will play out their string tomorrow, when they meet the Hayward Natives, at the Allendale grounds. Elmhurst has still three games to play, the first of which will be with the Peet Bros. team at Elmhurst lot tomorrow. Should Elmhurst lose tomorrow the club will be out of the race. If Elmhurst wins tomorrow they will wind up their schedule the following Sunday by playing a double-header. A postponed combat with Melrose will be the first game while the Modern Woodmen will help Elmhurst wind up the schedule for the season. Three straight wins for Elmhurst will put that club fifty-fifty with Allendale for the season's honors.

There will be only two games in the B league tomorrow. The best game for the afternoon should be played off at the Elmhurst diamond, where the Merchants tackle the Peet club. The soap boys have proved a game bunch, and should give the Merchants a stiff argument. Bill Plummer will be on the firing line for the visitors, while Manager Brown of the home club have a couple of good heavers to call upon. Mobley and Draper are both in fine form for the game. The other game will be played at the Allendale playgrounds. Since the Merchants started to win the Allendale park has been crowded each Sunday with baseball fans. The Hayward Natives, after starting out in the league like a real bunch of trouble makers, have failed to show the old fighting spirit. They have lacked a good pitcher since "Babe" Keller left the club. McInerney, catcher for the club, has been assigned to the pitching job several times, and he may be called to work against Allendale. The umpires for the day are Apple at Allendale and Zimmerman at Elmhurst.

N. Y. Governor Places Ban on The Big Fight

Offers to Aid Charity Fail to Do Any Good for Benefit.

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Hope of holding the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in New York has vanished.

Governor Miller, a few days ago, turned down the trump offer by which Tex Rickard hoped to overcome his objection to the big bout, it was learned today from a source close to the governor.

Rickard, through friends, let it be known to the governor that he would give fifty per cent of his net profits to the state fund for disabled soldiers if the fight could be held in New York.

Dempsey, the champion, would also give a percentage of his purse to defend his title in this state.

Governor Miller turned down both offers on the grounds that it was to be a prize fight and would be for the interests of only a few and not the public.

He suggested if boxing was so interested in doing things for the disabled soldiers that a big carnival be held this summer on the Polo Grounds and that the entire receipts and not a percentage of the profits, be given to the wounded soldiers.

Sick, Injured Men Among the Giants

NEW ORLEANS, March 26.—Chances of the New York Giants starting the season in good shape are rather slim. The club was here today with several sick members, a couple on the injured list and an epidemic of sore arms among the pitchers. Manager McGraw is distinctly disappointed with the change in condition since the club left San Antonio.

Bat Ortega And Simpson Home Again

By BOB SHAND.

Battling Ortega, Tommy Simpson and Harold Algernon Broom returned from their three month's eastern trip yesterday afternoon but there is no telling how long the lads will remain here. Simpson says Ortega is firmly established as a drawing card in the east and he expects a call from Tex Rickard and other eastern promoters any day. The trip was a success financially and pugilistically, even though the Battler did not get a crack at Johnny Wilson, the middleweight champion. The four fights in which Ortega participated did not draw very large gates but enough kale was earned by the Battler to pay all expenses and leave enough to pay the grocer and butcher for the balance of the year.

"I don't know how long we will remain at home," said Simpson last night, "as we have a number of tentative offers from eastern promoters. The Battler is known in the east and south now and he will get a fat guarantee next time we start. When we went east this time we were entirely unknown and I'll admit the game looked tough the first few weeks we were in New York. Had Boy McCormick accepted the bout with the Battler two weeks after we arrived there we would have been on Easy street right from the jump but the English champion said he had a date in London and sailed for home on 24 hours' notice.

"Bat made a big hit when he licked Carbon and the Brooklyn fans gave him a cheer when he defeated Chip. The Paske fight was easy pickings although they though Johnny was a tough bird back there. Young Denny, whom Ortega stopped in five rounds at New Orleans was soft as butter and took a fine pasting before he was dropped for the count.

DUFFY MADE MISTAKE.

"Had Jimmy Duffy remained with me he would have made some money. I can't account for his coming away so unceremoniously neither can I figure how he got peeved because I would not speak to him. I'll admit I was a bit worried when we went two weeks without getting any action but I treated Duffy the same as Broom and Ortega and of course I did not kiss them all good night and tuck 'em into their little beds.

Regarding the local boxing situation Simpson was very reticent. "I don't know what's doing in town and I'm not in any hurry to find out. We had a long trip and I'm going to stay home for a couple of days and practice washing dishes again. I hear there are a lot of people who would like to be promoters and I wish them all the luck in the world.

Eastern writers are still panning the decision in the recent Wilson-O'Dowd match. According to all accounts O'Dowd had all the better of the going until he was fouled several times. Mike since has been operated upon for hernia. Several large wagers were made in Oakland with Wilson a two to one favorite although O'Dowd was the favorite in the opening betting in New York.

Harold Broom wanted to remain in New York but Tommy Simpson persuaded him to come home. Harold acquired a whole trunk-full of wonderful raiment in N'York and he is speaking with quite a metropolitan accent.

Entries for tomorrow's races at the Emeryville greyhound racetrack follows:

Technical Beaten by Alameda High School

Alameda High School took a fall out of Technical High School yesterday afternoon at the Lincoln park diamond when they blanked the Broadway nine by a 2 to 0 tally. Hookem Smith, the master twirler of the march lads, was in superb form, whiffing many batters, while Butler, the Tech pitcher, was lacking in the pinches at times. Poor support let in one of the winning runs.

Brooklyn Hurlers Rounding to Form

SHREVEPORT, La., March 26.—Improvement in condition and better form shown by his pitchers is bringing some joy back to the life of Manager Robinson of Brooklyn. The victory over the Yankees yesterday cheered up the whole squad.

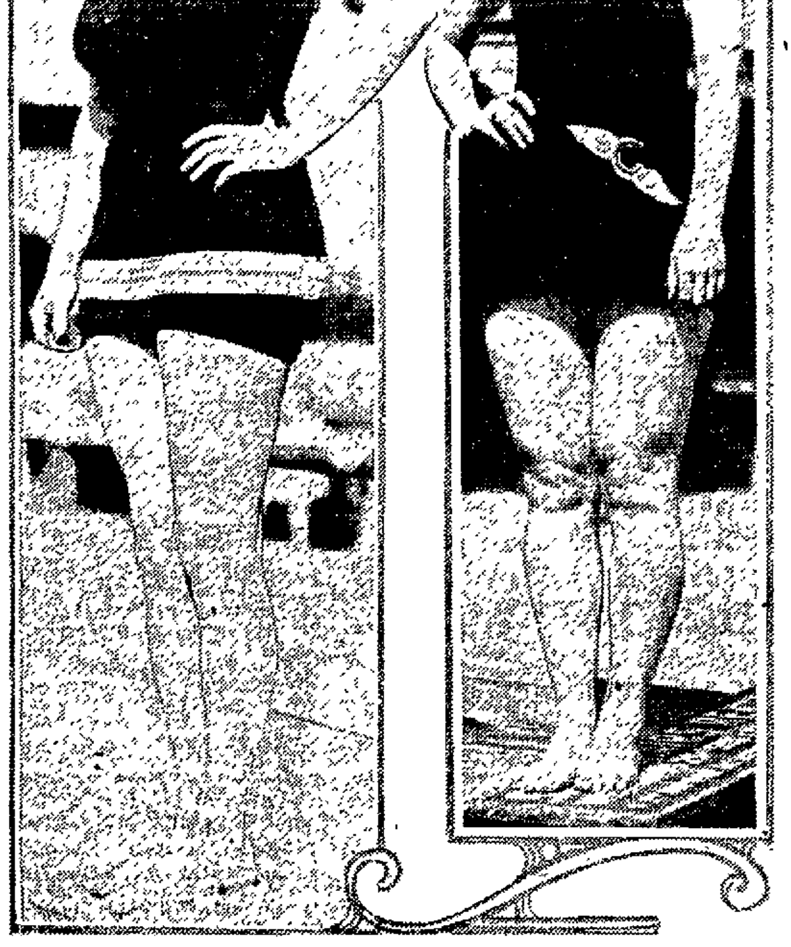
The Proof--Summer Is Here--More Proof

In ye olden days folks got the dope on the weather from the ground hog: If he couldn't see his shadow he announced that summer had arrived. It's different now—when you see a flock of mermaids disporting in the briny it is a sign that winter has been eased into the discard. The lassies were out at the beaches today for the first time this year and they will be on the job until late in the fall. Here are two of the best swimmers entered in the Neptune Beach events—HELEN MARTIN (left) and AILEEN JONES.



Outdoor Swim Season Ushered In at Beaches

Many New Swimmers Will Compete in Opening Events.

No matter what the calendar says, summer is here. Proof positive was offered at the bathing beaches today when the mermaids extracted their bathing suits from their purses and made their 1921 bow to Old Man Neptune. The old gent was no doubt glad to see the lassies; anyhow, the beach lizzards were and they were out by the thousands, both at Idora and Neptune.

The 1921 swimming season was officially ushered in at Neptune Beach today when fifty mermaids and mermen competed in the first outdoor swimming races of the year. The events were arranged to give the newcomers a chance to show their speed and tomorrow's races will bring out all the new crop of girl and men swimmers.

Ernestine Renzel, a San Jose girl, Dixie Hanchett of the California Swimming Club of San Francisco; Gertrude Seyden, of the Alameda Neps, and Helen Martin of Oakland are the most promising of the new girl swimmers and will go on the marks.

Lester Smith, the Olympic Club swimming champion, and Jack Robertson of the University of California, who had a slashing meeting in the 100 yards in the O. C.-U. C. swimming meet last week, will have a return engagement tomorrow afternoon in the open 100 yards free style.

The open fifty for girls tomorrow will bring out Dot Becker, the Pacific Coast champion; Gert Seyden, Eva Pellow, Flo Friesechausen and Olga Vallanos.

St. Mary's Will Play Stockton Sperry Flours

Shea and Hadley Will Perform on the Hill-Top.

The St. Mary's ball team will play Jim Russell's Sperry Flour outfit at Stockton tomorrow. Russell has practically the same players as last season and as his team was numbered among the best of the semi-pros, the Phoenix would appear to be in for another tight game. Shea is still pitching for the Sperry's. The Oakland Collegians will be opposed by two former Saint Mary's players: "Scup" Oeschger, brother to Joe of the Boston Braves, and Pete Scott, outfielder on the Saints' Varsity for two seasons. Hadley will start for Saint Mary's. The athletic authorities at the Oakland college figure that a week's rest will put Schnell back in shape and the admirers of the Saints look for them to take Stanford into camp next Wednesday. Besides the Stanford and Stockton games, the collegians have but one other on their schedule, Sacramento Coast League Club on April 2. The team will disband after this game with a record that very few teams have approached.

William Tilden Out of Tennis Singles

NEW YORK, March 26.—The National Singles Tennis Tournament opened here today with 55 entries. Illness prevented William T. Tilden II, indoor and outdoor champion, from defending his title in the singles but he expects to play next week with his partner, Vincent Richards, in an effort to retain their doubles title.

TRIBUNE LEAGUE PRESIDENT HEAD OF THE MISSIONITES

Watsonville, Gilroy and Hollister Will Retain Name of "Mission League."

Directors of the Watsonville, Gilroy and Hollister ball clubs, the backbone of the Mission League last summer have decided that they can get along without the Salinas and San Jose teams this summer, so at their meeting the other evening they elected Fred L. Krumb, president of the Mission League and have announced that the season will start on April 10. Unless the Salinas directors assume a different attitude a vote will be made to take in one traveling club from around Oakland, making a four-club league. Fred L. Krumb has been president of The TRIBUNE Midwinter League for the past few years, and has announced his acceptance of the new position.

The directors of Watsonville, Gilroy and Hollister charge Jim Nealon, former president, with starting the row that brought the spite up of the clubs, and whether or not the meeting at San Jose tomorrow results in another league being formed, the Watsonville, Gilroy and Hollister directors intend to go right along with a four-club league and carry the name of "Mission Leageu." The meeting at which Krumb was elected, was held at Gilroy. Those who voted for his appointment were: L. M. Lile and Henry Struve of Watsonville; E. J. Graham and Harry Munro of Hollister, and C. C. Lester and A. W. Cox of Gilroy. The name of the Best Tractors as the traveling club in the league was mentioned at the meeting. The opening games will be played at Hollister and Watsonville.

There is a feeling among the directors of the Three-Strong clubs that Salinas will back out of the other league before tomorrow's meeting and will ask to get in with Watsonville, Gilroy and Hollister. If this happens, it will mean another meeting and the expansion of the league to six clubs with Monterey or Santa Cruz to be added. San Jose appears to be at outs for good with the "Three-Strong" as Watsonville, Gilroy and Hollister club are called.

YOUNG PAPKE LOSES.

OGDEN, Utah, March 26.—Jimmie John of Ogden was given a four-round decision over Young Papke of California here last night. Gordon McKay of Idaho won a four-round decision from Claire Bromeo.

Jack Dempsey started light training for the Carpentier match at Calgary, Alberta, yesterday.

Local Players Making Good With the Reds

Louis Fonseca and S. Bohne Are Given a Nice Boost.

By TOM SWOPE,
Sport Editor Cincinnati Post
(Written for the United Press)

CISCO, Tex., March 26.—Pat Moran is going to show the National League some new ball players this year that are destined to cut considerable ice on the big time.

In his four unsigned Reds—Eddie Roush, Heinie Groh, Larry Kopf and Jake Daubert—were in the fold, the Reds would be a mighty fine spring bet for the pennant.

Even without them the Reds look good, for Moran has the best crop of rookies any Cincinnati club has had south in years and years.

Sammy Bohne and Bubbles Sargrave are the two big finds. Bohne, who cost the Reds $17,500, already has taken the third base job and if Groh returns he will be assigned to second base. Bohne is a fast, fine fielder and an excellent hitter. During the training season he pulled a Babe Ruth stunt by hitting four home runs in one game.

Hargrave, who cost the club $10,000, will be a regular catcher working against southpaws while Ivy Wingo will hit against the righthanders.

Louis Fonseca, a kid from the San Francisco lots, who was touted to the Reds as a second Hornsby, looks the part. He is playing second acceptably and is hitting hard. Denny Williams, a fast lad from Moose Jaw, is giving George Paskert and Charley See a battle for an outfield berth. Pat Duncan will continue in left and if Roush returns he will run the center garden.

Maynard Felix, a big Denver boy, will make Jake Daubert a good understudy at first base. He is a great fielder and not a bad hitter.

Moran's pitching staff looks good. He expects Hod Eller, Luque, Marquard and Rixey to be his aces at the start, while Brenton, Coumbe, Bressler, Napier and Seiffert are not slouches.

That Roush, Daubert and Groh will be along later seems certain. Kopf, however, may retire to the business field. Kopf's place as a fielder at least can be taken by Sam Crane, but he is not as good a hitter as Kopf. Moran believes Crane will cover more territory and prove as valuable to the club as Larry. Carl Schwehl, a kid from Port Chester, N. Y., also looks promising at short.

San Jose Fans See How Lewis Uses Head Lock

SAN JOSE, March 26. — The headlock used by Strangler Ed Lewis in winning the championship of the world was successfully demonstrated by the champion in an exhibition match at the Elks' club last night in defeating Angelo Tomaraschi of San Francisco. The winning fall came after 21 minutes of wrestling. Tomaraschi once slapped a scissors on the champion's head, together with a wrist lock, but Lewis bridged and then squirmed away with a display of his wonderful strength and agility. It was after the timekeeper had called off 20 minutes that Lewis suddenly resorted to his dreaded headlock and bore Tomaraschi to the mat, at the same time piling his great weight on the head of his opponent. He then tightened his hold with a couple of heaves into which his big hulk was thrown. At the second surge the man underneath quickly and almost frantically patted the mat in signal of surrender.

The match was arranged as a part of an athletic program, including boxing, which was staged by the club as a benefit for the bowling team which they will send to the Elks' tournament at Portland, Or., in the near future.

U. C. Boxers Battle U. S. C. Lads Tonight At the Harmon Gym.

California boxers meet the University of Southern California tonight at 8 p. m. in Harmon gymnasium. Six bouts will be staged, taking in all the weights from 118 to 175. The judges have announced a more lenient interpretation of the amateur boxing rules so that the fans will be treated to four rounds instead of three in most bouts. The entries are:

Headlock May Have Injured Joe Stecher

The headlock which Strangler Ed Lewis clamped on Joe Stecher which resulted in the latter going to the hospital for a spell a short time ago probably was more far reaching in its results than generally given credit for. Stecher's defeat at the hands of Stanislaus Zbyszko a few nights ago in New York is taken by many followers of the mat sport to spell the finish of the great wrestler, and it is more than probable that he never will be able to regain the championship he lost. Many will date the decline and fall of Stecher to the moment Lewis got his headlock on the night of December 13, 1920, at the Seventy-first Regiment armory in New York.

Chess Experts Are Not Hurting Business

There is no end of excitement in Havana, Cuba. Apparently, not being content with a corner on the cocktail market, and one of the biggest race meets in the world, it has been staging a world's championship chess match. At this writing Dr. Emanuel Lasker and Jose R. Capablanca have neither of them been able to gain any advantage. It is Dr. Lasker's next move and it is expected to be made in the near future. No falling off in the cafes or at the race track is reported, as a result of holding the chess match simultaneously.

Handball Court At the "Y" Is Popular

The new handball court of the Oakland Y. M. C. A. was opened by a match between the Leiter Brothers and Kearns and Veale of the physical department. The court is proving popular and is used all day. The court is well lighted so that evening play is possible.

FIVE YOUNGSTERS ARE GIVEN THEIR WALKING PAPERS BY HOWARD

Oakland Players Now Home to Finish Training for Start of Big Coast League Race.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

After three weeks of life in the country around Myrtledale, at the far end of Napa Valley, Superintendent Del Howard and Foreman Honus Mitze are today directing their 1921 pennant hopes on the home ball lot in Emeryville, but the squad out there is just minus five of the party which started from Myrtledale this morning at 6:45 o'clock. Everyone of the thirty athletes under Howard and Mitze let out a big hurrah as the train pulled into Sixteenth street station at ten jingles this morning, for everyone was happy at the thought of seeing some city life again, although they all admit enjoying very much the three weeks' stay at the hot springs. But the arrival of the party at the local ball yard was the cause of sorrow coming to five of those athletes, as the pruning knife which Herbie McFarlin had been sharpening for the past week was made use of for the first time by Superintendent Howard and the heads of Claude Mitchell, Billy Paull, Beverly Broaddus, Joe Smith and Glenn Poole were lopped off.

Everyone of the players were handed their outright release as Del Howard and Mitze realized the many good jobs floating around for good ball tossers to land in the Mission and Valley leagues, and figured that they would be better pleased to be released outright than to be farmed somewhere. Although Bob Brown is mentioned as having refused to take Paull and Mitchell on his Vancouver club, Howard had a chance to farm them to other clubs in the Pacific International league. Several clubs of the Mission and San Joaquin leagues have been dickering for the services of both those infielders, so they will no doubt be satisfied with the outright release.

Pitcher Beverly Broaddus and Catcher Glenn Poole are the lads signed last summer by J. Cal. Ewing. They formed the battery for the Ukiah club. Broaddus is suffering with a very sore arm, while Poole is too green for Coast league timber. However, they should go good with a leading semi-pro club this summer if they are not picked by a team in some smaller league of organized ball. Joe Smith is an infielder who has an awkward way of fielding a ball.

Release of Infielders Assures Kearns of Job.

What will become of a few other young fellows Howard has under his wing will not be determined until the end of next week. Charley Cullers and Johnny Emerson are two young outfielders trying to take the place of veterans, but they are probably being held for Bob Brown of Vancouver. The release of Infielders Joe Smith, Billy Paull and Claude Mitchell leaves the utility infield job clear for Barney Kearns, unless someone is shipped out here from the east to give him a fight, as Jack Knight, Al. White, Ray Brubaker and Babe Pinelli are the only other infielders at present with the club. Charley Dorman and Pete Read are the young catchers left, now that Poole is gone. Bob Brown wants a catcher and he will get one of the pair, but may be not until the season in the Coast league is a couple of weeks old, as Howard thinks very well of both.

Howard's announcement that he will hang onto nine pitchers for the first month leaves one more opening for a youngster besides Lane Shultis, The TRIBUNE leaguer, who has already earned himself the trip to Salt Lake for the opening week. Earl Hilton, the Klamath Falls kid, and Gene Kersten, the local heaver, are right handers and Paris Buttisback, another graduate from The TRIBUNE league, is a left hander, and the choice for the ninth man rests between them. Howard will take but six pitchers to Salt Lake with him, which means that three will have to stay at home the first week and report to the club again when it returns here to meet the Seals in the second series of the season.

Regulars Win Final Game At Myrtledale.

Before the athletes packed their grips at Myrtledale, they went out on the field for their final Regular-Yannigan game, and as happened in all but one of the other contests, the Regulars played their way to a 6 to 3 victory over the Yannigans. The only game which the Regulars failed to win while at Myrtledale was one which resulted in a tie. The Yannigans were southpawed to defeat as George (Lefty) Winn and Harry Krause did the chucking for the Regulars and allowed eight scattered hits. Joe Boehling and Earl Hilton did the mound honors for the Yannigans.

Pete Read, the young catcher for the Yannigans connected for a triple. Babe Pinelli stole four bases for the Regulars. The score:

Regulars	6	12	2
Yannigans	3	8	2

Batteries — Winn, Krause and Koehler; Boehling, Hilton and Read.

The St. Louis Nationals will break camp at Orange, Texas, Wednesday, returning directly to the home town, where they will have a short rest. The American league club, which left training quarters at Bogalusa, La., Friday, is due at St. Louis Wednesday.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BUD MORIARTY.

Captain Eric Lillencrantz of the champion Tech. swimming aggregation, had his charges in the brine working overtime all last week. Although the Oakland Athletic league aquatic tourney is the last item on the prep. school's bill of fare, coming late in May, or early in June, the aggressive Broadway captain believes in heavy workouts to accustom the lads to the competition racing and diving.

At present the team lines up as follows:

100-yard breast stroke—Algers, Edwards, Diehl and Bray.
60-yard back stroke—Algers, Plunkett and Lillencrantz.
220-yard free style—Gilbert, Diehl, Taylor and Dow.
440-yard free style—Wellman and Gilbert.
Plunge for distance—Stevens, Bray and Lillencrantz.
Diving—Howard, Edwards and Plunkett.

Among the other swimmers who are looming up as strong contenders for berths on the squad are: Bahls, Church, Chichester, Chow, Confer, B and J. Gibson, Gooch, Hermanson, MacArthur, Schwaner, Sharp, W. and A. Shores, Johnson, McMath, Tophan and York.

The dive event in the O. A. L. swimfest will be run off the same as last year. Three compulsory dives will be the swan, back, and jack-knife. Any sort of a cut will be accepted as an optional performance. The ten-foot board will be used as regulation.

Captain Turk-Jack McCarthy will have a plucky heaver for his club at Vocational high if Homer Cleary, last year's veteran catcher at the mechanics institution, can successfully make the long switch from the receiving end of the battery to the chucking department.

With the present high prices for athletic equipment in vogue many of the local schools are forced to make last season's unies do service another year.

This city's quota of former high school athletes on the University of California teams has assumed a large proportion this spring. On the track outfit alone Oakland High School claims Red Drew and Herbie Henderson; Fremont gives voice to the startling work of Sheppard, sprinter for the junior bruins, and Tech used to have Brick Muller, Bob Hutchison and Guy Calden on their roster.

Joe Prelli of Fremont, Jimmy Lund of Oakland and Captain Flash Hamm of Alameda look to be the best prep. sprinters on the paths this year. Prelli can cut 10:1 when he is right, while the Oaklander and the Island City leader have made the same time in competition meets.

Tabloid Sports

Willy Lorenzo, the German rider, will make his first appearance in Chicago in the six-day bicycle race which opens at the Stock Yards Pavilion on April 2.

Cornell and Michigan meet in indoor track competition at Waterman gymnasium, Ann Arbor, tonight.

Helen Wainwright, New York, Charlotte Boyle, Brooklyn, and Margaret Woodbridge, Detroit, are the leading contestants entered for the 500-yard swim for the women's national championship at the Detroit Athletic club tonight.

The Detroit Tigers broke camp at San Antonio last night and today open an exhibition series by facing the Fort Worth, Texas, team on the Lone Star field. Except for a wobbly start in the first inning, Dick Kerr showed mid-season form against the Wichita Falls, Texas, team of the Texas league, in the practice game yesterday, which the White Sox won, 13 to 6, according to reports here today.

Cumberland, Md., yesterday applied for the Dempsey-Carpentier match.

Leslie Nunamaker, catcher for the Cleveland Indians, is out of the game, with a crippled ankle, bruised by a foul ball in a practice game recently.

The Cleveland and Eveleth, Minn., hockey teams will meet in the Ohio city, April 1 and 2, in the finals for the championship of the U. S. Hockey league.

Brazil, the Philadelphia American's first baseman, starred in the Athletes' victory over the New York Nationals at Lake Charles, La., yesterday, with a homer, a double and two singles out of five times up.

Basketball

The Hayward Native Sons basketball team defeated the Richmond A. C. quintet, 32 to 31, on the Hayward court.

"Miggs" Rogerson and Captain Quist of the Natives starred for the home club, while Daley, Richmond's forward, starred for the visitors. The Natives lineup follows: "Miggs" Rogerson, center; Captain Quist, forward; Christensen, forward; Leonard, guard; "Irish" Mitchell, guard; Machado, guard.

Coach Frank H. Lake is anxious to send his team up against any unlimited team in the bay section. For games write to Frank H. Lake, 753 Watkins street, Hayward, Cal.

AN EASTER REHEARSAL -:- By Juanita Hamel

Copyright, 1921, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

THE problem of the hat—the right hat—what a puzzle it is sometimes! There's the question of style, for instance—is it just right in fashion? Then, is it just right in becomingness? First, she discovers THE hat and then—ah, then!—comes the rehearsal to make sure she has found the most flattering angle at which to wear it. But, if only she knew, HE isn't so much interested in her hat as he is in the smile she wears beneath it—the smile that is ONLY for him—the smile which captivates his heart.

CRY on GERALDINE'S SHOULDER

I always like to take off my hat to a GOOD SPORT. The following letter shows the finest sporting spirit I have met with in many a day. The writer does not like nor approve of Jerry. She most emphatically disapproves of her. Her disapproval began with Jerry's answer to the famous letter from Helen Dodge Smith, in which Jerry tried to clear up Helen's viewpoint a bit.

Helen was "off" the whole masculine sex for life because a daring aviator stranger tried to hold her hand. I tried to make her see the part that hand-holding plays in human life—its perfectly natural origin and how the impulse could be turned to good or evil, according as one used humor, sanity, sympathy and red-blooded humanity in dealing with it. I tried to make her see that she MUST keep her perspective true—that she mustn't magnify trifles or overlook the origins of things which are so much more important than their surface manifestations. Helen read the argument, though it was a mercilessly frank one, and like a splendid fighter, took the lesson, digested it and wrote and thanked me for it. She says it has helped her mightily.

But the writer of the following letter DIDN'T like it and has written twice with increasing vigor to say so. I can't give her other letters in full, for lack of room, though I am always anxious to quote all criticism. But I do give this one with my heartiest admiration for a woman who will try to play fair in spite of an intense dislike.

Agrees With Jerry

Dear Geraldine—

I have been a teacher for many years and I have always tried to make it a rule to give praise where ever I honestly could and criticism where I feel it was needed. Some of your writings have been to my mind decidedly deserving of criticism, and I have criticized. But now that I have found something that seems to me praiseworthy, my sense of "fair play" compels me to write and say so. When I read at the top of your columns the other day "Geraldine advises those who fear being shocked not to read," I came near throwing the paper away, for I expected something dreadful—after the many shocks I had received from your columns—shocks which left me feeling heart-sick and discouraged. I was in no humor for more of that tonight. What was my surprise then to find almost every word you said (there were a few exceptions) agreed exactly with my sentiments. How I wish you could keep that side of you uppermost, Geraldine. Then I would rejoice in your letters instead of being filled with indignation and pain. Then I would be glad for my boy and others of his age and others older, to read your letters, for this time you sounded honest and sincere and real, and told us some real wholesome, genuine truths.

My heart aches for lonesome N. B. and others like her, and I certainly do not want to "jump on her" and read her a lecture. I wish I knew how to say something that would help. The way certainly is hard and lonely at times (I know whereof I speak), but do not all paths have hard and lonely spots, even those that seem the gayest? That which looks bright and glittering at a distance often becomes dull and worthless when we grasp it, and many who seem happy carry heavy hearts.

If you won't call it "reading a lecture," Geraldine, I would like to say to N. B. try if possible to put yourself with those who hold ideals and standards, like your own—there are many of them. True pleasure does not consist in dancing and joy-riding or "wild parties" or church socials for themselves alone, but in the companion ship of those who speak the same language, who live on the same plane, who are in harmony. If you can't find such companionship, well, just hold on to your ideals and standards, and I believe some day real companionship will come of those who can appreciate you for your own goodness and worth. (Pardon me, Geraldine if I am usurping your prerogative of giving advice, but my heart has gone out to that dear little working girl.)

"FRIVOLOUS AND SHALLOW."

Listen, World!

I saw 'em advertised the other day. "PRESERVED GRASSHOPPERS," the sign said. I don't know whether they were intended for a Chinese fruit salad or fish bait, and it doesn't matter. The name is all I want—for at last I know what to all those gay old lads that infest the jungle grasses of society, never changing with the seasons, just flitting gayly along, as coy at ninety as they were at nine. "Preserved grasshoppers"—that's them.

Haven't you seen 'em Friends? The kind of a sly old Thomas Cat that nudges you in the ribs at the movies, and winks at you from the cigar stand? Generally they go twittering around in short-waisted checked suits, cloth topped shoes and an air of being dry-cleaned-but-still-susceptible. And their kind of love bears about as much relation to the real article as stale chipped beef does to a fresh tenderloin.

Nice old men I like. Wicked old men I'm apt to adore. But PRESERVED GRASSHOPPERS I simply abominate. And the next time one of 'em interferes with my traffic I'm going to give him the address of that store and tell him to go up and sell himself for fish bait.

A Beautiful Vision

I called you "frivolous and shallow" before, my Enemy, because you insisted on clinging to surface prejudices and turning away from the deep probings into truth that are so vitally necessary in dealing with these problems. I used that term in honest sadness—for to me it is a tragic indictment. I don't think you are frivolous or shallow in this letter—I think you are finely sincere. But I still wish I could change your viewpoint. I assure you Jerry has only "one side" in all her dealings with you. There is no other side to "keep uppermost." She always answers all your questions with the utmost sanity, honesty, humor, wisdom and tenderness of which she is capable. Some of you need the honesty—some of you need the tenderness—some of you need the humor—IN ORDER TO RESTORE YOUR BALANCE. I have no use for sickly sentimentality, no use for prejudice or precedent, no use for nine-tenths of the conventions—no use for ANY OF THE COWARDLY ATTITUDES OF THE MIND WHICH ARE REALLY BASED ON FEAR. I insist on judging a thing by its own intrinsic merits and not by what other people may think of it or of me. That is the only attitude I use in working with and for you.

I think you have a beautiful vision in your heart and have consecrated yourself with all your ardor to serving that vision. But I also think you're going to nullify the beauty of that vision and that consecration unless you grow a sense of humor—a SENSE OF THE PROPORTION OF THINGS—unless you learn to probe into things even if they do shock you—unless you put a DEEP UNDERSTANDING OF LIFE before your own prejudices. You won't like me any the better for telling you this, but it's true nevertheless. And you probably won't want the love I'm sending, either, but I wish you'd pass it on to those dear boys. I do like boys so much.

Girls Should Smoke?

Here is a letter that is a joy. I like her smoking viewpoint and I love her sense of humor. How many 17-year-old girls can see anything even to smile at in a love affair? Not many, and believe me, I know. I will share the happiness and fun of the letter with you.

Dear Pal of Pals—

If you don't mind I am going to tell and ask you a lot of things? About the smoking question, if you want my honest opinion I think it is perfectly square and fair for girls to smoke. Can you really see that it is any harder to smoke than roll your socks and forget half of your clothes? No, I cannot. Now I don't smoke, Geraldine, but I am a high school girl and it makes me laugh when I hear some of the girls slamming some one else who smokes. The average girl who smokes just does so for a short time because they think it the fad or something else. So, Jerry, old pal, I think these girls who stand around and slam might lend a helping hand. What do you think?

Well, Jerry, you know I am just at that awful age, 17. I guess you know what is coming. Yes, that awful masculine subject. He's got "red hair" and everything, and I can't help it, Jerry, I've got it bad. Would you mind telling me, Jerry, if I am too young to accept that diamond?

Well, I guess I have bothered you enough for this time. But expect to hear from me often.

From some one who is strong for you MILLA.

This is just to you, Milla, can't you wait just one year for the diamond? You know you MIGHT change your mind, although I do know the fascination of a redheaded boy. I love 'em.

Married Women Working

Just because I think that every married woman has the right to settle to her own satisfaction the question of whether or not she works, is no reason why all of you shouldn't have your say, as follows:

Dear Jerry—

I have read your column every night and it has given me much pleasure. Since you have asked the opinions of others on the question of married women working, I am sending mine.

I certainly agree with you that the woman's place is in the home and the present idea of women working is destroying the old idea of the wife for the home and the man for the business world. I think the reason for unsuccessful marriages is because the woman has enlarged her business ability and not her home-making ability. What man would rather have his wife working than at home preparing him a good supper and caring for his children? Wouldn't he rather have her there to welcome him home from a hard day's work with a warm fire, his slippers ready and her kisses and caresses, than a hurriedly thrown together meal of canned things and that would probably be eaten between tired, cross words.

Of course, there are exceptions to every rule. Why shouldn't a married woman work if she can better the conditions of her home, which, by rights, is her first job. There is no harm in a woman working just long enough to lay aside a little money for herself if it makes her husband and her home happier. This may sound like the husband is the king and the wife the slave, but why shouldn't a wife strive to make a happy home for her husband, if he is giving her a home, and the possibilities of being a good wife and mother. A man marries a woman for something more than just the pleasure of being able to call her his wife and be his partner at the dinner table and dance.

Let me say, just once more, that the woman's place is in the home, as a builder of nations. Faithfully yours, ROB ROY.

Thought Jerry Silly

Dear Jerry—

I read your letters every night and I sure have learned to love you. I'll admit I thought at first it was silly, but that was before you got started good and you probably were not getting sensible letters, but now it is different.

Jerry, please ask the pals what they think of a girl that flirts?

DOT.

No one likes to be called silly. I think it's worse than being stupid, but since she thinks I have gotten over it to a certain extent here is her question—What do you think of a girl who flirts? And while you're at it with your most virtuous expression glued right on the front of your face BE SURE AND REMEMBER THE TIMES YOU FLIRTED. Did Jerry ever flirt? I'll say she did!

Holding a Husband

WHAT MRS. DURKEE JOKINGLY THREATENED

I really thought little Mrs. Durkee meant to settle down and stay for the day, she was so happily voluble after the matter of the drawing room had been settled to her satisfaction.

To me, resentful of the arrangement which would subject me to so much inconvenience, and worried about Dicky's ridiculous enforced sojourn upon the veranda roof, her prattle, which usually amuses and interests me mightily, bored me to the point of exhaustion. She described all her gowns in full detail, then began upon those of the bride, as if—I told myself ironically—that I did not know every stitch of the trousseau by heart.

"And, oh, what do you think, Madge?" she exclaimed excitedly, breaking off the description of a bit of embroidery which she evidently had forgotten was the work of my own fingers, "Major Grantland asked me last night?"

"To become the future Mrs. Majors?" I asked slyly, knowing that the little woman, long past middle-age, still liked to be teased as if she were a young girl contemplating matrimony. It is, of course, merely a surface vanity—my little neighbor has a fund of common sense which keeps her from doing anything really foolish—but those of us who know her and love her tease her in and out of season about every man of her acquaintance, young or old, knowing that she thoroughly enjoys the gibing.

"The idea, Madge! Aren't you awful! Why, I'm old enough to be his mother—almost—" she qualified with ludicrous haste. "What would he think if he could hear you?"

"Probably that I was a mind reader," I retorted carelessly, with a mental vision of Major Grantland's face if he could have heard the conversation—his sense of humor, and his knowledge of women's vagaries have always seemed a bit embryonic to me—"but I'll personate the end man of the minstrel show if you wish. What did Major Grantland ask you last night?"

MOTHER GRAHAM COMMENTS

"To get him pieces of the gowns all of us are going to wear at the wedding," she answered. "Do you suppose?"

She stopped abruptly and looked at me inquiringly, one of her little ways with which I am familiar. So I promptly finished her question, quickly revising my estimate of the officer's knowledge of women as I did so.

"That he means to furnish the women of the wedding party with flowers," I said dryly. "That surely must be his intention unless he is occupying his leisure with making patchwork sofa pillows."

"Her Fluffiness" gurgled delightedly, but my mother-in-law's voice, tart with disapproval, cut short the giggle. Mother Graham dislikes Maj Grantland heartily and omits no opportunity to evidence her disapproval.

"He got that stuff out of some book," she said acidly. "He looks like that sort of moony chap."

AN ULTIMATUM

"Maj. Grantland is anything but moony," Mrs. Durkee declared spiritedly. The officer, who is only second to Dicky in Alfred Durkee's list of men friends, is a prime favorite with Alfred's mother. And I fancy that the little woman's motherly attentions and pretty fluttering ways have appealed very strongly to the lonely man. At any rate, he has done many gracious little services for her, which "Her Fluffiness thoroughly appreciates.

"He's the most splendid man I know," she went on stoutly, "except Alfred and Dicky, of course," she qualified hastily, "but they're my own boys." The smile she flashed at Mother Graham would have softened almost any visage but that of my mother-in-law. "And I think it's perfectly scrumptious of him to do this. So let me have the pieces, both of you. He's going to drop around in the car this morning on his way to New York, and wants to take them with him."

"He'll not take any dress goods of mine with him to New York or anywhere else," Mother Graham declared grimly. "Of course, you may do as you please, Margaret, but if I were in your place I should certainly not permit such an outlandish proceeding."

Naturally, my first impulse upon hearing this ridiculous ultimatum—for such I knew my mother-in-law meant it to be—was to assure my little neighbor that I would be delighted to receive the major's flowers. But I knew Dicky's aversion to the officer, realized that without meaning to do so his mother's version of the incident would be exaggerated, and so I resolved to temporize until I could see my way clearly to accept or refuse.

"I am afraid I haven't a scrap of my gown left," I said. "You know I had such a scant pattern, anyway, and I remember thinking I wouldn't dare to tear it, for I couldn't mend it decently."

"That's all poppycock," little Mrs. Durkee declared, rising and shaking out her skirts indignantly. "But I'll get even with you," she went on childishly as she hurried out of the door. "I'll tell Maj Grantland that you're hunting for it, and send him over when he comes."

Uncle Wiggily Stories

by HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S EVERGREEN WREATHS.

"Are you going far, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning, as she saw the bunny rabbit gentleman starting out from his hollow stump bungalow.

"Just far enough to find an adventure and come back," answered Mr. Longears. "May I have the pleasure of going to the store, or doing something like that for you, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy?"

"Thank you. If you wouldn't mind stopping in the five and six cent store and getting me a little looking glass, I'd be obliged to you," said the muskrat lady.

"I can't get you very much of a looking-glass for five, or even seven cents," Uncle Wiggily made answer. "Better let me get you a big one at the thirteen cent store."

"I only want a little one for Susie Littletail's rag doll," spoke Nurse Jane. "A five cent size will be just right."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods, and in not so very long he reached the five and six cent store and bought the little looking-glass, which he put in his pocket. Then on the bunny gentleman hopped again, now and then leaning on his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch.

The sun was warm, and, though it would not be summer for several months, still the air was warm. Hopping to a log on which the sun shone most brightly, Uncle Wiggily sat down to rest. And before he knew it he had fallen asleep.

Now as it happened this was not far from the hollow stump school, where the lady mouse taught the animal children. And at recess Sammie and Susie Littletail, Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppies, and Curly and Floppy Twistytail, the piggie boys, ran over to the log and saw there Uncle Wiggily asleep.

"Oh, let's get him to play tag with us'" squealed Floppy.

"Oh, no! He's tired!" softly barked Jackie. "Let him rest."

"I know what let's do," said Susie. "Let's show Uncle Wiggily how much we love him by making a nice wreath for him, and putting it on his head as he sleeps. When he wakes up he'll be all decorated!"

"There are no green leaves from which to make a wreath," objected Sammie.

"We can twine one from the branches of this cedar tree," said Susie. "That stays green all winter."

Then with whispers of delight, taking care to make no noise that might awaken Uncle Wiggily, the animal children made him an evergreen wreath and put it around his tall silk hat. They also made wreaths which they placed over each of his front paws, and then Susie said:

He reached the five and six cent store.

"Let's make an extra wreath and put it on the ground near him. That will be for him to take to Nurse Jane." So the animal children did this, and Uncle Wiggily in his sleep was all wreathed up and decorated, so to speak. Then the hollow stump school bell rang to call the animal children back from recess.

"Good by, Uncle Wiggily!" they softly whispered.

The bunny gentleman slept for a while longer and, all of a sudden, he was awakened by hearing a growl near him. Opening his eyes, he saw the Woozie Wolf glaring at him. Uncle Wiggily was so surprised that he never said a word. He felt funny, too, with those evergreen wreaths on, and didn't know what to make of it.

The bunny gentleman expected that the Wolf would jump at him any moment and nibble his ears, but, instead, of doing this, the savage creature said:

"Oh, excuse me! I didn't know you were a carved statue of Uncle Wiggily. I thought you were real. But I see you are only a statue, like George Washington, with wreaths on. I'll go look for the real Uncle Wiggily."

Then the wolf ran away, and Uncle Wiggily, as surprised as could be, said to himself:

"What made him think I was a statue? I'll look in Nurse Jane's glass and see." He pulled out the little mirror and when he saw the evergreen wreaths which the animal children had hung on him in his sleep the bunny laughed.

"Well, well!" he said. "Those wreaths, which surely did make me look like a statue, saved my ears." Then he skipped safely home.

Letters of Tessie & Joe.

DEAR TESSIE—

I made out my income tax return today, and though I couldn't conscientiously give the government as much as I'd like to, so to speak, I was a mental wreck by the time I got through figuring out the whys and whynots of the official return sheet. I don't know who designs those things, but it must be some astronomer or at the very least a professor of engineering.

It's a great mistake on the government's part to make a man go through such a mental battle to separate himself from his income tax. At a conservative estimate it takes three months off his life, and at that rate I figure out that by the time he's fought his way through twenty different income tax returns his life has been shortened five years. In other words, the government loses five future collections that it otherwise would have had. I'd send this idea on to the new secretary of the treasury, but I understand these birds at Washington seldom get time to open their own mail, so it probably would be a waste of time.

They say business is fast returning to normalcy, but if the way Daisy Canned Soups are selling (?) is any indication, business will soon be back to the normalcy of prehistoric times.

So what with one thing and another I went in to see a movie today to take my mind off of real life. The picture was called "Fires of Flame," and I strongly recommend it to you in case it strays into your neighborhood. It's all about a female who never feels quite natural unless she's spending her husband's money and it ends up by showing how she gets it right in the good old neck.

Remember me to the baby.

Your slaving husband, JOE.

"I have studied a great deal," remarked Mr. Cassius Chex, "but there is one thing I can't understand."

"What is that?"

"Why a man who borrows a hundred dollars and can't pay is a failure while a man who borrows a million dollars is a success whether he can pay it or not."

"I can't use this poem of yours," said the editor of the Chiggersville Clarion. "Why not?" asked the disappointed village poet. "Well—er—I haven't room for it. But I'll tell you what I'll do, as long you handed in a year's subscription with your manuscript I'll put a little notice in our personal column stating that you have written some lines in which you show a firm grasp of spelling and punctuation."

SATURDAY, MARCH 26, 1921.

A NOTICE TO SOVIETDOM.

The first official statement of the Harding administration on European affairs is contained in the note of Secretary of State Hughes to the Russian government in answer to the latter's request for the reopening of commercial relations between soviet Russia and the United States. This statement is couched in admirably clear and categorical language. There is no possibility of mistaking its meaning or its significance.

While asserting that this government views with deep sympathy and grave concern the plight of the Russian people and desires to aid by every means in promoting proper opportunities through which commerce can be established on a sound basis, Secretary Hughes delivers this pregnant message to the Red regime of Moscow:

"It is only in the productivity of Russia that there is any hope for the Russian people and it is idle to expect resumption of trade until the economic basis of production are securely established. Production is conditioned upon the safety of life, the recognition by firm guarantee of private property, the sanctity of contract and rights of free labor.

"If fundamental changes are contemplated involving due regard for the protection of persons and property and the establishment of conditions essential to the maintenance of commerce, this government will be glad to have convincing evidence of the consummation of such changes, and until this evidence is supplied this government is unable to perceive that there is any proper basis for considering trade relations."

Nothing could be plainer than that. Washington conceives of no proper basis for considering trade relations with the soviets and will not consider the subject until there is a fundamental change in present conditions of government in Russia. This conclusion of the State Department coincides exactly with the facts which Secretary of Commerce Hoover called to the attention of the cabinet a few days ago. Mr. Hoover pointed out that Russia is practically without any of the commodities of trade exchange. Soviet Russia has available at the utmost not over $500,000,000 in gold—a bagatelle in the world of commerce—with which to purchase foreign supplies and it is producing none of the articles of kind which normally enter into international trade.

As Mr. Hughes writes, it is idle to expect a resumption of trade until the economic basis of production is re-established. To this end there must be in Russia safety of life, firm guarantee of private property, the sanctity of contract and the right of free labor. None of these things exist in soviet Russia. It is inevitable, therefore, that insistence upon a fundamental change of present conditions be a prerequisite to any consideration of a resumption of trade relations.

Mr. Hughes shows in his note to the Bolshevists that he is relying upon recorded facts and history. This is in itself a rebuke to the Bolshevik idea of blotting out the past and is an intimation that no substantial change in the policy that this government has maintained toward Bolshevism during the last three years is to be expected

THE PUBLIC STILL HOPES.

Without fear or favor, the members of the legislature should ignore the objections of the several administrative departments, bureaus and commissions to proposals to cut the estimates of governmental expenditures prepared by the budget board. The legislature should place far greater importance upon the uttered and unuttered demand of the public for a reduction of expenses and of the tax burden.

In the first place the budget estimates are extravagant and wasteful. They contemplate the performance of acts not directed by law nor required by the broadest interpretation of the law. They were formulated, despite previous voluble expostulations against governmental extravagance and pledges for economy, with the thought firmly in mind to keep oil on the political machine and to gratify as many political jobholders as possible.

In the second place it is natural that the boards and commissions protest against disallowance of any portion of their demands upon the public treasury. They have assumed to take on new functions in the recent past and they hope to undertake new functions in the future. With unlimited funds their experimentation would never end, nor their aggressions upon the responsibilities of the local communities cease until every citizen in the State was obliged to obtain formal permission from the State government to draw his breath of life.

The legislature gives signs at present of having fallen down on its job and to be dozing contentedly at the feet of the administration whips. It seems well-trained and to be eating docilely after the time-honored fashion. But the public still hopes for a revival of conscience and a reassertion of independence—hopes dully and despairingly, it is true, but fortunately near to the point of desperation, when it will hold its legislative representatives to a strict accounting.

A SCANDAL CORRECTED.

A few days before President Wilson's term of office expired he requested the resignation of former United States Senator Obadiah Gardner from the Joint International Commission, and appointed Hon. James B. Wilson, his namesake and Secretary of Labor in his cabinet, to the vacancy. The Joint International Commission is a permanent board for the adjustment of certain questions and the supervision of certain processes between the United States and Canada. Membership on it carries a good salary and the appointments do not have to be confirmed by the Senate.

Former Senator Gardner, a citizen of Maine, was thoroughly competent for the position and his record was good. The only motive for asking his resignation was to make a lucrative place for one of President Wilson's political servitors. This thing was brazenly and openly done. It was announced from the White House that no objection to Senator Gardner existed and no criticism of him was to be understood. It was merely desired to give a political friend of Mr. Wilson a job.

This ugly political deed was worked smoothly. Mr. Gardner responded to the request for his resignation with alacrity and Mr. Wilson was appointed to the place a few days before March 4.

But since the assumption of the Presidency by Mr. Harding there has been another change. Mr. James B. Wilson, the former Secretary of Labor, has resigned and former Senator Gardner has been reappointed to his former place on the Joint International Commission. It is stated semi-officially in Washington that Mr. James B. Wilson resigned at plain intimations from the White House that such was desired, that if he did not quit voluntarily he would be removed.

This whole episode from beginning to end is unpleasant, but since President Wilson filled the high position with a political supporter for no other reason than that he was a political supporter, it was in accordance with the rules of the political game that the political friend of the former President should be relieved of his new honor and his salaried job in the same fashion. President Harding has acted properly in restoring former Senator Gardner to this post, for which his previous service eminently qualified him. It is also gratifying that the final political scandal which President Wilson perpetrated during his administration has been corrected.

That Hawaiian senator who believes that the one-piece bathing suit should be used for bathing in and not for parading along the boulevards and beaches, has got an incontestibly sound idea on the subject. But when he proposes a fine of $500 and a jail sentence for those who violate his notion of bathing decorum, he seems a trifle severe. The native Hawaiians in particular should be dealt with mercifully. It should be remembered that the white visitors introduced the bathing costume to the natives; formerly they got along very well without any covering at all when they went for an ocean swim.

FORD'S EVIL RACIAL ATTACK.

No intelligent reader of Henry Ford's personal publicity organ, the Dearborn Independent, can doubt the purpose of his series of attacks on the Jewish race as a whole. Nor can there be a doubt as to the use to which these vicious articles will be put wherever enemies of the Jews exist. They seek to incite distrust, hatred, persecution and ostracism of a great people, wherever located—which means unjust discrimination against the Jews everywhere, political action against them in some countries, religious persecution in others, business hostility in others, and massacre and butchery in yet others.

Who can doubt that translations of Ford's stuff in some parts of Europe and Asia will be accepted and acted upon as American authority for the extermination of Jews? The protestations against any desire to do injustice to this people which appear so frequently in the articles in the Independent betray consciousness of the hideous use of them which will be made in certain parts of the world, and are in effect a mere defense before the act, against what is likely to happen.

In this connection it must be remembered that Ford is known the world over. His "peace ship" during the war, and the general use of his cars in every civilized country, give him an importance abroad which he has not at home. In his campaign against the Jews are marshaled a staff of hired hatred, plus enormous money power turned to a cruel purpose.

There is nothing Ford has said about the Jews through his editors which might not be said with equal truth of individual members of other races that have gained a foothold in this land of promise for the oppressed of all nations and climes, except that he recognizes the genius for business organization, for thrift, and for unflagging industry, and powerful influence in finance of those he hates. His attacks upon the Jews are offensive, immoral, and contrary to the spirit of American political and social institutions.

The use of a personal press for mischievous purposes has not been confined to Ford's organ. Another notable instance of efforts to incite hatred of a people has England for its target. It is all bad business whether the people be Jewish, English, Irish, French or any other nationality. It is entirely proper to publish justifiable criticism of governmental conduct anywhere, of wrongs committed by individuals of any race, but the attempted indictment of all American citizens of the Jewish race is, in our opinion, a gross infringement on their rights, and a wicked perversion of the legitimate functions of a free press. The time will come, we have no doubt, when Henry Ford will be appalled by the consequences of his misconduct—not in this country, where intelligence condemns him, but abroad, where his sinister utterances will be acted upon in a horrible way. Racial hatreds, once aroused, are the most implacable and ineradicable of all evil passions. Does Ford know it?—San Francisco Journal.

NOTES and COMMENT

The absurd story that Secretary of State Hughes had become dissatisfied with some administration policy and had resigned obtained very limited circulation in this country, and no credence; but it appears to have been taken seriously in France. It ought to be understood, even over there, that our secretaries of state are not generally patterned after the somewhat known personage who resigned in a huff from the previous administration when he could not have his way.

This is the time that the fool bills become apparent in all their grotesqueness at Sacramento. Most of them may not be destined to get very far, but some have such a chance that they are disturbing. Of course, there is the referendum, but the responsible citizenry doesn't relish that dernier resort, and especially it doesn't relish going to it twice to escape the same menace.

* * *

The consuming public should be prepared for disappointment if it has figured confidently on pork products coming down in price. The Department of Agriculture is on hand with statistics to the effect that producers have lost porkers of the value of $35,000,000 from hog cholera. It is just one thing after another. The war sent prices up, and now cholera may keep them up.

* * *

Holland, according to a news surmise, is fixing it so that it can elect a king. This, it is represented, isn't an outcome of the war, but perhaps the war has brought the sturdy Dutchmen to realize that it would be better if there were a two-fisted man on the throne at this juncture, instead of a hereditary queen with a German prince consort

* * *

The disadvantage of a shifty reputation is seen in the disposition to doubt the genuineness of the German Red uprising. Some of the Reds may be in earnest all right, but there is a disposition in some ally quarters to believe that the German government can handle the situation readily if it has a mind to, the same having been created, or at least winked at, in order to secure an easement in the reparation crisis.

* * *

A Sunday closing bill has been reported out favorably by the judiciary committee of the State Senate, the vote standing 7 to 5; but some of the Senators who voted aye reserved the privilege of opposing it on the floor. Such course of action is difficult to understand. In fact, efforts to pass Sunday laws in general as now proposed are not readily comprehensible.

* * *

The fact that the Assembly Committee on Commerce and Navigation unanimously voted out the measure that would give the San Francisco municipality control of San Francisco harbor shows that the movement has more vitality than its opponents assumed. It has been said that even in the event of favorable legislative action, control would not pass without a referendum. But there is no assurance that a referendum would not be favorable to the proposition.

* * *

Considering prices of the commodity most in demand in the celebration of Easter, the gladness tomorrow ought to be considerably in excess of that which prevailed last year. The hens, or whatever is responsible for the mitigation in cost, have behaved handsomely, and there will not be that stint that clouded the event one year ago.

* * *

The release of Debs in order that he may proceed to Washington and be heard in his own behalf may be something of a surprise. It was doubtless considered that this administration would not be more considerate of the Debs sort of thing than the preceding one, and perhaps it is not to be. Maybe it is only going to handle it in a different way.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS.

There seems to be complete agreement in the Legislature over the curtailing of expenses by lopping appropriations. But when it comes down to cases and deciding just where to lop, difficulties are encountered. Each department agrees readily enough that expenses are too high in every other department; but in its own case the needs are very special and the reasons why the retrenchment system should not apply there are considered exceptionally sound.—Palo Alto Times

Some one has donated $50 to the University of California, to be placed with some banking company in trust for the University, at compound interest till the year 2227, when the fund shall become available. As the Regents have accepted the gift, it is of interest to know what this sum will amount to. Taking the rate of interest as four per cent, compounded annually, in the 306 years to A. D. 2227 the bequest will amount to approximately $220,000,000.—Calaveras Prospect.

At this writing Mr. Wilson has been a private citizen for fifteen days. But the persecution and malicious criticism of him by the yellow press is as bitter and implacable as ever. Woodrow Wilson, in his rise to meteoric splendor, coupled with his tragic fall, is the most pathetic character that figured in all these tragic years of world war. We make a prediction concerning this most extraordinary American: He rose and fell once, he will rise again.—Woodland Democrat.

When the Lord gave Adam an anesthetic and took out of him a rib, out of which he fashioned a woman, he knew what he was about. He knew that a man is a frisky critter at best and had to have a stavchain on him, a brake-pedal on the auto of life, and also that without a woman for a companion, to love and to scrap with, he would never amount to any more than a tadpole in a rainwater barrel.—Tracy Press.

BANK DATA AS AS INDEX OF BUSINESS CONDITIONS

By DR. FRANK M. SURFACE

WASHINGTON, March 26. — It is a matter of considerable gratification that the Federal Reserve ratio has shown a decided increase in recent weeks. For the week ending March 4, 1921, the ratio of total reserves to net deposits and Federal Reserve note liabilities combined was 50.8 percent, or the highest ratio published since September 26, 1919. On the corresponding date in 1920 this ratio was only 42.6 percent.

A year ago the total gold reserve held by the Federal Reserve System was $1,937,000,000, while at the present time this amounts to $2,163,000,000, an increase of $226,000,000, or nearly 12 percent. Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation, as shown by the statement for March 4, 1921, was $3,042,611,000, or a slight increase over the $3,030,010,000 circulating a year ago. However, the present amount shows a very decided reduction from the high point reached last October, when the amount of notes in circulation was $3,356,199,000

A matter of still further importance is the decrease in the amount of bills discounted. On March 4, 1921, the total amount of all bills on hand reported by the Federal Reserve banks was $2,505,509,000, compared with $2,922,542,000 a year ago and the high point of $3,126,594,000 at the end of last October. In four months the total bills on hand have been reduced more than $600,000,000. The most marked reduction took place in discounted bills secured by government obligations. A year ago these amounted to $1,520,494,000, compared to only $981,840,000 at present, or a reduction of $538,000,000. All other discounted bills show an increase compared to a year ago, but in recent weeks these have been declining. The total on March 4, 1921, was $1,359,665,000, compared to $1,616,116,000 at the beginning of last December.

Another indication of the decrease in the volume of business now being carried on in this country is found in the bank clearings. The total bank clearings for the country as reported by the Annalist amounted to $7,668,000,000 for the first week in March, 1921, compared to $9,000,000,000 a year ago. This is a decrease of about 15 per cent. The total clearings for the first two months of 1921 amount to $66,565,000,000, compared to $77,720,000,000 in the same months last year. New York City clearings for this year up to March 5 amounted to $36,746,000,000, compared to $44,356,000,000 in the corresponding weeks of 1920.

BUSINESS MEN AS DIPLOMATS

Business men of Europe, according to a well-known newspaper correspondent writing from London, are anxious that the new ambassadors to European capitals from the United States be men trained in business affairs.

Why should not business training be one of the first qualifications demanded of our representatives abroad? Heretofore our ambassadors, for the most part, have been distinguished lawyers and men of letters. Many of them have made excellent records, but the problems with which American and European diplomats will have to deal during the next few years probably will be more than ever before economic and financial in their nature. For this reason a thorough understanding of business problems is going to be necessary for the best service at London, Paris or Berlin. There can be no objection to a lawyer or an author if he is also a man of affairs; but first of all he ought to be the latter.—St. Paul Pioneer Press

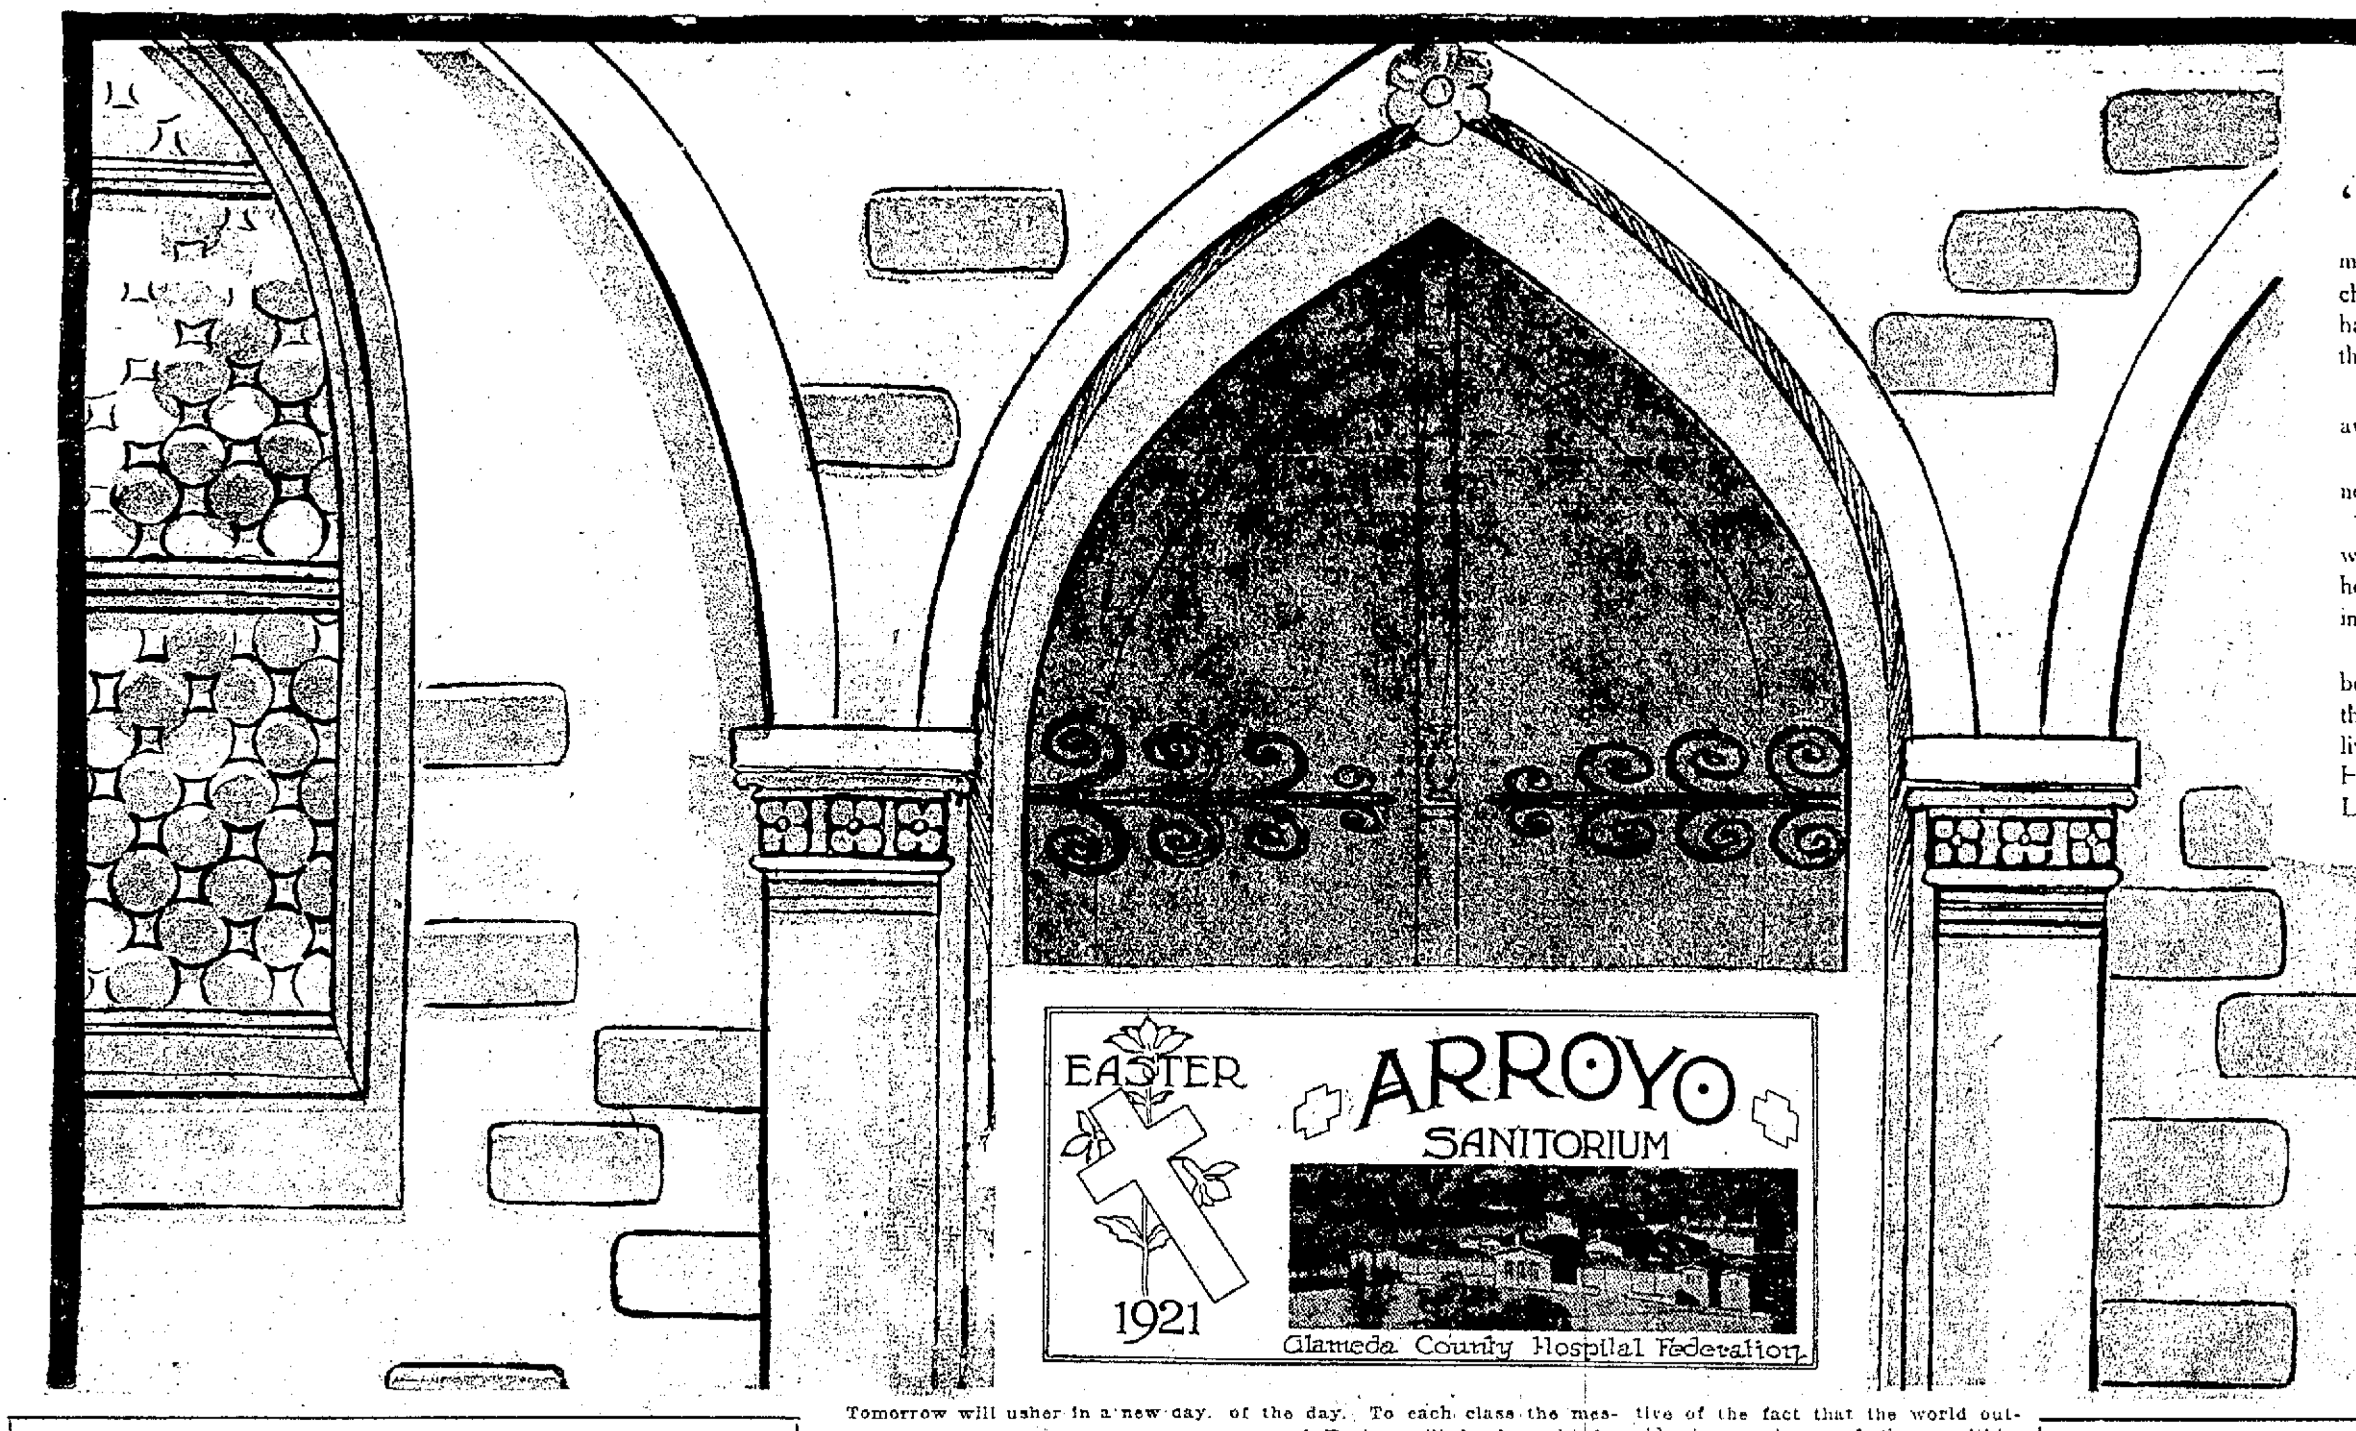
NO. 85.



The Easter Text

"NOW upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came upon the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them.

"And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre.

"And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

"And it came to pass, as they were much perplered thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments:

"And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces, to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye the living among the dead? HE IS NOT HERE BUT IS RISEN."—St. Luke 24:1-6.

The Easter Message

By R. H. RYDER

The bells ring out, a voice from heaven sings
A joyous message, echoed far and wide:
"Christ is risen! Crowned King of Kings!
He reigns supreme, who for the world had died;
He conquered death, until then undefied."
The weight He bore up Calvary's rocky steep—
The wounded side, the tortures of the cross—
And finally, death, that sons of men might reap
The fruits of it, and recognize their loss.
Three days of waiting, then He rose again
Triumphant over death to live on high;
There through the countless ages to remain
The Lord of Life, who lives that you and I
May know a life eternal, though we die.

Harvest of Souls Is Easter Aim Of Presbyterian Church Folk

An Easter harvest of souls is the goal of Presbyterian churches throughout California. All Presbyterian churches have been conducting an every member canvass throughout March, in which the spiritual has been combined with the financial. Under the stimulus of the Presbyterian New Era movement, individual churches have been striving to go over the top with quotas, in order to raise a budget of $12,000,000 to be expended for the missionary, benevolent and educational enterprises during the coming year. Similarly, each church has been canvassing the possibilities for accession to membership with special efforts being made to secure a large number of communists for the Easter service.

Rev. Robert S. Donaldson, executive secretary for the Presbytery of San Francisco, which includes Oakland, has recently been in consultation with Presbyterian board secretaries and other leaders of the church at the Presbyterian building, New York city, and gave an enthusiastic report of the achievements of the New Era Movement in California.

LEAFLETS ISSUED.

Co-operative advertising and printing have resulted from the New Era Movement. Four-page leaflets are issued four times a year emphasizing the seasonal points; fall rally, holiday activities, Easter gathering and summer conferences.

One illustration of the effect of the active co-operation which is encouraged by the movement is found in the activities of Holly Park church, San Francisco, which formerly had a membership of but forty. Four dollars and fifty cents ($4.50) was spent on leaflets, involving definite thought for a particular program for the inside pages. The leaflets were distributed as invitations to attend services with the result that a new spirit of proper pride in the local church is now said to exist.

The Presbyterian field system of California has been revolutionized by the New Era Movement, it is said. At quarterly intervals, under the direction of the district New Era secretary, Rev. James M. Speer, D. D., fourteen field representatives of the various boards assemble and plan the general work, one from the Foreign Board, three from the home, one from Educational, one from Relief, two from Publication, one from Freedmen, and five Presbyterian Sunday school missionaries.

PROMOTION PROGRAM

"The method employed is: Each board representative presents to the council the outstanding items which his board is presenting to the church. Out of these items six or seven are selected and every representative, no matter from what board, carries them in his promotion program along with his own specialties. Report sheets are used, and each person keeps a record of the reaction of every church on the whole program.

Increased effectiveness has been given in this way to the work of the board representatives themselves, to the entire life of the synod, and to such specialties as daily vacation Bible schools and young people's conferences. The plan has worked so well that California synod has appointed a committee to draw up plans for a completely unified field work, to be considered in July of this year.

In closing his report to the Presbyterian board of secretaries, Dr. Donaldson stated: "I point out the results accompanied by two illustrations which I believe are typical. Bishop, a small-town church, settled in the ruts of hopelessness, took over the New Era program, and at once showed progress, raising the pastor's salary, planning a manse, etc. Concord, a church of 70, divided the town into districts for visitation, appointed Sunday school workers, introduced a social plan in the congregation, and as partial results has been able to raise the pastor's salary and pay off a $5000 debt."

FIRST CHURCH

Easter services for the First Church, Divine Science, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, in Hotel Oakland. Mrs. Faulkner and Mrs. Mix will conduct the Easter music. Rev. Elliott's subject will be "The Miracle of Life."

Tomorrow will usher in a new day. The spirit of the resurrection, carried down through two thousand years, will touch the hearts of the sick and the suffering, bearing with it a message of hope that will blot out the past with hopes for the future. For tomorrow will be Easter Sunday.

At the Arroyo Sanitorium, near Livermore, there will be those in whose hearts the fires of hope have ceased to burn. There will be others who will recognize the significance of the day. To each class the message of Easter will be brought by a group of workers which was organized three years ago for one purpose, bringing gladness to the suffering.

At 1:30, this organization, the Alameda County Hospital Federation, will visit the sanitorium and will offer an Easter program. Captain William I. Day will be the chief speaker. A number of musicians, including singers and a band, will furnish the musical features of the program.

Easter tokens, slight gifts indicative of the fact that the world outside is cognizant of those within, will be presented to each patient, and for the children, confined there while other children throughout the world are making merry over Easter eggs, the committee has provided an entertainment in which the distribution of eggs and candy will be one of the chief features.

The committee in charge of the activities of the federation includes Mrs. George Marshall, chairman; Mrs. W. Barry, Mrs. F. Garrison, Mrs. N. Johnson, Captain William I. Day and August Miller.

St. James to Greet All Worshippers

St. James Church has a joyful Easter in prospect. It has purchased a new site on Park boulevard and Hampel street, which will be easy of access, large enough for a complete plant, and adapted to meet the needs of the district. It is one block north of the present location on East Thirty-eight street. A large cash payment has been made, and the balance is expected to be paid this year.

It is proposed to follow in good time with the first unit of a modern and roomy plant adapted to serve the needs of the community and the Sunday school, with facilities for recreation, entertainments, meetings of departments, classes, societies and the varied week-day activities of a live church and neighborhood.

St. James is made up of members from all denominations. It does not require acceptance of any creed. It honors sister churches, their convictions and their customs. It aims to furnish a neighborhood church home for all who trust Jesus Christ enough to follow him. In order to have strong support and fellowship, that it may not be orphaned and cut off from the universal church, but may have a modest part in national and world work, it is affiliated with the Presbyterian church. This provides for the election of the officers by the members of the church, and the supporters of the congregation, the American plan of direction by representatives who are chosen by the people. It also provides for financial assistance and loans

Tomorrow morning at 10:20 the Sunday school gives a cantata, entitled, "The Easter Cross," which will be illustrated by tableaus. Children will also be baptized and new members will be welcomed into the church, with baptism, confirmation and transfers. In the evening, the augmented choir will conduct a musical festival under the direction of Harry Richards.

FATHER MORRISON CELEBRANT

Rev. Father Morrison, pastor of St. Francis de Sales' Catholic church, will be the celebrant of the high mass at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Rev. Thomas Millett will act as deacon and Rev. James Bergin as sub-deacon. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Father Kelly.

Other masses will be celebrated at 6, 7, 8:30, 9:30 and 12:05 o'clock.

The following program will be offered at the solemn high mass: Prelude, "Variations on Easter Hymn," Batiste; "Vide Aquam," Gregorian; "Kyrie, Gloria and Credo," Van Bree; "Sanctus, Benedictus and Agnum Dei," Gounod; offertory, "Haec Dies," H. J. Stewart, quartet; recessional, "March for Church Festival," Best.

SERVICES TO BE CONVENED AT SUNRISE

"Easter Lilies," a sacred service, Melrose Baptist church with a sunrise prayer meeting beginning at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, conducted by the Young People's Society. Special Easter music will feature the service.

At 11 o'clock the pastor, Rev. H. D. Zimmerman, will speak on the theme "A Woman's Mistake."

At 7 o'clock the Young People's meeting will be held. Hulda Schlichtman and Irene Clinton will lead the discussion of the Easter topic, "Lessons From the First Easter."

"Easter Lillies," a sacred service, will be given at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening by a large chorus choir of young people, under the direction of Mrs. M. Cook, the new chorister. Solos by Edna Hyink and Irene Stevens, a special song by a chorus from the primary department entitled "Thank You for Easter," and recitations by Ethel Ruh, Everett Hart, Aurilla McDonald, Eleanor McHaffie, Naomi Hyink and Lois Bothwell, will be features of the program.

Two Easter exercises entitled "An Easter Glory," given by the senior boys and girls and "The Risen Christ," by the junior boys and girls, will be given during the evening. The program will be concluded with a baptismal service.

The church will be appropriately decorated with potted plants and cut flowers.

CHURCH HAS SCHOOL FOR YOUNG FOLK

The founding of the School of Religion in the First Unitarian church last September marked the first step in a movement which is being carried on by the church throughout the entire United States to educate the younger generation and provide courses of study which are designed to inculcate and express the highest religious and ethical ideas.

Mrs. Henry J. Miller has charge of the primary, intermediate and senior departments of the school. In addition to the regular lessons the background of the Bible is made real to the pupils by means of stereopticon views. Pictures of modern life in Palestine, which is quite similar to the customs and modes of living in vogue when the Bible was written, are shown to the children, with explanatory addresses by teachers and officers.

A comprehensive course of teacher training has been instituted in the school by Mrs. Miller in order that a more efficient and cooperative working basis may result. Plans for an active year, with a broadening of the scope of the work carried on by the School of Religion, were outlined at a recent meeting of the teachers and officers.

Bishop Says People Look To America

Bishop Nicholai Velimirovic of Serbia, who is now in America by arrangement of the Serbian Child Welfare association, and at the invitation of the Institute of International education, is making a plea for additional religious workers in his native land, which, he says, is looking to America for guidance at this time. He states:

"America may clothe and feed the bodies of three and one half million of the children of Europe, but if it does not also feed their souls, and give back to them, with material changes, a vision of Christ and Christian ideals, America's noble charity will fail and will only help to raise up three and one half million new war machines. It is the Christian church that is the only hope of civilization and America is the greatest hope of the church.

"America alone can see clearly; America alone can command belief in her disinterestedness and sincerity; America alone, because of the noble part she has played in the recent war and her unexampled generosity to the suffering of Europe, will be listened to eagerly."

In closing an address before the administrative committee of the Federal church, he stated:

"I am not here to ask anything for my countrymen. I am here to tell you of the urgent need of a spiritual regeneration of continental Europe, and to ask your help in bringing about the only revolution Europe needs, a moral revolution.

"The whole great organism of continental Europe is sick, spiritually. Of that organism, Serbia is no more than a hand. I plead for the cure of the whole body, not for the easing of the suffering of that one hand—not for Serbia, but for all Christian humanity."

ST. PAUL, M. E., TO BUILD

Ground will be broken for a new church building for St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church at Twelfth and Magnolia streets within a month, according to an announcement by Rev. Alfred J. Kennedy, the pastor of the church. The new building is made possible through the Centenary movement, one of the activities of which is co-operation with the smaller church congregations in establishing and maintaining new church buildings.

The church plant, as planned, will be a community center, containing gymnasium, auditorium, play rooms for the smaller children and club rooms for the various church organizations.

The Church Extension Society, including Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, has been active in co-operating with the congregation of St. Paul's church, and is directing the plans for the building. Percy Morris of Oakland is president of the society, and Rev. H. E. Milnes, superintendent of the Oakland district, is the vice-president.

The Easter Message

By Rev. E. R. Dille,
Pastor Emeritus First M. E. Church

We live in a world of death. The earth sounds hollow beneath our feet with graves; "the tribes that tread the earth are but a handful to the multitudes that sleep within its bosom." We are all of us on the way to the Great Silence, into which we have seen so many pass.

For 6000 or perhaps 60,000 years death has been the undisputed master of our race. Neither money, skill nor tears could bribe or baffle him. How inexorable death is even when he comes to us very quietly; if he just touches on sleeve with a touch as light as a caress, and we are gone.

There came a day when death leveled a lance at Jesus, who had proclaimed Himself the Resurrection and the Life. It parts the shuddering air and quivers in his side; the great heart bleeds and breaks; the darkness falls, for it seems that the Victor is vanquished and the Conqueror conquered.

But wait! The long road has a turning. Two days pass and the dawn breaks over Olivet and the birds are singing amid the lilies and oleanders in Joseph's garden, and one comes forth into the morning air with the bearing of a conqueror. The women come to the grave with spices but an angel sits beside the tomb and says: "Jesus is not here."

What means the empty grave? It means that death is abolished, the last enemy destroyed. It means that your grave and mine, and the graves of our dear dead shall be empty some sweet day and we "shall see the angel faces smile that we have loved long since and lost a while."

Thomas Jefferson was a Deist. He did not believe in the Divinity of Christ or in the supernatural. He wrote an expurgated version of the New Testament, eliminating all the miraculous; containing the teaching of Jesus and all his recorded acts that had no miraculous element. Thomas Jefferson declared that he was a Christian, since he held that the teachings of Jesus were the most sublime beneficient and perfect moral code known to man.

Congress published an edition de luxe of "Thomas Jefferson's Bible" a few years ago and I received one of these valued volumes. The "Jefferson gospel" ends the story of Jesus "and they laid him in the sepulcher and departed." Thank God, the whole Gospel leaves no stone at Jesus' tomb. It has been rolled away forever. It is because the Word reveals the risen and ascended and reigning Christ that we are soon to exchange the Lenten spirit of heaviness for the Easter garment of beauty.

Christ found death the King of Terrors; He left it God's radiant messenger. He found death set forth by doleful images like the skeleton and the scythe; He left it so beautiful that earth's fairest flowers are scarcely lovely enough to deck the brow of death or lay upon the grave that flower-crowned lintel of Heaven.

Therefore, let the Easter bells ring from every tower; let choir and pulpit and pew join the glad antiphonal. Let our strains of Easter music float into the chamber where the Christian meets his fate; let them fall like balm upon the stillness of the darkened room where crushed hearts are bleeding o'er the spoils that death has won; let them float over the battlefields of Europe where millions of heroes sleep, their graves a prophecy of the day when the Easter of universal brotherhood shall follow the Gethsemane and Calvary of war. Would that the Easter bells of 1921 might "Ring out the thousand wars of old, ring in the thousand years of peace."

Bible Society Fixes Budget For 1921

In "The Bible Society Record," the official publication of the American Bible Society of New York, an appeal has been made for an annual budget of $5,000,000 to be expended in carrying on the work of the institution, at home and abroad.

The budget for 1921 is $1,222,367, which, according to the "Record," is the largest program ever undertaken in the long history of the society. "But," the article goes on to state, "the need is the largest also—larger even than the budget reveals, for requests totaling several hundred thousand dollars have been excluded. The work demands an annual budget of $5,000,000 at the earliest possible date."

Of the budget for the coming year home fields will receive $598,857, foreign fields $449,550 and $173,960 will be used for general expenses. In each field a certain amount is apportioned to each agency, to be used for office expenses, purchase charges, manufacture and purchase of Bibles, freight and storage, colporteurs' wages, insurance, etc. General expenses include pensions, capital charges and the expense of maintaining the administrative body.

Fifty-five and one-tenth cents of each dollar must come from churches and individuals in free-will offerings, according to the estimate of those in charge of the society. Seven and seven-tenths cents are drawn from legal trusts, thirty-two and seven-tenths cents from sale of books, and four and five-tenths from miscellaneous income.

In closing, the following statement is made: "When the new phonetic script promises to prove untold millions of prospective Chinese readers within the next few years; when even Mohammedan constituencies are calling for Bibles; when our mails are filled with appeals from all parts of the globe; when the world lies so much in darkness both at home and abroad, this surely is the year 'which the Lord hath made' for our largest service."

CHURCH OF THE ADVENT, EPISCOPAL

Tomorrow's services in the Church of the Advent (Episcopal) will mark the close of the Lenten season. Two Easter festival services have been arranged by the church choir under the direction of B. W. Bours. The church will be decorated especially for the occasion.

EXCHANGES WILL SERVE AT EASTER

At the Church of the Good Samaritan (Episcopal) Easter services tomorrow will consist of the following: Holy communion at 8 and 11 o'clock a. m. and evensong at 7:30 p. m.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

By PERCY F. MORRIS

The EPWORTH LEAGUE is the young people's organization of the METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, AND IS THE LARGEST Denominational organization of young people in the world. Its sister society, the Christian Endeavor, has a larger membership, but the Christian Endeavor Society is the recognized young people's organization of several denominations.

The motto is "Look Up, Lift Up"

Its object is to attract and win young people for Jesus Christ, develop them into stalwart Christians, and encourage them to become church members. There is a local chapter in almost every Methodist Church.

The marked growth of the Epworth League, since its organization May 15, 1889, to the present membership of close to one million, shows its importance and its force not only in getting young folks to live clean and upright, and to stand for the principles of the Bible and serve and worship Jesus Christ as the Divine Saviour for all mankind, but in civic and moral reforms.

The Epworth League stands for the same doctrine of faith and the same high standards that the Methodist Episcopal Church stands for. It stands for the Bible as the inspired word of God, that we are saved or lost eternally by our acceptance or rejection of Christ as the Saviour, that Christ through the Holy Spirit is a vital personal reality in the hearts and lives of those who actually trust and serve Him, that none are perfect but that by prayer and faith and by taking the life of Christ as our guide, we can reach the highest standard of moral and spiritual living. Do no harm, do all the good you can. Follow the ten commandments and the commandments of Christ. We believe in an experimental religion—one that gives every true follower a personal experience and a knowledge of saving grace that helps us to live right and without fear when death comes, knowing that there is Eternal Life with the Lord for all those who accept Him.

Church to Aid Women Users Of Narcotics

Women and girl narcotic addicts in New York city and Brooklyn are to be given practical and spiritual aid by the department of drugs and narcotics of the Presbyterian board of temperance and moral welfare it was announced last week. The Presbyterian church is said to be the first denomination to undertake work of this kind.

According to the plans adopted by the board, a home for girls addicts will be erected shortly by representatives of the church in Brooklyn. The place selected is an eighteen-room house in Flatbush.

The Presbyterian board's representatives who will be in charge are Miss Helen K. Strain and Mrs. Amy Unruhe. Miss Strain was formerly a missionary to Japan. She was formerly with the Hepribah Bible school, New York, and later was connected with the Mott Street Rescue home for girls. Mrs. Unruhe was formerly a narcotic addict, but since her conversion has been been actively connected with rescue work.

Miss Strain's plan is to treat the habit from the spiritual standpoint, believing that medical attention is not enough and that the victim must have faith in God if she is to be given strength enough to experience a permanent cure.

The home, as planned, will have its basement always open with rooms in which transient women addicts may stay for the night. "These rooms," says Miss Strain, "will be open at all hours of the day and night to any woman, no matter what her previous offense, and coffee and a bed will be given her, no matter how many times she may fall. It will not be a denominational home and those of all classes and creeds will be welcome.

"We are building a platform of faith and letting God work on it. We believe that if we have faith in and for others that that will help them to overcome their trials and they, too, will have faith."

ST. PHILIP'S EPISCOPAL.

St. Philip's Episcopal church, Nicol avenue and Capp street, Fruitvale, Oakland, will observe Easter with the following services tomorrow:

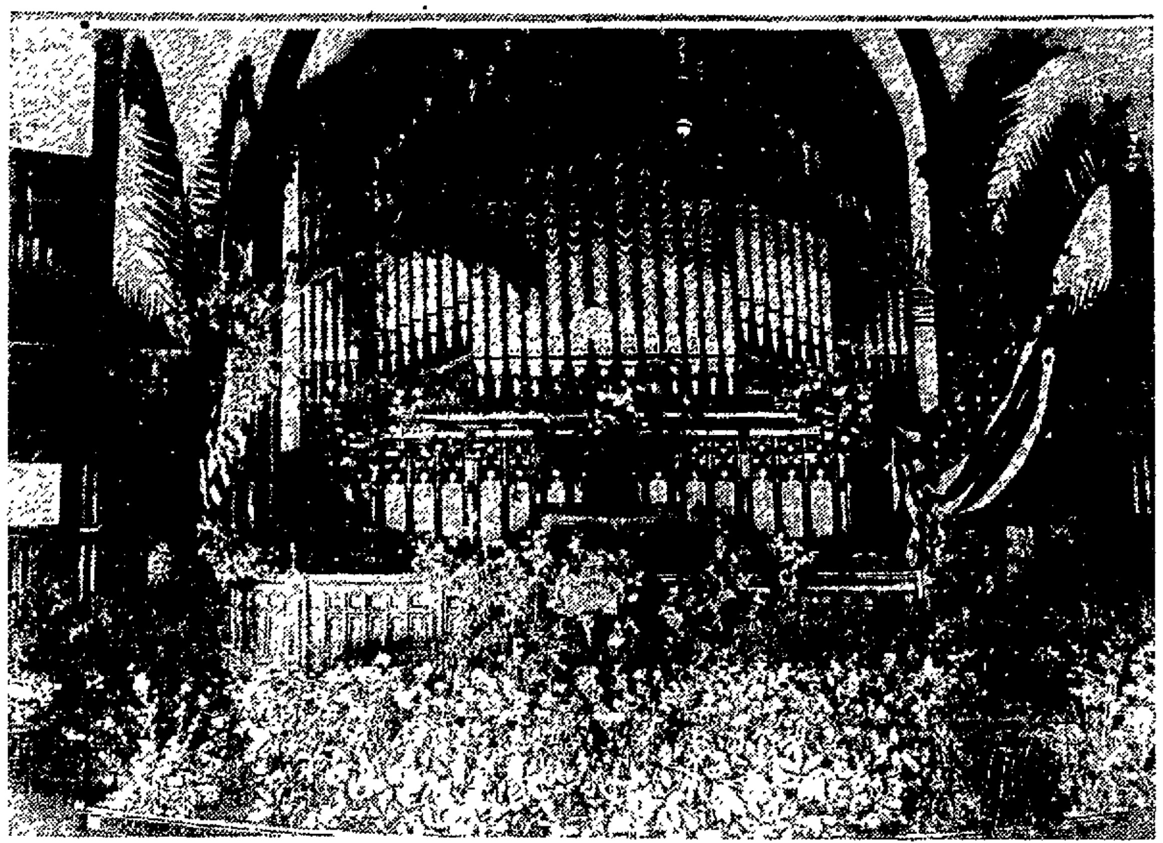
One of the most impressive features of the celebration of Easter is the decorative scheme which is employed. The picture shows Brooklyn Presbyterian Church, massed with lilies and greenery from the huge pipe organ to the altar rail. Much the same scheme of decoration will be used in the church at the Easter service tomorrow.



World Conference Plans Made

Missionaries to Meet in Crans

Plans for an international conference, on world wide foreign mission work, similar in nature and in activity to the conference held during the past year, at Crans, Switzerland, are now being made by an international missionary committee, appointed at the Crans conference.

The primary purpose of the conference, if arranged, is to consider questions of foreign missionary administration and matters which grow out of such questions. Representatives officially elected by the denominational bodies, and representing such bodies directly would compose the conference.

The committee which is now outlining plans for the organization is merely a provisional body, and is being replaced by a committee of arrangements through appointment by ecclesiastical authorities.

Those who are sponsoring the plan, would have the conference work much along the same lines, and following the policy pursued by the regular quadrennial meeting of the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America. It would give its attention entirely to the practical activities of the churches and not to matters of doctrine or policy.

The second step in the movement which the founders believe is to gradually promote a lasting co-operation between the churches of the world, irrespective of denomination, was taken at a second conference held in St. Beatenberg. Here the international committee of the world alliance for the promotion of international friendship through the churches met in a session which lasted several days.

The purpose of this organization is apparent from its title. It does not propose to deal either with matters of faith and order or church work, except in the one matter of promoting international good will through such conferences as its own, by the interchange of visitors and such other means of bringing groups of Christians together as may conduce to its its object.

It is the design of leading officials who have been prominent in world conferences to combine such world movements and conferences into one united body of Christians, representative of nations and churches, and embodying the various phases of Christian activity. The first definite step in the movement of concentration will be considered at the meeting of the meeting of the committee of arrangements for the conference on life and work, which will be held during the month of April.

"JESUS THE WORLD CHRIST"
will be the subject of the Easter sermon by Rev. Clarencee Reed at 11:00 A. M.
What a wonderful man was Jesus! Rivers, springs, flowers, trees and mountains were the large letters of the alphabet which Jesus used in expressing his message to mankind. He found the divine in the human, the spiritual in the material, the eternal in the temporal and the ideal in the real.
Jesus was a poet-carpenter, a wandering minstrel of the ideal who spoke to men of the greatest happiness which may be found within the soul. That which seemed a distant dream to others, Jesus endeavored to realize here and now.

EASTER LILIES

By JACK BURROUGHS

The beauty of the Easter lily seems
  A nameless loveliness to symbollize—
A dimly seen perfection, such as gleams
  Through morning mists when dawn's enchantment lies
Upon the eastern hills. A half revealed,
  Strange sweetness it appears, like smiles of peace
That follow pain—a promise, from the field,
  Of resurrected joys when woes shall cease.

And in its loveliness I find a hope
  That Time and Death shall never take away.
Beauty is light, and I no longer grope,
  Lost to the sun and blinded to the day.
I see the lily risen from the sod,
And my soul stirs to consciousness of God.

THE DEATHLESS LIFE

By RT. REV. WILLIAM FORD NICHOLS
Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California

> "He that was dead came forth bound hand and foot with grave bands and his face was bound about with a napkin."—St. John, 11:44.
>
> "He beholdeth the linen cloths lying and the napkin that was upon His head not lying with the linen cloths but rolled up in a place by itself."—St. John, 20:6-7.

That first Easter irradiated a tomb in which the grave cloths were all there without the Christ. When Lazarus rose again significant record is made that he came forth bound about with a napkin. The contrast is suggestive. The specific mention of such minute particulars seems to have an object. The symbolism can well convey a gladsome Easter truth.

When Lazarus was called back from death it was to die again. He was still bound up by the grave bands of mortality. A menace of another deathbed experience was still upon him. He was to look forward to another grave. But Christ's resurrection distinctly left the wrappings of death and the grave divested from him. Mortality was swallowed in life. The winding sheet and the napkin had once for all gone with the grave. It all symbolized no more death. For this life, darkened with mortality, another life and immortality had been brought to light.

This does invest the resurrection hope with that singular joy of anticipation which to many minds is one of its profoundest yearnings. The happiest life now and the happiest family group must betimes have hauntings of numbered days, of separations and sorrows to come. It dawns upon them that they cannot last always. The flush of youth must look forward to it. Age deepens in its realization

"Ah, brother, only I and thou
Are left of all that circle now."

Easter, then, as one of its choicest forecasts not only looks beyond this life but in the light of the risen Jesus reveals the life to come freed forever from the lurkings of death. The grave cloths are forever left behind. The heavenly Jerusalem with its joyous reunions has no death chambers to foreshadow, no crepe marked homes, no sad processions through its jeweled streets, no tombs, no separations, no tears forever and forever!

Wesley M. E. to Get Large Lot, and Move Edifice

REV. ASA P. BEALL, pastor of Wesley M. E. Church, Berkeley, who will be the pastor of the church when it is rebuilt on a new location in Northbrae.

New Location Deemed Necessary to Meet Demands of Growing Work.

Wesley M. E. church, now located at Vine and Walnut streets, North Berkeley, is planning a forward movement which means much more to Methodism in North Berkeley. A new location is to be purchased further north, and a committee has been appointed to study the field and make definite plans for the erection of a new church building.

According to Rev. Asa P. Beall, pastor of Wesley church, the reason for moving the church from its present location is two-fold. First, as he points out, the church is located too near Trinity M. E. church; and, secondly, there is imperative need for a church plant and program commensurate with the demands and possibilities of a large community, as yet practically untouched.

The location sought will be in or near the Northbrae district. Rev. H. E. Milnes, superintendent of the Oakland district, Bishop Adna Wright Leonard and Rev. E. P. Dennett, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, have sanctioned the plans for a new church building, and are co-operating with a lay committee which has the choice of the location in charge.

Tentative plans for the new church call for a plant that will fill the needs of a thriving community. It is the idea of those who are planning the building to make the new church a community center in which all may feel free to meet for mutual benefit. A social hall, auditorium, Sunday school rooms, and, in fact, every feature which will lend itself to the betterment of the community, will be features of the plant.

No definite choice of location has been made as yet, the committee has surveyed several possible sites, and the choice will be made within a few weeks, it is stated.

Endeavorers To Train Material For Church Work

MISS RUTH STENSRUD (upper) recording secretary, and Miss Margaret Weeks, vice-president of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Christian Church. Both officers are now actively engaged in directing the contest campaign which the society is carrying on.

Organization Utilizes Services of Old Members To Aid Branch of Work.

Active co-operation between the Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Christian Church, and the church itself, is the aim of the Society, according to Crockett Haines, its president. To this end the organizations has been made an efficient training school for those who may, in the future, hold important positions in the church.

In speaking on the Christian Endeavor, and what it should mean to every church, and particularly referring to the church of which he is a member, Haines stated: "While primarily the society is an organization for young people, we have endeavored always to co-operate fully with the church program. Our activities are planned along the line which we think is most beneficial to the church and therefore to our society, and we have found that some of our most enthusiastic workers, those whose services can always be counted upon in time of need for active work, are the older members of the church who have become members of the Christian Endeavor."

Co-operation with the church does not merely mean attending the church services according to Haines. "It means that we are financially active for the church's welfare," he said. "Our budget for 1921 was set at $1650. Of this amount $700 will be used for missions and benevolences."

At the present time the organization is engaged in the competitive C. E. contest which is being carried on throughout the state. Membership and general efficiency for the basis for the contest. The ninety members have become ninety active workers, filled with a desire to win the state banner which will be awarded when the state convention meets in July.

Unitarian School Plans Erection of New Building

REV. EARL M. WILBUR, who has been president of the Pacific Unitarian School for the Ministry since it was founded in 1904.

Sufficient Room for Library to Be Provided in College At Berkeley.

Tentative plans for the erection of a new building to house the Pacific Unitarian School for the Ministry, located in Berkeley, are being made by the directors of the school. The school already has endowment and property amounting to more than half a million dollars, and recently received a gift of $45,000 with which it is proposed to erect a building which will afford sufficient room for the large library, a greater number of classrooms, offices and reading rooms.

The Pacific Unitarian school, Dana street and Allston way, Berkeley, is the only Unitarian divinity school west of Pennsylvania. It was founded in 1904 and for the first two years was located in Oakland. On removal to Berkeley in 1906 in order to be nearer the university, it was incorporated and not long after was generously endowed by its founders, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cutting of Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Davis of San Francisco.

Since the time of its removal to Berkeley its progress has been steady, until today, it is stated, the school has one of the most notable libraries, with one of the fullest collections of material for Unitarian history to be found in any single library in the world. The number of volumes in the library is approximately 15,000, with an equal number of pamphlets.

Rev. Earl Morse Wilbur has been the president of the institution since it was founded. Dr. Wilbur's special field is Unitarian history. Assisting Dr. Wilbur is Professor William S. Morgan, who teaches the philosophy and psychology of religion. There are several additional instructors and students also take supplementary work at the school and in the University of California.

While maintained to carry out education along Unitarian lines, the school receives students of either sex and of any denomination.

CHURCH CLUB INCREASES IN MEMBERSHIP

The Baraca Club of the Tenth Avenue Baptist church has now been in existence over a year. During that time the club has increased its membership from 6 to 91, and has made itself one of the largest young men's Bible classes in California.

The club has not followed the usual procedure of organizations of its kind. Its banquets have been conducted somewhat similarly to college rallies. Yells are led by Baraca yell leaders and programs consisting of "snappy numbers," together with a jazz orchestra and male quartet add "pep" to each gathering.

The real purpose for which the club stands, however, is never forgotten and a talk by one of Oakland's best speakers terminates the program each evening.

In athletics the club has been active since the time of its organization, entering two teams in the Sunday School Basket Ball League. The 130-pound team finished in second place, and the unlimited team has won 10 out of 11 games. The unlimited contest is still in progress and the team is making every effort to win the cup offered in that division. Members of the club are also represented in tennis, bowling, volley ball and baseball.

Another unique feature of the organization is its glee club, conducted by Dr. C. D. Goodman. Intensive practises are now going on, and during the spring months the club expects to appear in musical programs in various churches.

A membership campaign was launched recently, whereby the club hopes to attain a membership of 125. If the membership is secured a campaign for a gymnasium for the club and the young people living on the east side of Lake Merritt will be initiated.

Elmhurst Christian Church Grows Fast In Brief Time Since Drive Was Begun

Progress in membership and growth in enthusiasm has marked the brief history of the Elmhurst Christian church, Eighty-eighth avenue and East Fourteenth street. Those who conceived the idea of a Christian church in Elmhurst had nothing to work with but faith. No lot had been purchased, no organization such as usually gets behind a church building had been effected. But in May, 1920, a drive for membership and funds was launched, under the direction of Rev. J. A. Shoptaugh.

Within a short time a building plan was adopted and a temporary meeting place secured. A Sunday school was formed and regular church services were held each Sunday. Increased interest marked each service and with the increased interest came a larger membership.

Today the Elmhurst Christian church is an institution of the community. A lot, church building and a substantial church membership have resulted from the efforts of Rev. Shoptaugh and his associates.

The Sunday school has reached an average attendance of one hundred. The church has a membership of seventy-five. Every effort is being made, according to Rev. Shoptaugh, to make the church a center for the community, wherein the best there is in life and human fellowship can be obtained.

Easter to Be Depicted by Unique Film

Elaborate preparations are being made for the celebration of Easter at the South Berkeley Community church (Park Congregational). A unique service is being prepared for tomorrow night, featuring Forbes Robertson in the great moving picture of the Christ-spirit, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." The picture will be interpreted by Rev. Norman W. Pendleton, pastor of the church, under the sermon heading, "The Victorious Christ." The choir will be assisted in a program of Easter classics by Harry Rogers, operatic tenor, who will sing Grainer's "Hosanna." A violin selection by Arthur Garcia and a soprano solo, "Easter Dawn," by Mrs. Ethel Cote, will also be a part of the service.

At the morning service an Easter festival of music will be given by a children's choir of 30 voices, under the direction of Mrs. D. S. Collins and Mrs. Grace Coates, assisted by the adult choir, the Park sextette and a violin quartet. The church and Sunday school will combine for this service, commencing at 11 o'clock. The program is as follows:

SLAYER WANDERS OAKLAND STREETS HUNTING SHERIFF

Prisoner On Way to Texas Says Officer-Escort Abandoned Him.

For two hours today a self-confessed slayer wandered about Oakland looking for the sheriff who was taking him back to Quitman, Texas, to answer for the slaying of his uncle, while the sheriff was looking for his prisoner in San Francisco.

Claude W. Blackmon is the prisoner. He was being taken from Tacoma, Wash., to Quitman by Sheriff A. H. Jolly of Wood County, Texas. He is charged with murdering an uncle in a cotton field.

PRISONER TREATED AS SHERIFF'S GUEST

The sheriff admits he considered the prisoner his "guest." He was unshackled, had money and was allowed practically unlimited freedom.

Arriving at the Oakland mole today, Jolly told his prisoner to sit down and wait for him while he stepped across to the office of James Prindiville, special agent for the Southern Pacific, to arrange for medical treatment for the prisoner.

The prisoner claims the sheriff went away and left him. He says he waited an hour and then got on a train and came to Oakland. As he was sick he went to the Providence hospital, hired a room and went to bed.

BULLET AND MONEY ARE FOUND IN BED

Sheriff Jolly said he was back in five minutes and found the prisoner gone. He went to San Francisco.

He phoned to the Oakland police from there and Inspector Richard McSorley located the man at the hospital. Hidden under his pillow was $3. A bullet was found in his bed.

He was removed to the city jail.

Woman Loses Suit Against W. H. Edwards

W. H. Edwards, commissioner of Oakland, won a judgment in the court of Judge Harry W. Pulcifer when Mrs. Annie White, 1278 Sixty-fourth street, lost her suit to collect $276.85 from him for damages sustained in an automobile collision.

Mrs. White, the evidence showed, tried to cross Webster street on Twentieth, in front of a street car, in her automobile. She succeeded but failed to take note of the fact that Edwards was driving alongside of the street car. She negotiated the pasage safely, but not soon enough to avoid a collision with Edwards' car, which, she said, threw her into a telegraph pole. The commissioner testified that he turned into Twentieth street to void striking the other machine, but was too late to prevent a glancing blow.

Judge Pulcifer held that as Edwards had the right of way, Mrs. White did not exercise due precaution in speeding across in front of the street car.

Oakland Playgrounds Get Old Tennis Balls

W. T. Fuller of the Berkeley Tennis Club, "Santa Claus of the Oakland playgrounds," today donated another consignment of old tennis balls to the playground department of the city of Oakland, and these were distributed to the various tennis courts.

For several years Fuller has collected old tennis balls at the Berkeley tennis courts and turned them over to the Oakland playground department. The balls are usually in good condition, only slightly worn. Last year Fuller's contribution totaled 150 dozen balls. This year, according to indications, his total will be 200 dozen or more.

Husband Jealous of Pictures, Says Wife

Alleging that her husband accused her of spending her time kissing photographs of other men which had been given to her prior to her marriage and with loving the givers of the photographs more than she did him, Mrs. Frances Marie Freed, filed suit today in the Superior Court for divorce against her husband, Carl E. Freed.

The Freeds were married in San Jose in 1919.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS TOLD BY SAVANT

BERKELEY, March 26—Women's rights received their early recognition in the courts of equity in America and England, says Professor O. K. MacMurray of the University of California; and he declares that the present equality of women has followed from these first efforts of the chancellors.

Under the common law of England, MacMurray says that women were not allowed to hold any property separate from their husbands, and this practice gave rise to the "adventurer" type. Under the old legal rules, when a woman could not divorce her husband, a man might marry a rich woman, and then give all her property away to someone else.

In the face of such conditioons, the professor states that the equity courts came to the rescue, and freed women from the binding rules of the common law courts. The first rules allowing separate property for women, and the rights to accept gifts by will and hold them from their husbands, were granted by the early chancellors. These first rights allowed by the courts have grown into the modern theory of the equality of the sex.

Alameda Theaters Have New Owner

ALAMEDA, March 26.—S. H. Levin, builder and owner of the Coliseum theater of San Francisco, has acquired the Alameda and Strand theaters of this city. The name of the Alameda theater has been changed to the Rialto. It has been remodeled and redecorated. The formal opening is scheduled for tomorrow, with Mary Pickford in "The Lovelight" and Harold Lloyd in "High and Dizzy." Levin is promising the Alameda public the best films procurable.

Levin has built or owned theaters in almost every district about San Francisco bay. He is enthusiastic over the Alameda projects.

Teamster Hurt When Team Runs Away

Clifford Lester, 36 years old, a teamster, is in a precarious condition at the Oakland Central hospital, following his attempt to stop his runaway team today at the foot of Clay street. He is employed as a driver for the W. H. Parrish Draying Company, 467 Fourth street. His left arm was broken and he sustained several bruises and possible internal injuries.

'LADA' COMES TO GREEK THEATER

BERKELEY, March 26.—Lada, one of the newest exponents of the choreographic art, and said to be a distinctive concert dancer and advanced student in the poetry of motion, will appear in the Greek theater Saturday evening, April 2. She will be supported by the Pawling Trio consisting of violin, piano and cello, and by Maurine Dyer, mezzo soprano.

The name of Lada was bestowed upon the dancer by Gliere and signifies "The spirit of youth." She gained her technical equipment during periods of study with representative teachers of dancing in different European capitals, and afterward went to the steppes of Russia, to the mountain villages of Hungary and to remote parts of Italy and Spain to live the life of the people and study national dances at first hand. She is said to be one of the four American dancers who have achieved international fame for their art. The others are Ruth St. Denis, Maud Allan and Isadora Duncan.

In her Greek theater appearance she will interpret Strauss' "Blue Danube," Waltzes op. 39, Numbers 2, 10 and 15, by Brahms; Hungarian dance number 6, by Brahms; waltz, op. 70, number 3, and Mazurka op. 6, number 2, by Chopin; Siebelius' "Valse Triste," "Will o' the Wisp," by Spross, and "Lassie o' Mine," by Walt.

OLDEST MAN IN WORLD LIVES IN ALAMEDA, IS 107

Lee Silva Does Odd Chores and Tends Garden; Tells of First S. F. Fire.

ALAMEDA, March 26.—The oldest man in America and probably in the world who earns his living by the sweat of his brow, lives in Alameda. He is Lee Silva, 107 years. With his aged wife, he lives in a small shack near the north end of Jay street and ekes out a existence doing chores for his neighbors.

He does not look older than the average man of 65 years. Except for his eyesight, a few corns and an occasional kink in his back when the weather takes a bad turn, Lee Silva is a lively person for his years. Much more so than his aged wife whose one wish is for a wheel chair to get out into the open air. It has been five years since she was off the block.

Lee Silva is a native of Portugal and many of his earlier years were spent in the galleys of whalers for he was a cook by profession before coming to America. He has been all around the world and into the Arctic seas. Once he was wrecked, but saved the ship's mascots, a cat and a Hawaiian goat.

SEES S. F. BURN

At twenty-five years Silva arrived in San Francisco. He left his ship and took a room in a sailor boarding house. That night the city caught fire and the flimsy canvas and packing case structures of which San Francisco was then constructed made a hot and furious fire. Silva's papers and all his earthly possessions went up in the flames which consumed the city. This was the first time that he saw San Francisco destroyed by flames. Twice again he saw the drama enacted, the last time being 1906.

When he came to Alameda there was but one house in the main portion of the present city and that was where Chestnut station now stands. Silva obtained work herding stock. Later he acquired a herd of seven cows and delivered milk. Then he entered the employe of the late Mayor Noye, who settled in Alameda from England early in the city's history. When Silva was 100, Noye gave a dinner and dance in his honor and the centenarian was presented with one dollar for each year of his life.

"To what do you attribute the reason for your great age?" Silva was asked.

HOW TO LIVE LONG

"There is only one thing and if the rest of you young fellows want to live to be as old as I am all you must do is to take my advice. Do not drink or smoke. And if you want it easy in your old age don't spend your money foolishly. I know what I'm talking about. I've had money three different times and every time all I thought about was having a good time. Now, that money, if I had saved just a little bit, would come in mighty fine."

At the present time, aside from the little that he is able to make at odd jobs and the small sums occasionally given him by charitably inclined friends, all the substance that he and his aged wife receive is a $12 grocery order from the Alameda Social School Service board. Clothes and what few conveniences the small place contains are all given by neighbors.

Lee Silva's one obsession came out when he was asked how long he figured he was going to live yet. And his answer implied that in his sea wanderings he had absorbed all of the old-time sailor superstition.

SAILOR'S NEEDLE IN HIM

"Well, I don't exactly know," was the old man's reply. "When I was a sailor I ran a sailor's needle in my leg and it has been travelling through my body ever since. Sometimes I feel it in my arm, sometimes in my other leg, and once I felt it in my neck. When it reaches my heart then I will drop dead. But it will not be before that."

Silva possesses nearly all of his original teeth and his hearing is good. His eyesight is almost gone, however, because of cataracts over his eyes. He can distinguish figures and light and dark but no details.

He owns the little place where he lives.

Mrs. Silva is not as old as her husband but she is classed among the ancients of the district. She was born in England. She has not been able to get away from the house for the past five years, however, because of her crippled condition. She is Silva's third wife. Silva hardly knows what it is to be sick.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR BOY.

TOLEDO, Ohio, March 26.—Edward H. Foley, 18 years old, was found guilty of second degree murder by a jury and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus. The jury deliberated three hours and 45 minutes and took thirteen ballots.

POLICE SEEKING DRIVER OF AUTO; BOOZE IS FOUND

Machine Crashes in Telegraph Pole and Hurts One, Others Injured by Cars.

Police today are searching for Antone Fernandez, said to reside at 3440 Hollis street, following an automobile accident yesterday in which M. Gonzales, 44 years old, his companion in the car, which he was driving, sustained lacerations about the face and head after the machine had crashed into a telegraph pole on Apgar street, near Market street.

A quart bottle of wine was found in the damaged machine.

According to witnesses, Fernandez crashed into the pole in avoiding another machine, which was on the wrong side of the street. The identity of the latter car was not obtained.

Robert Taylor, 3 years old, was playing in front of his home, 797 Sixteenth street yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile and badly lacerated on the face and body. The driver, who gave his name as "Dr. Reedy," left, stating he would return in an hour. He has not been heard from since.

Mrs. Augusta Baker, 1216 Brush street, was struck by an automobile operated by A. Soda, 1239 Sixty-fifth street, last night as she was alighting from a northbound Richmond car at Fifty-third and San Pablo. Her injuries were not serious.

Robert Sandstrom, 17 years old, a student residing at 2683 Orange avenue, sustained a broken left ankle when the bicycle he was riding crashed into an automobile driven by F. E. Kuhl, 3476 Maple avenue, at Thirteenth avenue and Hopkins street, last night.

WOMAN'S RUSE FOILS ROBBER AT HER DOOR

"Hide quick, here comes my brother."

These words, spoken softly by Mrs. H. Deinston, 1940 Telegraph avenue, saver her from the hands of a robber last night.

Mrs. Deinston dropped her keys in front of her home and a bandit picked them up, demanding that the woman enter the house with him. The woman asked for the keys back, saying that she would open the door, as the lock worked oddly. The robber handed back the keys and when Mrs. Deinston opened the door she spoke the words quoted above.

When the robber turned to look for the coming of the brother, Mrs. Deinston slammed the door locekd. The robber fled.

"Mountain Packs," to Be Lecture Topic

Just what the hiker should put in his pack and what the "automobile mountaineer" should load into his tonneau in the way of camp equipment, will be explained and illustrated on Monday evening at the lecture on vacationing which Harold C. Bryant, naturalist of the University of California, will deliver at the Oakland Technical high school, Broadway and Fortieth street. The lecture is given in the new university extension course on "Natural History of the Sierra Nevada Mountains."

Two Boys Attacked and Bitten by Dogs

Two boys were bitten by dogs yesterday. The animals were rounded up by the city pound for observation. Ward Beckwith Sr. of 1360 Sixtieth avenue, reported to the police that his 6-year-old son had been attacked and bitten.

Fred Branch, 12 years old, 586 Sixty-second street, was bitten in the left leg by a dog belonging to Herbert Bradbury, 6222 Racine street.

Jones Reorganization of State Schools Is Defined

That under the Jones plan for the reorganization of the state educational system there was no intention "present or future" of placing the University of California affairs with the state board of education was declared by Professor A. B. Anderson, dean of the San Francisco State Normal School, before the Alameda County Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday.

Professor O. A. Leuschner, personal representative of President David P. Barrows, in setting forth the university plan for the re-organization of the educational system, declared that it was the first time that he had heard publicly this interpretation put upon the Jones report. He asserted that he did not believe that others had heard of it before. A conference between Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood and the university authorities is being held today in the matter of the establishment of junior colleges.

FIRST PUBLIC PROGRAM

Alameda county club women gave over their first public program to a consideration of the reorganization of the educational system in California, rural schools and city and county consolidation. They met in the Twentieth Century clubhouse in Berkeley, Mrs. L. R. Rosenberg, president, presiding. The speakers were Professor Anderson, Professor Leuschner, Professor Raymond Gettell of Amherst College, Leon A. Clark of the board of freeholders, and Mrs. R. R. Rogers of Hayward.

"With the adoption of Amendment Number 16, the California public school system will probably move from the second to first place in the educational systems in the United States," declared Dean Anderson. He carefully analyzed the Jones report chapter by chapter. The "teacher famine" had not yet reached its peak, he told the women, although California, despite the prevailing condition of unrest, overcrowded schools, retarded construction and depleted enrollment in the state normal schools is more fortunate than other states.

"If the educational movement develops with the same rapidity in the next few years, by 1935 the enrollment in the University of California will reach to 20,000 and in the high schools of the state to half a million," Professor Anderson concluded.

With the admission that the Jones plan of reorganization is probably the best that has been produced as a starting point for discussion in any state, Professor Leuschner asserted that in respect to the University of California it was far from complimentary. The University of California, according to the speaker, has furnished 60 per cent of the certificated high school teachers in California, having issued in excess of 1000 certificates within the past four years. If actual statistics were collected among those from without California who have completed the necessary work in the Berkeley institution the per cent would probably reach to 80, Professor Leuschner said.

TEACHER SHORTAGE

"Teache shortage" is a question of salary, with many normal school graduates available who are employed in other professions and industries," asserted the university authority.

The university is in sympathy with the junior college movement which was inaugurated from the institution, the speaker pronounced. He pointed out, however, that certain understandings of the relationship between the colleges and the university were necessary.

Professor Gettell outlined the history of consolidated local governments and their problems. The work of the board of freeholders up to the present time was reviewed by Leon Clark. Mrs. R. R. Rogers discussed rural schools.

"We have a rural school problem in Alameda county," Mrs. Rosenberb, in introducing Mrs. Rogers, said. "They are in a rundown condition, improperly supervised and have untidy surroundings."

Sunshine On Easter Is Local Forecast

Tomorrow, Easter Sunday, will be a day of sunshine in Pacific oCast north of the Tehachapi mountains, just cool enough to make the out of doors invigorating, the weather bureau promised, today.

South of the Tehachapi the atmospheric conditions are unsettled with a possibility of rain tomorrow.

A 96-mile gale off Point Reyes coming from the northwest raised one of the roughest seas off the bar last night and early today that mariners have encountered for some years. No damage to shipping as a result of the storm had been reported today, however. Shipping was delayed by the storm, many vessels remaining in the harbor and others making for sea rather than attempt to cross the bar during the storm.

Mills Girls to Offer French Comedy Play

"L'Etincelle," by Edouard Pailleron, is the play chosen by the students in French in Mills College for the annual production. It will be presented in Lisser Hall, on the evening of April 1. The setting is of the period of 1850-1880. Miss Ruth Mermod of Winters is cast for the leading role.

"L'Etincelle" was produced for the first time in 1879 in the Theater Francais in Paris. It is a clever farce built on a love theme. At present it belongs to the permanent repertoire of the Comedie Francaise. French students about the bay are evincing interest in the announcement of the Mills students.

Mlle. Billard and Mlle. Chaussier, members of the French department, of which Mlle. Cecile Reau is chairman, are coaching the play.

"University Day" Program Aranged

BERKELEY, March 26.—The task of entertaining visitors from three universities will fall upon students of the University of California on April 9, and plans are underway to give all of the athletes and alumni a good time on the Berkeley campus.

The date has been officially set aside as "university day," and the crew races with Washington, baseball with Stanford, and track with Michigan will be on the program. In the evening, the alumni of all of the universities and of other institutions will be entertained at an assembly dance which will be held in the Harmon gymnasium.

As a part of the general celebration, the annual axe rally will be held in the Greek Theater on the night of April 7. A special addition of the Daily Californian will be published on university day.

Seniors Against Carving of Bench

BERKELEY, March 26.—Senior "sombreros" as the symbol of senior control on the University of California campus have been declared essential to the right of any member of the upper class to sit on the new "Senior Bench."

The old bench, which has become the meeting place for members of the two upper classes by tradition, will remain the common property of the juniors and seniors, but the new one will be the exclusive meeting place of the fourth year men. The question of carving the new bench with the names and initials of the seniors has also been discussed by the students, and they have decided against the practice which has made the old bench the tablet for the names of students for many years past.

HURLS HIMSELF BENEATH TRAIN; DESPONDENCY

Property Losses Cause Man to Commit Suicide On Key Route Track.

Despondent over property losses, Edward Narberes, 2010 West street, deliberately hurled himself beneath a two-car Key Route train this morning at Twenty-first and Poplar, according to witnesses who reported to the police. The front trucks passed over his body, severing his left leg and bringing instant death.

According to Motorman John J. Ahearn, 3466 Helen street, and Conductor E. L. Goodwin, 529 Thirty-seventh street, the car was proceeding northbound at half speed as it neared the crossing.

Narberes was walking along the east side of the track. Noticing the train he waited until it was thirty feet distant and then hurled himself beneath the trucks.

A widow and three children survive. Narberes was employed in a soft drink parlor at 2337 San Pablo avenue.

Writings of Tutors At U. C. Lying Idle

BERKELEY, March 26.—Fifteen thousand pages of learned writings are waiting at the University of California for money to be supplied for their printing. Years of work of the university professors are contained in the piles of manuscript which remain untouched in the college printing office.

The general lack of funds at the institution has hit the official printing office, and all of the plans for printing the texts and research works of the teachers have had to be abandoned. The printers say there is no possibility of printing any of the books without additional funds.

Only the necessary administrative pamphlets and magazines are being printed, along with the required syllabi for the college classes.

Sacramento Taxicab Thugs Sought Here

The Oakland police today are seeking two youthful auto bandits who are said to be heading this way following a sensational holdup last night near Sacramento.

According to Sacramento and Stockton police, the bandits hired a taxicab, directed the driver to take them to a lonely spot and then held him up. They took all the change he had in his pockets, threw him out on the road and made off in the taxicab.

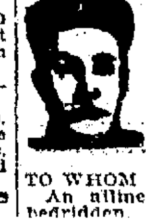
Woman Praises Sing Herbs



Almost bedridden by a condition which seventeen operations by almost as many doctors failed to cure, Mrs. L. M. Odbert, 551 63rd st., found lasting relief in the treatments of the Sing Herb Specialists, whose work she praises in the following letter:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
An ailment that kept me almost bedridden, baffled numerous physicians, failed to respond to seventeen operations, and promised to cause my death, with my only hope of recovery in another operation and hospital treatment, has been cured in five months' treatment by the Sing Herb Specialists.
My condition was so bad at the time I gave my case into their hands that they feared I would die within two weeks and promised a cure only if I survived that time. Their treatment showed good effects at once and within three months I felt better than I had in years. Now, only five months from the time I feared immediate death, I am feeling well and strong. The terrible pains and headaches I suffered have gone and I am able to do my housework once more.

LETTER OF GRATITUDE FROM TRADE UNION IRON WORKER

Wm. Gorr.

Oakland, Cal.
For about four and one-half years I suffered from Dysentery. I gradually grew worse and finally became so ill that for 3 years I was unable to work. I tried numerous doctors and spent four months at various hospitals, without gaining relief. At least five different doctors wanted to cut me open to find out what was the matter but I knew I was physically unable to stand it. I was in despair. My friend asked me to try the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST, widely known as the most reliable and successful on the Pacific coast. After four weeks of his herb treatment, I am in splendid physical condition and am feeling fine. Words cannot express my gratitude. I am a trade union iron worker and am back at work again. If any person desires further details I will gladly furnish them. WILLIAM GORR.

NEWS OF U. S. INDUSTRIAL AND FINANCIAL CIRCLES

BUYING GROWS OVER JANUARY, REPORTS SHOW

Twelfth District Reserve Bank Makes Survey of 142 Wholesalers.

Wholesale trade in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District is still depressed, largely because of the hesitancy of retailers to liquidate high-priced inventories, take their losses, where necessary, and restock with goods at present wholesale prices according to a statement issued by the Federal Reserve Bank here today.

Reports from 142 wholesale firms in eight lines for the last month showed recessions in value of net sales when compared with February, 1920, but showed an increase in the value of net sales of dry goods, groceries, shoes, furniture and automobile tires when compared with January, 1921, the report said.

In two lines, automobile tires and groceries, retailers have liquidated much high-priced merchandise and are buying stock at new wholesale prices, it added.

In the other six lines, hardware, dry goods, drugs, shoes, stationery and furniture, this tendency is not defined, some firms reporting that liquidation is still going on but present buying is to fill depleted stocks.

Unfilled orders were reported smaller than usual.

D. & R. G. SALE O. K. FORESEEN

Confirmation of the sale of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad to the Western Pacific was in prospect today, following failure of the D. & R. G. stockholders' protective committee to file a $100,000 cash pledge with the United States District Court in Denver yesterday.

Although it had been announced by the stockholders, headed by former Governor Odell of New York, that a third of the stock was in the hands of the committee and that the $100,000 had been raised following a voluntary and non-obligatory levy of $1.25 a share, John F. Carnine, counsel of the protective committee in Denver was instructed to file a new petition in court in lieu of the money.

The petition, which was to be heard today, was that the committee be permitted to file a bond instead of the cash as pledge of good faith of its intentions to bid in the road at $10,000,000, and that confirmation of sale be delayed pending trial of other causes in equity begun by the stockholders.

District Judge Lewis, on March 5, in Kansas City, directed the posting of the forfeit on March 26.

The situation involving the D. & R. G. results from the receivership established three years ago following a judgment obtained by the Equitable Trust Company of New York, trustee for the bondholders. The D. & R. G. had secured construction bonds of the Western Pacific, which were defaulted by the Western Pacific. The judgment was for $38,000,000. The resultant sale arrangement, the receiver was to transfer the D. & R. G. to the Western for $5,000,000, this contract being entered into last November. It is this sale that is being fought by common stockholders, who see the wiping out of $87,000,000 in stock obligations.

STAY IS ASKED

DENVER, March 26.—Application for a stay of confirmation of the sale of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad to the Western Pacific Railroad Co. was denied by Judge Robert E. Lewis today in United States District court. The judge denied application of stockholders for permission to file a bond of $100,000 in lieu of cash as a guarantee of good faith in asking a stay of confirmation.

Confirmation of the sale of the road at auction last November for $5,000,000 to satisfy a judgment of bondholders was not given. A further hearing on confirmation was to be held this afternoon. The stockholders were given until March 25 to make their deposit of $100,000 which was made a requirement to reopening of bids for purchase of the road.

Trading Heavy On Exchange at Close of Week

NEW YORK, March 26.—The New York Evening Sun financial review this afternoon said:

Business on the stock exchange in today's brief session was unusually active for a week-end market, but the activity was confined principally to the motor and related shares, the wool and oil issues.

Rails were more or less neglected and the steels and equipments were in the background. Trading started off with a vigorous selling movement in such issues as Sears Roebuck, Kelly Springfield and other rubber shares.

The whole list was unsettled for a spell, but heavy buying of the motor group reappeared and the market steadied and turned distinctly strong in spots. Sears Roebuck was down more than four points at the low figure and Kelly Springfield

Mellon Plans Refunding Of Great U. S. War Debt

By HOLLAND
Special to OAKLAND TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, March 26.—The Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, is quoted as having said a few days after he began his duties that he had in mind the refunding of the war debt of the United State including Liberty Bonds and Victory notes. His off-hand opinion, however, was that refunding of this kind, together with the handling of the demand notes now held by the treasury, representing as they do the debt of the Allies to the United States, nearly $10,000,000,000, might not be taken up until Congress had enacted new legislation which would change or modify the present tax law and which would put upon the statute-book a new tariff schedule.

Probably not one of the citizens who now is possessed of one of more Liberty Bonds or Victory notes will fail to heed with gratification the intimation of the Secretary of the Treasury, that he has the refunding in view. So also many of the banks of the country, including the Federal Reserve Banks, will contemplate with satisfaction the proposed refunding.

In this city, the belif prevails that Congress will so legislate upon the recommendation of Secretary Mellon as to make it possible to convert each of the Liberty Bonds and Victory notes into a bond having a life, probably, of thirty-six years, bearing at least 4½ per cent interest, possibly 5, with a sinking fund of 1 per cent. A sinking fund of this character would be sufficient to extinguish the bonds in thirty-six years.

WOULD ATTRACT ALL.

If the opportunity be offered for an exchange of Liberty Bonds and Victory notes into long time bonds bearing 4½ or 5 per cent interest, it probably would be difficult to find, anywhere in the country, an owner of Liberties or Victories who did not avail himself of this opportunity, provided he understood it.

These refunded bonds probably would be quoted at par, perhaps a little better. They would put an end to the depreciation which these bonds have been obliged to put up with since they were issued. The absorption of them would relieve the banks which have been carrying so many which were bought on borrowed money. This would tend to ease the credit situation. Furthermore, in the long run, there would be a saving for the government even though the interest on these bonds is fixed at 5 per cent.

WHAT CONGRESS MUST DO.

Some of these bond issues, which the people so willingly accepted in the days of the war necessities, must be taken care of before the sesion of Congress whose first session begins in April expires by time limitation. These bonds cannot be redeemed through the payment by the government of their face value in cash because the aggregate value of them is too large. Therefore, when Congress considers the question of how best to handle bonds whose maturity is at hand there also is likelihood of consideration of all the war debt issues.

Secretary Mellon intimates that the handling of the Allied debt, now represented by demand notes, is likely to be decided by Congress when the refunding of the war debt also is under consideration or is acted upon. Apparently the pressure which was at one time brought to bear upon public opinion in the United States in favor of the cancellation of this debt no longer is exerted. It was made clear that the people of the United States would not tolerate any plan by which the Treasury Department would pass a receipted bill to the Allied nations and in that way liquidate the debt.

Nations across the sea, it is reported, are beginning to realize that it would ultimately be of disadvantage to them, or of moral disadvantage at least, if their debt were cancelled. For cancellation would be only another form of repudiation. There was clear intimation in President Harding's recent address that he would not look with favor upon any proposition involving the cancellation of the debt. This intimation is found in his statement that no nation can repudiate her debts and long survive.

TRUE BAROMETER.

From Italy came the report a day or two ago of a rise in her exchange amounting to nineteen points. So also our bankers received information telling of an increase strength in the Scandinavian, Swiss, Belgian, Dutch and Spanish rates. There also was some improvement in the French rates. There has been a rise in the pound sterling. It is beginning to be realized that the story which the foreign exchange rates tell is far more reliable so far as industry, commerce, trade and economic conditions are concerned than are many of the academic statements which purport to explain or set forth economic conditons the world over.

For foreign exchange is a more accurate barometer than any spoken word can be. It is like the movement of prices in the securities market. In the early spring of 1914 it forecast the outbreak of the European war. American railroad operators who went to France to obtain loans as late as June, 1914, discovered that foreign exchange was furnishing the bankers with a barometer which justified them in declining to make any loans. On the other hand at the very moment when Germany on the one hand and France, England and Italy on the other were discussing reparations and preparing the way for the march of the armies of the Allies into German territory, foreign exchange did not echo the alarming words which were then so often spoken. Its tendency was towards improvement and that tendency has been continued. It shows that economic forces which are far more powerful, or at least permanently powerful, than political forces are compelling restoration of industry, of production, pointing the way to recovery by and by to normal conditions. This is one of the reasons why our bankers and the leaders in our securities markets have been confident that the difficulties in Europe will by and by be ironed out.

GRAIN IS LOWEST SINCE MAY, 1916

CHICAGO, March 26.—Prices of farm products have this week reached the lowest level since 1916 for May delivery of wheat. Disturbed economic conditions, bearish crop reports and slackening of export demand were among the chief bearish factors. Compared with a week ago, wheat this morning showed a setback of 1½ to 3¾c, corn was down ¾ to 3 3-8c, oats 7-8 @1 to 1 1-8c, and provisions 30 to 75c.

It has been three consecutive weeks today since the wheat market began to slip, owing largely to misgivings over the general business outlook. This week, in addition to further strain, especially as to domistic industrial conditions, the bulls had an extra handicap as a result of field advices that danger of any big damage from the green bug pest was about over. Then, too, word was circulated that British government holdings of wheat would be sufficient for all British requirements to the end of the season, and this announcement was followed by news of revolutionary outbreaks in Germany. Under such circumstances, knowledge of measures being taken to facilitate the passage of a new emergency tariff bill failed to act as much of an immediate stimulus. Occasional rallies appeared to be related in the main to spurts of sharply timed trans-Atlantic buying on declines.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. May corn and May oats dropping to the standard of prices current in 1913.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 26.—Some scattered selling of wheat at the start today was responsible for an easy opening, but a report that the Greek order fo rthe grain had been placed over the holiday brought forth a rally which carried prices above the highest point of the previous session. Trading, however, was light. Opening quotations which were unchanged to ¾c lower with March $1.52½ to $1.53 and May $1.41¼ to $1.41¾, were followed by moderate advances and then a slight reaction.

Corn was easier, trade being light and the market easily affected. Starting unchanged to ¼c lower with May at 64 to 64 1-8c, the market strengthened and recovered the early loss.

Oats were ½c higher with May 40½ to 40¾c, then scored a slight further advance.

Stock and Bond Business About Bay On Holiday

ALTHOUGH the New York Stock Exchange reopened today for the usual Saturday morning session, it was practically the only important body trading.

The San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange was closed and there were no quotations. There also were no cotton, metal, coffee and similar trading centers open.

Trading on the Chicago Board of Trade was suspended over the week-end.

Electric Line Orders Powerful Motors

An order which will result in a complete change of all passenger coach motored trucks on the San Francisco and Sacramento electric line out of Oakland was given by the company today to the Pennsylvania Car Company. The order is for several hundred power trucks for cars, to be built according to specifications of a company engineer, who for two months has been making a survey of operating conditions between Oakland and Sacramento. Delivery will begin as rapidly as possible but it will take 18 months to complete the full order of heavy motors.

The truck are all designed for high speed and service and are expected to enable the company to make rapid schedules with ease.

Haywardites Will Provide the Food

HAYWARD, March 26.—Denial of the rumor that the committee in charge of purchasing supplies for the poultry demonstration soon to be opened here by the University of California, would have to seek outside Hayward in order to place orders for the required food, was made today in an interview with Eric Ruus, president of the Poultry Producers' Association of Hayward, and chairman of the purchasing committee.

RAILWAY HEADS DENY REPORT OF JOINT TERMINAL

Santa Fe and Key Have No Agreement, Alberger and Lupton Say.

Publicity given renewed reports of a Santa Fe-Key Route joint arrangement to give the transcontinental line direct bayside terminal facilities in Oakland, resulted in new denials today.

W. R. Alberger, general manager of the Key System, prepared the following statement on the issue which he issued under his signature:

"There is no tentative or any other kind of an arrangement between our line and the Santa Fe looking toward the joint use of our terminal. The report is evidently based upon the fact that the Santa Fe was compelled to withdraw from the Southern Pacific pier and return to Richmond and some one decided that the Key system terminal was the proper place for the Santa Fe to land. So far as I know they seem to be satisfied with their Richmond terminal."

The statement is echoed by G. W. Lupton, superintendent of terminals for the Santa Fe in San Francisco, and ranking official of the Santa Fe lines in the bay region.

"The subject has been repeatedly discussed for years but never to my knowledge has it gone beyond that stage," he said today. "There is at this time no arrangement between the Santa Fe and the Key system for any joint facilities in Oakland."

The Santa Fe is continuing to run all passenger trains to the San Pablo avenue station in Oakland and has conducted its ferry service regularly to San Francisco from Ferry Point, Richmond, since the Oakland mole ouster action. The railroad is now engaged in a fight with the city of Richmond before the state railroad commission with reference to ferry fares which now are 65 cents, although the road at a recent hearing testified that it had introduced commutation books to be sold as cheaply as 11 cents a ride if taken in sufficient quantity.

BUSINESS NOTES

Reports from Chicago says Sears-Roebuck will consider a common stock dividend early next month, business in mail order lines improving except along the farmers.

New York brokers' reports are that directors of American Beet Sugar will pass or cut the coming dividend.

A statement on the condition of the Lee Tire and Rubber Company, taken as reflecting the improving condition of the tire market show 75 per cent production for January and February with sales of $1,500,000 about equal to the same period in 1920 when prices were higher.

The Pressed Steel Car Company directors will hold their adjourned meeting Wednesday to act on a recapitalization plan providing conversion of preferred stock and a 20 per cent stock dividend on the common stock was again adjourned until March 30. The reason for adjourning was to secure the necessary two-third vote of the preferred stockholders.

The statement by the Mitsu Bank of Japan says capital invested in new enterpirses in 1920 amounted to four and a half billion yen ($2,085,605,000). This is an increase of 1,304,780,000 yen over the preceding year. The total amount of money invested in extension of old enterprises during the fiscal year was 2,599,270,000 yen, an increase of 1,064,870,000 yen over the previous year.

ELECTRIC POWER COMPANIES SEEK CHANGES IN LAW

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Quoting President Harding's declaration for "more business in government and less government in business," a committee of electric power executives yesterday asked the Federal Water Power Commission to revise certain portions of the regulations for development of power under the new water power laws which were promulgated under the old commission just before it went out of office March 4.

It was the second meeting of the new commission, composed of Secretaries Weeks, Fall and Wallace. Just before the close of the last administration, the outgoing commission promulgated regulations which the power men today acknowledged to be about 70 per cent workable, but containing provisions which, they said, undoubtedly would prevent the development of water power projects which the bill was intended to stimulate.

HEARING REQUESTED

Henry J. Pierce of Seattle, Wash., president of the Washington Irrigation and Development Company, which is preparing for an immense water power development project, accompanied the power committee of the American Electric Light Association, which had requested the hearing.

The committee included F. T. Griffith of Portland, Ore.; W. Breckenridge of Los Angeles, J. A. Britton of San Francisco, G. W. Talbot of Portland, Ore.; Morris Cohn Jr. of Niagara Falls, H. B. Freeman of Hartford, Conn., and Thomas W. Martin of Birmingham, Ala.

PIERCE IS HEARD

Pierce, who was invited to make a statement, told the secretaries that, although a federal permit had been issued to his company to begin work, he hesitated to accept it because he feared he could neither finance nor operate the project under the present regulations, which he characterized as restrictive. Other power projects, Pierce said, were in the same situation.

The regulations, as drawn by the outgoing commission, the power executives told the secretaries, seek to constitute the Federal Commission a regulatory body with expensive machinery, involving duplicate systems of accounts and thousands of employees. Congress, they argued, it was shown by the terms of the bill and the record of its passage, intended the commission to be a supervisory body, and, they argued, Congress showed its intent when it limited the appropriations for the commission's work to $100,000 a year.

Concord Bank Picks New Official Staff

CONCORD, March 26.—The regular election of the stockholders of the Bank of Concord was held this week, and the following board of directors was chosen: John F. Busey, Charles E. Bibber, L. W. Brubeck, Fred W. Blume, M. F. Russi, Albert Smith and B. G. Ensign. A report of the last fiscal year's business was furnished to the stockholders, which showed a growth in that time in deposits of $50,000. The bank now has resources to the amount of $600,000.

New Chemical Plant Rises in Richmond

RICHMOND, March 26.—H. M. Pillars of San Francisco has purchased a three and a half acre tract near the Western Pipe and Steel plant here, and will erect a chemical plant at a cost of $325,000, it is announced through the Chamber of Commerce. The plant will employ 50 persons, it is said.

Mercantile Sidelights

He Has One Way to Beat the Beats.

While every merchant has his own pet method for bringing the "dead beat" to time, the method of Edward Hogarth, proprietor of the Perfection Shop, in one of those bustling Long Island communities favored by commuters, furnishes material for an interesting and instructive story.

All told there were seven of these deadbeats who ensnared the Long Island merchant.

One blistering August day, however, Hogarth got to thinking about the characteristics of the seven, fell to looking up their financial pedigrees on his account book, and was amazed at the sum the combined accounts represented.

He thought of several methods of extraction, but felt that they would not prove drastic enough to produce results. He was in a brown study when the reporter of the local paper came through the store door, looking for his week's supply of personals.

"Got anything?" asked the reporter.

"You bet I have," replied Hogarth, and he drafted the following announcement, which appeared in the next day's issue of the paper. The reported glanced it over, smiled and hurried out. The next day the readers of the weekly were treated to reading a little out of the ordinary. This is what they smiled over and what other got nervous about:

Off and on through the summer transient residents of this town have been energetic in running up accounts at the Perfection Shop.

Now I do not like to hold a man or woman up for what they owe me, but I am afraid that the people I refer to are persons who make great efforts to get something for nothing.

True it is that some of them have proved very entertaining customers, always taking the time to tell me wonderful stories of their experiences, which, I must confess, have been most interesting. Nevertheless, it must be admitted that words never yet made it possible for a merchant to meet his business obligations.

Therefore, be it noted that I have resolved to publish the names of all debtors owing me more than $250 apiece in the columns of this paper and to post the same in the window of my store unless the money these customers owe me is in my hand by 8 o'clock tonight.

The paper come out at noon. Everybody read the "ad," including the seven, and by 6 o'clock that evening, two hours ahead of time the creditors had all paid their bills.

A Simple Idea That Boosted Sales 36 Per Cent.

Sales by clerks in the L. A. Baron store in Plankington, S. D., have increased as much as 36 per cent during the last year and the average increase per clerk has been nearly that much. The reason is self-kept clerk's records, devised and put into use by Baron.

At the time the system was started a woman clerk, who was drawing $75 a month, asked for a raise in salary. Baron looked up her sales record, which averaged $1700 a month, and told her he could not give her more money unless her sales increased. In the course of the next eight months that saleswoman disposed of so much merchandise that Baron raised her salary to $130 a month, figuring on a basis of 4 per cent of her sales.

Baron says it is his system of self-kept records, and he has good grounds for his opinion. This system has put competition into the life of his store. The clerks every day know just how much merchandise they sold, because they check it up themselves. They find out what the other fellow sold. If they are behind they speed up, and if they are ahead they work harder to keep the lead, for they know that the higher their sales the bigger the paycheck will be.

"Since we started this system," says Baron, "we have noticed a marked rise in individual sales and some clerks have increased their sales as high as 36 per cent. They are on a truly but friendly competitive basis and it works."

The system is simply and easily handled and perhaps that is why it works so efficiently. At the opening of the business day every clerk is given a report sheet, with space for fifty entries, which correspond to the number of slips in the salesbooks. This report is the heart of the system. On it the salesman enters all the facts about every transaction for which a sales slip is made out. Every slip must be accounted for on this report sheet. In the evening the sheets are turned over to the bookkeeper, after being totaled, and the totals are entered to the credit of each clerk.

BUILDING BOOM HITS BERKELEY, REPORT SHOWS

Resumption of Normal Conditions Is Seen by Present Buying.

Berkeley's building boom, like the activity in the whole Eastbay region, is a thing of real proportions and occupies so predominant a place in industrial affairs that it is again made the high light of the weekly statement of the First National Bank of Berkeley on business conditions.

"One of the most encouraging business indications of the week," says the bank, "is the steady upward movement of building," echoing in substance what it said the week before.

"This," says the summary, "is one of the surest signs of the resumption of normal conditions since the business slump marked the opening of the buyers' strike."

Continuing, the bank says:

"With the loosening up of building capital, business in all lines is bound to be affected and the resumption of normal conditions will occur most naturally without the former inflation. The optimism over the building situation is based on weekly building records, which are advancing steadily toward the $100,000 mark. Last week's permits totaled $86,390, of which $81,575 represented new buildings and but $4815 was for miscellaneous construction. A $12,800 apartment house was among the largest items of construction for the week.

"Bank clearings for the week ending March 24 amounted to $2,923,358.59, which, while slightly under the previous week, were $424,814.18 or 17 per cent greater than the corresponding week a year ago.

"Statistics show that during February of this year there was a falling off in both incoming and outgoing freight. Freight movement statistics for February, 1920 and 1921, follow: Outgoing, 1920, 20,679,163 pounds; 1921, 13,626,614 pounds. Incoming, 1920, 46,036,661 pounds; 1921, 37,736,709 pounds."

SHORTS SQUEEZED MARKET STEADIES

NEW YORK, March 26.—Trading in the stock market this week was in no material degree lessened by the Easter recess, aggregate transactions for the four full sessions attaining fairly large proportions.

Despite extensive profit-taking, further substantial recoverings from the previous fortnight were recorded, largely if not wholly to the discomfiture of an over-confident short interest in speculative shares.

Oil, automobile, steel and equipment stocks, more-or less in the order named, were the principal beneficiaries of the re-bound, together with a score of affiliated issues, particularly motor accessories.

Food, tobacco, copper and chemical issues were under restraint, as well as most of the rails, the latter group being again handicapped by poor earnings and unsettled labor conditions.

Market improvement in the steel and textile industries was reported and commodity markets also were more stable, but conservation continued to prevail in those branches of business subject to seasonal influences.

The money market eased slightly on call and banks bought moderately of commercial papers. There were few indications, however, that the approaching second quarterly period of the year would cause any pronounced release of time funds.

SHIPPING, FOOD PRICES AND WORLD'S COMMERCE

MATERIAL PRICE MOUNTING AGAIN, IS U. S. REPORT

Survey of Coast Costs Fails to Disclose Raise Here, However.

By RALPH F. COUCH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Building material prices, whose rapid descent during the winter gave promise of relief to the housing shortage, are now rising again, according to reports received informally today by government officials.

Building material men and dealers describe the rise as a "strong market" due to spring building. In the midst of it came the Supreme Court decision knocking out profiteering clauses of the Lever law. Next came the announcement of Attorney-General Daugherty that all pending anti-trust suits would be examined by him before the government renews action with them.

SUITS STILL PENDING.

Several suits against building men now are pending in federal courts in New York and other cities. They were started by the Wilson administration, one filed against the Southern Pine Association having been undertaken within a month before the change in administration.

What action Attorney-General Daugherty may take toward pressing or dropping this suit will affect the market, it is assumed.

Inquiry in the building material markets of the Eastbay fails to show an increase in building costs on the Pacific Coast in line with Washington reports for the country, and lumber and material men do not anticipate any considerable increases now.

PRICES ARE DOWN.

Latest lumber quotations included declines of $2 a thousand in roughs and $15 a thousand in clears for finishing. At the same time finishing hardware has gone down an estimated average of 15 per cent since the first of the year and nails now are quoted at $6.50 instead of $9 a hundred.

Cement, which is the only material that has not declined, has been given advantageous water rate shipment reductions and has seen a 50 per cent cut in the price of sacking which, while a comparatively small item, will tend toward lower production charges.

Hundred Dollar Grapes Seen; N. Y. Wages Fall

Consolidated Press Despatches
Exclusive to OAKLAND TRIBUNE

By LYNN C. SIMPSON

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—The first tentative overtures to growers by buyers of grapes this week indicate high prices for the coming season, but somewhat lower than those of last year. Offers were made in the Fresno district of from $50 to $60 a ton. This would mean nearly $100 a ton for wine grapes

In the wine district proper an average crop would pay on this basis about $250 to $300 an acre. It is too early to make a guess as to the crop prospect, but as a whole the season has been favorable.

Figures prepared by W. C. McMillin, state purchasing agent, based on purchases made for state institutions, show that the decline in prices in California for staple foodstuffs for the second as compared with the first quarter of the year show a reduction of ten per cent. In the entire list of foods bought all declined except sugar.

MORE RATES CUT

Following the cut in freight rate on canned fruit to the Atlantic seaboard by water, announced last week, an equally important cut in freight was made by water carriers Wednesday. By reclassification reductions are made in glass, matting, raw silk, wool and mohair on eastbound shipments. In some instances the reductions are heavy.

Because of depression in farming centers and lack of money demand on agricultural districts continues slow, credit men say.

A statement issued by the California Alfalfa Growers shows a steady decline in values of farm produce, but this bulletin takes the view that signs of improvement soon will appear.

NEW YORK

By JAMES ALLERTON.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Wage reductions have reached the department stores of New York. In some cases they have been large, one instance reported being a cut from $15,000 to $6000 a year. The man affected declined to accept it and his work now is being done by three former subordinates, each having taken over a part. In kind, if not in measure, this sort of thing has happened in practically every big store of the city.

Forces, too, are being reduced, some departments having barely half the personnel of a year ago. Other departments have been consolidated, and extensive cuts have been made in the number of floormen. How greatly this item of overhead has grown of late years may be gauged from a statement by Percy S. Straus, head of R. H. Macy & Co., that since 1914 wages of store employees have advanced 115 per cent. In most instances these wages advanced in close pace with the volume of sales and an apparent effort is being made to hold recessions to the same basis.

WAGES IN FACTORIES

The state industrial commission figures for February show that average earnings of factory employees fell to $26.77, a decrease of 34 cents since January, but of $2.16 or 8 per cent since October. These figures do not, however, embrace any of the really radical readjustments that now are being proposed. May 1, the traditional opening of the labor year, may be expected to see what may be called the close of the first stage of liquidation of labor. Recognition of this is coming in many quarters Benjamin Schlessinger, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, for example, has just said that it "may become necessary for labor to halt in its demands, to take, as it were, inventory and under the pressure of temporary economic conditions steer its course into more expedient channels."

Other leaders are saying more bluntly the same thing, an illustration of the present week being found in the marine workers' acceptance of the scales proposed by the employers.

Last week all the talk was of a strike that would tie up this port as it had not been tied in years.

WAIT FOR MOSES

Veteran observers of business conditions in the metropolis cannot recall a period when the pangs of readjustment were more audibly suffered than they are being now. One might think that such a period had never before been gone through here, to judge from the reluctance with which each new step is being taken, or from the eagerness with which the experience of others is being listened to. Everybody seems to be waiting for a Moses.

OTHER BUSINESS

NEW YORK, March 26.—Leaders in the silk trade, attending the annual meeting of the Silk Association of America, express themselves as confident that the worst stage of deflation and readjustment has passed and that the outlook for the future is much brighter than it was at the end of last year. A strain of optimism, tempered with warnings against another runaway market, flowed through all the reports from the various divisions of the industry. The need of increased tariffs on silks was expressed in several of the reports. James A. Goldsmith of Hess, Goldsmith & Co., is the new president of the association, succeeding Charles Cheney.

SALES TAX SENTIMENT GROWS.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—A growing sentiment for a sales tax as part of the plan for lifting the heavy burden of direct income taxes, is noted by members of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives. A resolution has been passed by drygoods and other merchants' associations favoring the taxes. While a tentative adverse decision has been reached by the committee, it seems certain now that there will be a reconsideration and that a form of modified sales tax eventually may be adopted.

CLOTHING

NEW YORK, March 26.—The Lucille, Ltd., fashion promenade this week has attracted fashion experts from the entire East. The mannequins exhibited no distinct silhouettes, but the draped lines which have been so much favored were very much in evidence. A feature of the promenade was the elaborate effects in the manipulation of the skirts. A hint of the directories was to be seen in some of the models. Many three-piece costumes were introduced.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Stage fashions here are beginning to show the effect of the Paris salons. Basque effects accentuate the slimness of figures from shoulder to waist, while boufant skirts flare over the hips.

Long Distance Phone Is Used to Promote Trade

USE is being made of long distance telephone service by New York market men to keep in touch with California fruit prospects.

A call between E. S. Sargeant, in New York and H. C. Coykendall, general manager of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association, in San Jose, is recorded.

The information which passed on that occasion was California growers were rapidly signing up their acreages.

Several calls have been put through regarding citrus fruit shipments, recently.

WATER ROUTE REOPENED.

HELENA, Ark., March 26.—The first freight received in Helena from Cincinnati and Louisville by the all-water route and without change of boats in more than ten years, reached here last night on the steamer Queen City, which recently entered through trade between Pittsburgh and New Orleans.

The Waterfront

A fresh northwest wind started again last night from Cape Flattery down to the Golden Gate, and increased from 18 miles an hour to 96 miles at Point Reyes, and 40 miles at the Farollones, with a very rough sea. The outside pilot boats were compelled to come in port for shelter. While the power schooner Coquille, which departed for Monterery at 5:30 p. m., returned to port. The Steamer Enterprise of the Matson Company arrived from Hilo, and reports a 90-mile gale off the lightship. The bay this morning was very choppy but no signs of any danger to shipping, as it will moderate later in the day.

The Steamer Bensalem, en route from New York for Hamburg, went ashore, and was floated with the assistance of tugs, then proceeded on her journey. The extent of damage was not stated. No damage was done to the Steamer Point Bonita when she went ashore near Corinto. She is now docked at the port, and is not leaking.

The funeral of Capt. Charles Anderson, a pioneer resident and property owner of Alameda, was held yesterday. Anderson was born in Denmark 81 years ago, and came to California on a sailing vessel when a young lad. He sailed out of this port ever since, and raised himself to master. His last command was the Schooner Monterery, which he took to Manila and turned it over to his sons, who are also master mariners, and are using the Monterey as a trader among the Philippine Islands. He was a member of the Masonic, Odd Fellows and the Master Mariners' Association. Anderson had many friends in every sea port on this coast

The new 10,000-ton tanker, Frank G. Drum, which was launched at the Union Iron Works, Alameda, on February 18, left there this morning for her official trial trip around the bay. The new craft is owned by the Associated Oil Company, and was decorated with her signal flags as she passed down the estuary, assisted by two Peterson tugs.

The French steamer, Utique, which was recently purchased by Crowley & Mahony, from the French government, has arrived from Bordeaux, and will soon be converted into a coastwise lumber craft, as she was first intended for. She was built at the Stone ship yard, East Oakland, for the J. F. Hanify Company during the war, and was to be named the Lucinda Hanify, but before being completed she was purchased by the French government for $500,000 and her name changed. She left here for France, where she has been ever since. She was sold to Mahony & Crowley for less than one-third of what the French government paid for her, and was sent to this port, where she will again be placed under the American flag.

The steamship, Great Northern, and the Northern Pacific, which were purchased on this coast during the war, soon again will be in the merchant marine. It has been rumored that the U. S. Government will shortly place them on the market, and it is thought they will be purchased on this coast by local steamship operators, as they have proved themselves the fastest steamers ever operated out of this port, and have since kept up their good record.

The schooner, Sophia Christensen, docked at the Pair Terminal today to unload her cargo of 676 tons of copra she brought from the South Sea Islands, yesterday. Later she will go on the drydock for cleaning and painting and will then load another cargo for Australia at this port.

A fire onboard the steamer Eastern Leader, which is at the dock at Seattle, seriously burned one of the crew of the engine room, but was extinguished before any damage was done to the vessel. It started from a backfire in one of the furnaces.

Change of masters registered at the U. S. Customs House: Capt. E. S. Lee, Steamer J. D. Peters; Capt. C. F. Parker, Steamer Meantieuh; Capt. C. H. Gade, Gas Tug Flyer; Capt. John Whitney, Gas Tug Island Count.

The columns of heights gives the elevation each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey Chart Soundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths, unless preceded by the minus sign or dash (—), when the numbers are subtractive from depths given on the chart.

Note—In the above tabulation of tides the daily tides are given in the order of their occurrence, commencing with the early morning tide in the left hand column and the succeeding tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur, the fourth occurring the following morning.

The honor of being the oldest miner in the country is bestowed upon William James, of Smoke Run, Pa., who, after 78 years in the mines here and in Wales, laid down his tools on July 3, 1920. James began work in the mines when he was 6 years of age.

Steel workers employed in thirty large independent plants of structural steel concerns located in various parts of the country are to be given their choice between a direct cut in wages amounting from 10 to 20 per cent, with full-time employment, or a continuance of the present scale with a four-day week. Bonuses and extra work will be eliminated.

Japan Radio Service Will 'Cover' America

TOKIO, March 26.—It is officially announced that wireless communication between Japan and America will be extended today to the whole of the United States with the inauguration of the high power sending station at Hara-No-Machi, near Sendai.

Outgoing press messages will be accepted at 54 sen (under normal exchange valued about 27 cents) to San Francisco and 60 sen to New York and Washington.

The wireless rate will represent a reduction of 16 sen (or about 8 cents) on messages sent to New York over the cables at press rates.

Home for Laborers Is Planned by Heir

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo., March 26.—A home for broken down laborers and a park to help make home life attractive for children are planned by L. C. Lesher, garage man, with $2,000,000 from the estate of his father, to which he says he has fallen heir.

Lesher said his father was a wealthy ship owner and philanthropist of California. The Thermopolis man ran away from home when in his 'teens and refused urgent pleadings of his parents to return home, he says. He thinks a public park will keep youngsters from following in his footsteps.

Rich Manufacturer Dies of Gas Poisoning

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—Theodore Bracker, 76, wealthy Oregon Cigar manufacturer, was found dead early today in the kitchen of his residence in the Hollywood district. The doors and windows had been closed and the gas turned on. Bracker was said to have been in ill health for several years.

Local Market Notes, Gossip

Easter Saturday found Oakland's produce market with buisness generally more brisk than has been noted on Saturday here for weeks. Trading began early and continued late into the morning with a heavy volume of sales for the holiday.

Notwithstanding the general good tone of trade, however, the market was one of numerous contradictions. Green groceries and fruits weer in demand but the market was over supplied with celery which in some instances sold at what the owners could get for it

Imperial Valley lettuce continued at $3.75. Some northern grown lettuce has begun to enter the market here, prices ranging about $1 under the southern heads on the crate. By the dozen, new northern lettuce has been selling at from 40 to 60 cents.

Artichokes have noted marked recessions in price in the last two or three days selling off $4 on the case.

The most noteworthy contradiction of the market for the Easter season and the one long discounted was the failure of the egg and poultry market to make any recovery on Easter buying. Large dealers, locally, said that the rule of the low market seemed steadily to prevail discouraging any new activity.

Grocery lines were in heavy demand today by the retailers who drew strongly on wholesalers for all kinds of stocks. Marked retail price cutting by many of the central markets was reported in the competition for the weakened business.

WAR MOTHERS OF STATE FILES INCORPORATION

Oakland Members Profess Ignorance of Proceedings; Chapter Officers.

Although articles of incorporation were filed for the California State Chapter of American War Mothers yesterday with County Clerk Harry I. Mulcrevy in San Francisco, state officers in Oakland and members of Oakland War Mothers, profess entire ignorance of the proceedings. The incorporators are Elizabeth V. Strong, Alice Quinn, Clara F. Sawyer, Fannie M. Mehrtens and Esther Selig. None of these women are officers in the state organization, according to local authorities.

In filing the articles of incorporation the California state chapter describes itself as a "non-profit organization, whose purpose is to commemorate the deeds and valor of the men who took part in the war against Germany, to collect and preserve records, to perpetuate their memory and aid and sustain mothers who have suffered anxiety and loss.

Mrs. C. J. Waterhouse, president of Oakland War Mothers, is state recording secretary.

DIDN'T KNOW ABOUT IT

"I know nothing about the filing of any articles of incorporation by the state body," she declared this morning. "The last board meeting was in December. No mention was made of such an act." In referring to the women in whose names the petition was filed she said: "None of them is a member of the state board. I have no information regarding the action. Sacramento is the headquarters of the state society."

Mrs. M. L. Murray, a founder of the local chapter and a member of the state board, also professed entire ignorance of the filing of the articles of incorporation.

Mrs. J. J. Harris of Woodland is the president of the state body. No communications from her reached the board members or local chapter officers today.

A reading of the petition for the incorporation indicates that it is designed as a safeguard against dissension and a means of controlling membership. It includes all chapters within the state which may become members.

QUESTION AGITATED

Whether it will cause a wide dissension throughout California where War Mother chapters are operative is a question which is today agitating leaders here.

San Francisco War Mothers have been in the throes of internal dissension during the past three months The disagreements reached their climax when Mrs. A. W. Clements, national recording secretary, demanded that Mrs. Leah H. Davis, president, surrender the charter of the San Francisco chapter and was met with refusal by Mrs. Davis until sufficient and specific reasons were presented. Mrs. Davis on Monday offered her resignation as president to the local membership. She declares no communication in regard to it has been received by her from the special committee to which it was referred.

Masons to Call Roll of War Service Men

Oakland lodge No. 188, F. & A. M., will tonight, in addition to regular degree work, have a roll call of Oakland lodge members who saw service in the great war. Moving pictures of submarines in actual fighting also will be shown, films for these pictures having been captured from a German submarine by the United States navy and loaned for showing tonight by Captain C. W. Cole, navy inspector of the navy recruiting department, 302 Spreckels building, San Francisco.

Pioneer Drops Dead at Daughter's Home

ALAMEDA, March 26.—The funeral of Jacob Gluck, pioneer tailor, for forty years a resident of California, will be held Monday afternoon. He fell dead while working in the yard of his daughter, Mrs. T. D. Edwards, in Oakland. The family home is at 1419 Cottage street.

Gluck is survived by nine adult children.

Fire Insurance Rates Cut Appeal Is Ordered

A formal request for a reduction of fire insurance rates in Oakland, particularly the downtown district, will be forwarded immediately to the board of fire underwriters by Commissioner Morse of the department of public health and safety, as the result of a conference in the council chambers yesterday afternoon by merchants, civic leaders and city officials.

The board of fire underwriters will be asked to reply in ten days, giving some data also on the makeup of the "key rate" on which Oakland fire insurance is based.

The meeting of yesterday was adjourned until April 12, when the reply of the underwriters is expected.

Although at least three members of the underwriters were expected at yesterday's meeting, the only representative of that body to appear was Edward Torney, engineer for the board. The officials and representatives of Oakland civic organizations several times voiced their disappointment at the non-appearance of the underwriters.

"DOCTORS" ARE ABSENT.

"The patients are here but the doctors are absent." said Wilbur Walker of the Merchants' Exchange.

In calling the meeting, Commissioner Morse pointed to the agitation for reduced fire rates and Torney then spoke on behalf of the underwriters' viewpoint.

"We are prepared to show you," he said, "that Oakland is enjoying as low a rate as any city on the coast with even better fire protection. In discussing this insurance matter, I wish to point out one thing which Oakland and apparently every other city, has overlooked. During recent years while every phase of industrial life raised prices up to 500 per cent, insurance rates went up but little in the face of increased expenses We finally put an increase of ten per cent on rates, but this was not justified and we took it off."

"Will the board of underwriters consider some allowance because of the motorization of the fire department?" asked A. S. Conant of the Chamber of Commerce.

CHANGES HELD NEEDED.

"It depends on water facilities more than motorization," said Torney. "When you get off the high pressure system it appears that Oakland cannot get the water."

A thorough discussion of water facilities then ensued.

"The rates have been in effect for twenty years," said Wilbur Walker. "If a wooden building is on your block, you are penalized. It is time there was some readjustment."

"It may be," said Morse, "that the fire underwriters are not sufficiently informed in this matter. I doubt if there is any lack of water supply."

Fire Chief Elliott Whitehead said the water supply is better than it ever has been. "There is no city of our size better protected," he said. "We have since 1910 installed 600 hydrants, 647 fire boxes and 667 A. B. C. boxes. We have motorized our apparatus. We have Lake Merritt to break any conflagration from east to west and furnish water for almost any need. In case of necessity we could draw motor apparatus from cities within fifty miles. I could flood this city with engines."

FORMAL REQUEST.

Morse in speaking of insurance for the residence district in East Oakland where he lives, said "if a 35 cent rate was right ten years ago, a 45 cent rate is not right now."

Wilbur Walker asserted that the main point is the business district. "It has been admitted that there has been no readjustment in ten years," he said.

Chief Engineer Wilhelm of the East Bay Water Company asserted that "the Eastbay is today better off than in twenty years" and said his company had spent $5,500,000 since 1917 for an additional water supply.

Walker and George Shelden of the Uptown Association asserted that if something cannot be done from the underwriters, some action in the legislature may be necessary.

"The only public utility in California tht isn't regulated is fire insurance," said Walker.

The meeting then voted to take the matter straight to the underwriters by a formal request by the united citizens of Oakland for an insurance rate reduction.

Railroad Board Gives Data on Express Profits

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—In support of its contention that the American Railway Express was not entitled to an increase in rates on intrastate traffic to place them on a parity with the rates on interstate traffic, the California Railroad Commission in the hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission examiner declared that since last September the express company has been operating at a profit.

The American Railway Express is asking for 13½ per cent increase in rates. The California commission in a written review of the express rate cases and the reorganization of the express companies operating throughout the United States which resulted in the formation of the American Railway Express, read into the record at the hearing, gave the following figures of net profit:

November, $246,398.15.
December, $210,936.86.

The California commission pointed out that this favorable result to the express company followed the execution of a contract between the company and practically all the carriers.

DEFICIT WIPED OUT.

In its review the commission says:

"All deficit has been forever wiped out insofar as the express company is concerned. Basing our figures on the four last months of 1920 the express company will receive as its proportion almost 10 per cent on capitalization of $34,600,000 and will be able to retain under the terms of the contract 6 per cent upon their physical valuation."

The new contract provides that after all expenses have been deducted from the gross revenue the express company takes 2½ per cent of the net operating revenue as its share and the railroad company takes the balance. If the 2½ per cent of the net revenue does not equal more than 6 per cent on the express company's investment the latter retains all.

HEARING CLOSES.

If 2½ per cent of the net operating revenue deducted by the express company amounts to more than 6 per cent on the express company's investment then the railroad and express companies split the excess fifty-fifty; this excess will be set aside by the express company until it has accumulated a surplus of 10 per cent on its investment.

"After that," continues the commission, "the division is three-fourths to the railroad and one-fourth to the express company. Inasmuch as the express company has been able to negotiate a contract such as the above it is obvious that carrier is now insured absolutely against any deficit."

The hearing closed with the testimony of J. C. Harraman, assistant rate expert of the Railroad Commission, and Examiner Eddy then took the case under advertisement.

WORK STARTED ON SCENIC WAYS ABOUT OAKLAND

Joaquin Miller Road Is Being Widened and Repaired by Street Gang.

Improvement of all the mountain roads and scenic boulevards around Oakland has been started by the street department, which has massed forty men for the work. It is expected to take six weeks or more.

The Joaquin Miller road is being widened and repaired with rock fills in the ruts. Bad turns are being eliminated and some of the winter wheel-ruts are being ironed out so that the road this summer will be in better condition than ever before.

Repair gangs have also been sent to the Snake and Skyline roads, where sharp turns are being broadened and banks are being cut away to lessen the danger of accidents to drivers of vehicles This is especially true of the Skyline, where many autoists have complained of dangerous turns.

"Our scenic roads are Oakland's greatest assets," says S. B. Hall, assistant superintendent of streets. "We intend to put them into first-class shape this year and keep them up to par so they can invite all possible traffic. In a way these roads are as important as downtown streets to the growth of Oakland."

BOND VALIDATING BILL IS VETOED

SACRAMENTO, March 26.—Governor Stephens today exercised his veto power for the first time during the current legislative session, returning without his approval assembly bill No. 302, by White, validating the bonds of Beaumont irrigation district in Riverside county. The governor said the validation was unnecessary, in his opinion, and that the attorney general of the state had held the act needless. He said it possessed the further disadvantage that it would cast a cloud on previous issues of other districts, by causing the inference that similar acts should have been passed for their validation, which was not done.

Assembly bill No. 303 validating the organization proceedings of the district was approved. Such validation acts have been customary under the law, but the veto today will do away with the growing custom of presenting bill for validating of proceedings taken by such districts after organization is completed.

Coburn's Guardian Loses in Bank Suit

REDWOOD CITY, March 26.—The suit of C. H. Widemann, guardian of the person and estate of Wallace Loren Coburn, to collect $5600 he has spent in the care of his ward over and above the $6000 allowed him out of the interest of the trust fund, was dismissed by Superior Judge George H. Buck yesterday at the request of the attorneys in the action, the matter having been settled out of court. The suit was against the Mercantile Trust Company of San Francisco, trustee of the Coburn estate.

Candidates for Fire Jobs to Be Examined

ALAMEDA, March 26.—Examination of 35 candidates for jobs in the fire department will be held in the auditorium of the high school Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The examination is being held for the purpose of establishing an eligible list for the department, the old one being completely exhausted. It will be supervised by Fire Chief Walter Steinmetz and will be open only to men who have resided in Alameda for a year.

POLITICAL NOTES

Frank Colburn, candidate for commissioner at the primaries, and Mayor John L. Davie visited forty-six industrial plants yesterday and delivered forty-six addresses to the employees.

The Mayor pointed out in his talks that Colburn, through his association with the Civil Service Board, knew more about the practical administration of the city government than any other man in Oakland.

"The big business corporations, when they want a man for an executive office, pick out a man who understands their business," declared the Mayor. "Oakland is a monster business organization and I know of no other man more fitted to assist in the direction of its destiny."

Attorney A. E. Carter, the running mate of Colburn, is still confined to his bed, but his physicians predict that he will be able to resume his campaign next week.

Wright Frames New Prohibition Enforcing Bill

Text Differs From Defeated Harris Law in Some of the Minor Details.

SACRAMENTO, March 26.—The text of Assemblyman T. N. Wright's prohibition enforcement bill, differing little from the bill offered this session by Sentor Harris, is announced. It is in the form of a committee amendment to a skeleton bill and will be placed before the public morals committee for action next Monday or Tuesday, Wright said.

It adopts specifically the Volstead act, passed by congress, and seeks to apply it to the state, the magistrates, district attorneys and other county officers to be required to enforce it. Fines collected under the bill would go to the counties. In these respects it is the same as Harris' bill but it adds a new section to adopt for state purposes any amendment hereafter made in the federal law.

The Wright bill differs radically from the Harris act defeated at the last general election, the author said, in that it does not intend to set up any additional machinery for enforcing prohibition.

Wright said the bill was drawn at a conference of dry leaders two weeks ago and tht ait has the approval of prohibition enforcement advocates throughout the state.

Irrigation Needs of State to Be Heard

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 26.—All of the irrigation problems of the state will be discussed publicly, and the guns for a state-wide survey of storage and power needs will be fired at a meeting in the assembly chambers here next Thursday evening.

At this meeting the bills calling for an appropriation of $500 000 with which to make a survey of the needs of California in water storage, reservoirs, drainage and power development, will be given particular attention by more than a score of speakers. While the Marshall plan will not be mentioned by name the survey is held to be necessary for the establishment of the foundation upon which that plan may make a later bid for a wider recognition.

An effort to have the appropriation cut to $200,000 will be made by the Commonwealth club of San Francisco and it is declared that there is a prospect that a plan calling for equal expenditures in northern, central and southern California will be presented.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Mail between San Francisco and New York will be carried on a 24-hour air schedule within the next two years, according to predictions made yesterday by John A. Jordan, chief of construction in the air mail service.

A 26-hour mail service will be established on May 1, he said, when airplanes will fly day and night to rush messages across the continent.

Jordan arrived here yesterday, after having attended an air mail conference in Washington where, he said, he found the new administration heartily in accord with the service.

CARDINAL'S DEATH IS LAMENTED BY POPE BENEDICT

Niece, Nephew of Late Primate Pray at Bier of Prelate.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 26.—The body of Cardinal Gibbons, dressed in the robes of his office, lay today in the upper room of the archiepiscopal residence on North Charles street, which had been occupied for him for so many years.

Christian Brothers relieved members of the cardinal's household this morning as watchers and only high dignitaries of the church and the cardinal's grand niece and grand nephew were allowed in the death chamber.

All others of the multitude who called at the residence were told that the cardinal's body could not be viewed until it was placed in the cathedral Sunday night or early Monday. It was planned to have the guard of honor begin its first watch at 8 o'clock Monday morning and continue until 9 o'clock Thursday morning, the day of the funeral.

Church dignitaries from all parts of the United States will attend the funeral. It will witness the largest gathering of Catholic religious leaders ever assembled in the United States.

Members of the diplomatic corps from Catholic countries stationed in Washington will attend the services in a body.

MESSAGE TO POPE

While the cardinal's last words were blessings upon those of his household, he sent a message to the Pope on Tuesday through Monsignor John Bonzano, apostolic delegate to the United States:

"Please give to the Pope my message of allegiance. Tell him I am glad that it is not he who is going instead of m . He is needed by his church."

This message was sent to the Pope at the same time that news of the cardinal's sudden turn for the worse was sent to the Vatican.

Nearly all of the archbishops and bishops of the United States have sent word that they expect to attend the funeral.

Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis will preach the funeral sermon Further details of the funeral were not completed today. Rev. W. Carroll Milholland of St. Mary's seminary will be master of ceremonies

Messages of regret and sympathy continued to pour in throughout today.

POPE GRIEF STRICKEN

ROME, March 26—(By the Associated Press.)—News of the death of Cardinal Gibbons caused the most profound grief at the Vatican, coming as a particular shock to Pope Benedict who had just written a letter of congratulation to the cardinal, having heard he had recovered his health.

"Both the church and America have lost one of their greatest men," exclaimed the Pontiff on being informed of the sad event. "The name of Cardinal Gibbons will go down in history."

His Holiness knelt after thus voicing his grief and remained a long time at the prie-dieu in the deepest prayer.

FAMILY ROUTS BURGLAR WITH PISTOL SHOT

With the entire family armed and mobilized for action while a burglar was heard somewhere downstairs in the house at 654 Vernon street, a shot in the dark routed him last night before he could obtain his loot.

When G. H. Porter and his family returned home they saw an automobile standing in front of the house. They entered and had retired when they heard stealthy footsteps on the stairs.

Scantily attired, but fully armed, the family assembled for action at the head of the stairs. Porter demanded to know who "was below." Receiving no answer he fired.

The bullet missed the burglar, but lodged in the wainscotting. The man fled, however, and narrowly escaped capture when his automobile failed to start. He pushed it to a hill, where the engine responded, however, and effected his escape.

VOTE ON SALARY BILL IN SIGHT

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 26.—Alameda county's government bill, amended in the assembly to carry $250 a month as the salary for each supervisor, will come up before the assembly for final vote on Monday or Tuesday. It is back now in the hands of the printer that the amendment may be included. The measure, without the amendment, has passed the senate so will have to go back there for approval as altered. As all the members of the Alameda county delegation are pledged to support the bill it is not expected that any trouble will be encountered in its passage.

The public utilities district bill is up on the assembly file and will be up for passage in that house on Monday. So far as is known there is no opposition and a vote practically unanimous is expected.

The county librarian bill which passed the senate this week has been given its second reading in the assembly. It provides for an increase of $50 a month in the salary of the county librarian.

A friend, riding with him, escaped injury. The machine was wrecked.

DEVLIN THRUSTS AT THELEN OVER RAIL BOARD COST

President of Commission Denies Office Quarters Are "Palatial Affairs."

SACRAMENTO, March 26—Frank R. Devlin, president of the railroad commission, disagreed with Max Thelen, former president of the commission, at the senate hearing on the budget as to the amount of work the public utility regulatory board will be required to do during the next biennium.

Devlin also said tht Thelen's reference at a former session to "palatial" offices of the commission would convey to the state an erroneous impression that the commissioners were indifferent to welfare of the people. He said "Practically the same old furniture" that had been used when Thalen was a commissioner was now in service and that the new offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles were designed to add to efficiency.

At the start of the hearing, Thelen modified his estimate of the $129,400 reduction he contended should be made in appropriations recommended by the budget board for the commission. His cut would have left the commission $746,600 for the next biennium, as compared with $876,600 favored by the budget and $1,141,230 requested by the commission. The appropriation two years ago was $659,750. His new proposal was $778,000, an increase over the last appropriation of about 18 per cent, the amount he said was being allowed to public utility regulatory boards in Illinois, Wisconsin and the second district of New York, districts comparable with California.
